

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

It is becoming more and more apparent that industrial education must be given greater consideration in our educational process than has yet been accorded to it.

Our industrial development, the multiplicity of mechanical pursuits and the beneficent influences which always attend such pursuits make it both necessary and desirable that greater numbers of our youth are qualified to engage in some of them.

Where in all Oregon might this number of aspiring mechanics from one locality find opportunity to obtain the requisite training? If ten times their number desired to become lawyers they would find abundant educational facilities, but scarcely any available for becoming carpenters.

Again thanking your people for the cordial reception given us upon our trip, and sincerely hoping that your section will derive its full share of the benefits to come from this immigration work, I beg to remain,

Under date of August 18, 1902, Mr. Coman again writes: Upon my return from San Francisco today I find your favor of the 8th inst., and wish to express my gratification over the interest you are taking personally in this matter.

You have permission to print my two letters referred to, and anything I can do, consistently, to co-operate with you and your people in this direction will be done with pleasure.

The leaflet sample which you enclosed is hardly general enough to distribute throughout the East, especially compared to the class of literature which will be distributed at the same time in regard to other counties and communities, but if you have a supply on hand I shall be glad to use them to the best possible advantage, if you wish to send them to me.

I appreciate the present is a somewhat inopportune time to prosecute this work at Corvallis and vicinity, but I feel satisfied that your people will take advantage of this opportunity and have only to suggest that you keep the matter fresh in the minds of the people and that your committee keep at work, as far as possible, until such time as they can make an active canvass.

McMinnville has let contract for the printing of their pamphlet, and several other of our towns have progressed far enough to insure the issuing of their literature within the next thirty to sixty days.

I will take up with you, shortly, the question of organizing at this end to look after the people upon their arrival. I am giving the immigration question my principal attention and the spirit displayed by people along our lines is certainly very encouraging.

der date of July 24, 1902. Mr. Coman wrote as follows:

HON. M. S. WOODCOCK, CORVALLIS, OREGON.

DEAR SIR:—Upon my return from the trip over our lines with Immigration Agent McKinney and his men, I take the first opportunity to write you and thank you for the personal interest you took in our visit at Corvallis, and through you, to thank the others for the encouragement given by the interest displayed in the matter of immigration.

We found the people of every place very much alive to their interests on these lines, and a unit in the matter of working and co-operating with us. Mr. McKinney and his men were so favorably impressed with our people and country that I am sure they will go back East talking Western Oregon in preference to any other portion of the Northwest.

I presume you have noticed in the papers the announcement made by the Harriman lines of low one-way rates to Oregon during September and October next, the Portland rates applying to all of our points. Our immigration force will go into the field in time to work up a large travel with the aid of these low rates, and I look for an influx of people next fall such as has never been known before in Oregon.

I shall devote my particular efforts to the question of immigration and shall be glad to co-operate with you in every way. We will endeavor to look after the people at Portland who desire to see the country tributary to our lines, and I would suggest that you either appoint a committee or arrange with some of your thoroughly reliable real estate men to welcome the new comers, upon their arrival; to see that they are given the desired information and made to feel that some interest is taken in having them locate amongst us.

I am going to give every one all the opportunity necessary to look over the country, and will allow homeseekers coming out on low-rate tickets to stop off en route from Portland south as many times as desired, and with the privilege of staying ten days at each place, thus giving them plenty of time.

Under date of August 18, 1902, Mr. Coman again writes: Upon my return from San Francisco today I find your favor of the 8th inst., and wish to express my gratification over the interest you are taking personally in this matter.

Farmers' Telephones.

Miss Emma Crawford, local manager of the local telephone system of this city, is in receipt of a letter from Louis Glass, general manager of the company, wherein a plan is set forth for the benefit of farmers who may desire telephone connection.

Where the farmers of a given section petition the company proposes to utilize wire fence and will charge $6 per year for the first three cells of battery to subscribe on said line, payable semi-annually in advance. Following is a copy of what the company proposes to do:

Our company will build a loop line from our office to the limit at which individual telephones are installed without mileage, and keep the same in repair charging therefor the rate for an individual business telephone, payable monthly, which will be apportioned pro rata among the number of subscribers on each loop. The subscribers will build, own, and keep in repair the lines which connect with us.

There will be no charge for local switching by either party, and long distance switching will be at exchange tariff rates. All bills payable at our office. Telephones ready to connect up to be delivered at our company's office; if leased instruments get out of repair they will be replaced with new sets free of charge on return to our office.

An Immortal Play Greeted With Large Houses Every Night.

One cannot help but wonder why it is that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" always proves a drawing card, and yet there is nothing very wonderful about it when once the plot and presentation of this realistic drama is taken into consideration. We have read "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as many as twenty times, and always with absorbing interest; and so, too, we have seen it presented on the stage forty times, and it seems as if we enjoyed the last better than any previous rendition. There are some plays like "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Rip Van Winkle" that will never wear out. There is that about the plot of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a combination of drama, comedy, with humor and pathos, all blended so naturally and realistically that the audience lives through it all, become a part of the players on the stage, and have their sympathies aroused to a degree that makes them feel as if they were witnessing a real drama of every-day life.

As presented by the Warren & Day New York Company a rare treat is expected. In Corvallis for one performance only. The performance takes place in their huge Pavilion Opera House which will be erected at the corner of 3rd and Jackson streets.
