

THE CORVALLIS GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 23, 1902.

To cover the cost of setting and distributing the type in such matters, a charge of fifty cents will be made for each "Card of Thanks," and five cents per line for each set of "Resolutions of Condolence" appearing in these columns.

LOCAL NEWS.

Saturday's trains to this city brought a large number of students from all over the state to enter the O. A. C.

The two eldest daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong in tended to leave, yesterday, for Portland, where they are to enter St. Helen's Hall.

Last Friday evening Norm Lilly completed picking his hops. He had 37 acres and they were first-class in every way. He had something more than 6,000 boxes.

The families of Roy Baber, Asa Alexander and William Baker arrived home from the hop yards of Scott and Taylor, near Buena Vista last Friday. The hops were of good quality.

Baptist church—Usual services every Lord's day. The annual church meeting will be held on Thursday evening, the 25th. All members particularly requested to be present at 7:30 p. m.

Louis Burnough arrived from Elgin, Eastern Oregon, Saturday, to resume his studies at the O. A. C. All of the old students from his section came with him and there are three new students with them.

Lesley Lilly and wife arrived last Thursday to visit relatives and friends. Lesley will only remain here about a week, but his wife will visit for a month. Mr. Lilly is making his home in Douglas county.

Among the jurymen drawn to serve at the term of the United States Circuit Court, which will be held in Portland next month, are three from Benton county. They are, John Bier, John Whitaker and Hugh Herron.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spangler went over to Tangent, Saturday, to attend the funeral of Claude Beard, whose death occurred in Mexico recently. The funeral services were held at the home of the deceased's parents in Tangent and the remains were interred at Albany. Claude was a nephew of Mr. Spangler.

Saturday, Sheriff Burnett received papers to serve in a divorce suit wherein Mahala J. Kisor, now of Clackamas county, Oregon, brings action against Amos E. Kisor, of this city, for the purpose of having their marriage contract annulled. The case is to come before the fall term of the circuit court for Clackamas county.

Gerard Fuller, who is now living in Gilead, Mich., has passed his 86th birthday. A short time ago he enjoyed a family reunion at his home, at which four generations of the family were present. Gerard Fuller is the father of Geo. W. Fuller, of this city, and the old gentleman at one time lived here and followed the carpenter trade.

L. W. Oren, of this city, who now holds a position in the civil service as railway mail clerk, arrived on Friday for a brief visit with home folks. During the past month or two he has been at work on several runs, but the greater part of his work has been on the East side on what is known as the Albany local. He departed for his headquarters in Portland, Saturday.

Nearly every year the students at the O. A. C. originate a story at the expense of the new students who arrive at that institution of learning. It is said, that in response to the question of what course he was going to take, one of the late arrivals said that his father had sent him down here to learn farming and he presumed he would be obliged to take the pharmacy course.

After an absence of nearly a year, H. W. Franklin arrived in Corvallis last Friday. When he left this place it was to go to Mt. Vernon, Wash., to remain for a month. Things proved satisfactory to him and he continued in business at that point. Mt. Vernon, he says, is not quite so large as Corvallis, but everything is on the boom in that section and money is plentiful. The town is growing and no doubt has a good future. Mr. Franklin is here on business that will detain him for about a week, at which time he will return to the Sound.

For the past week the work of preparing the athletic track at the O. A. C. has been in progress. The track will contain about six acres and is to be enclosed with a solid board fence, eight feet high. The post holes for the fence are all dug and some of the posts set. The material for the fence is nearly all on the ground. The track was plowed up last June and by running a harrow over it a few times it will be in good shape for football. W. O. Heckart has the contract for constructing the grand stand and it is understood that he will begin work on it shortly.

Benton county clover seed for sale at Zierolf's.

See Kline's shoe window for men's fine dress shoes.

John Gault, the favorite football player and student of O. A. C. was expected to arrive in Corvallis yesterday. He has been visiting in Salem recently.

In a recent letter to his parents, Tommy Cameron, who for the past couple of months has been working in the harness shop of his uncle, in Union, Oregon, stated that he would start home during the first part of this week.

The Episcopal church, corner of Jefferson & 7th streets—Services in this church as follows: Sunday school and Rector's class every Sunday at 10 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. All, especially students, are cordially invited to each of these services.

C. MACLEAN, Rector.

Mrs. Nellie Gird and W. G. Kennedy were united in marriage, Wednesday, Sept. 10, at high noon, in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed beneath a bower of ivy and mistletoe. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white silk organdie over satin. Many handsome presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy expect to reside in Polk county.

A couple of land transfers of great importance were placed on file in the recorder's office during the latter part of last week. Both deeds are from the Land and Live Stock Company to the Oregon-Pacific Colonization Co. One deed is for 23,959 acres and the other is for 31,260 acres, and in both deeds the consideration named is $1. The land is what is known as the Coe property and is situated in Benton, Polk and Lincoln counties.

Fred Herbold, who is to coach the O. A. C. football team this fall, arrived in Corvallis Thursday evening. He is a pharmacist and assayer and has until recently held a position at Butte, Montana. His mother lives in Eugene. Coach Herbold feels confident that he will be able to do good work with the O. A. C. boys this fall. From what he can learn, the majority of the players in last year's football team will return to college this season.

The law against killing China pheasants during the close season is quite plain regarding the penalty for such an offense. Moreover, half of the fine, above the costs, goes to the informant, no matter who that person be so long as he is not a game warden or a deputy game warden. Any citizen in the common walks of life can claim half of the fine that may be imposed as the result of any information said citizen may furnish.

Taylor Porter and Harry Wicks expect to leave in the course of a week for a trip East. Mr. Porter will go to Ohio and Mr. Wicks will proceed to Pennsylvania. The former goes to visit his mother whom he has not seen for many years and who is very aged, while it is understood that Mr. Wicks is going on a matter of business. Both may be absent for two or three months. They expect to take advantage of the rates offered on round-trip tickets on the occasion of the big G. A. R. excursion to the East.

R. Taylor & Heish have sold their meat market to Ol Wicks and Homer Lilly. The latter will take possession of the business October 1st. Both Mr. Wicks and Mr. Lilly are Benton county boys. That they will carry on a first-class market there is no doubt and we bespeak them a liberal share of patronage. Jas. C. Taylor, one of the retiring members of the firm, has been in the meat market for many years. His health of late has not been very good and he contemplates going to Arizona early next month to see if he cannot build himself up.

W. A. Parr, who arrived in Oregon two or three weeks ago, was married, in Brownsville, last Tuesday, Sept. 16th, to Miss Minnie Erkin. Miss Erkin came to Linn county from Benton, Iowa, last March and joined her parents who had arrived a couple of months before and purchased property in Linn county, near Plainville. Mr. Parr was in Corvallis last Saturday with his brother-in-law, who expects to enter the O. A. C. for the coming year. Mr. Parr is a friend of F. L. Miller and visited this city a couple of weeks ago. In about ten days or two weeks he expects to bring his wife to Corvallis and take up his residence for an indefinite period.

Geo. W. Smith and A. C. White returned from a trip to the state fair at Salem last Thursday. Mr. Smith says the fair was splendid in every respect. The races were good and were conducted on sportsmanlike principles. At the races Thursday, two men were fined by the judges of the races for unprofessional jockeying. This was the first state fair that Mr. White attended in Oregon. He was quite well pleased with what he saw and says that the stock on exhibition compared favorably with what he had seen in the East. The only difference was that there is more of it in the East than in Oregon, but not any finer bred.

There is Luck.

There are people who claim there is no such thing as luck. On the other hand, we find those who pin their faith to the declaration that there is only bad luck—those who declare in favor of the proposition are scarce. It is believed that J. H. Harris, of this city, will tell you that he has faith in the theory of good luck.

Some time ago, while passing along the street near the Farra & Allen building, he chanced to look in the grass along the sidewalk and saw something that looked valuable. He gathered up the object, together with some grass, leaves, mud, etc., and took his handful of debris to the store and washed it out. When he got through at the pump he had "cleaned up" a five dollar bill.

During the past summer Mr. Harris went down to California for his health and to visit a brother who lives in Oakland. One day as the two of them passed along the street Mr. Harris saw a lady's purse lying on the walk, and thinking perhaps it was there as a practical joke, kicked it. His brother and some bystanders took the same view of it, and the loiterers viewed the scene with every show of amusement. After kicking the purse and passing it, Mr. Harris told his brother he believed he would return and pick it up, which he did. On opening it he found that it contained a lady's gold watch and chain, a diamond ring, and a brooch. Although every effort was made to find the party who had lost the purse, it proved unavailing.

While in Oakland a fellow entered the place of business of Mr. Harris' brother, offering lottery tickets for sale. One or two parties who were present purchased 25-cent tickets, but Mr. Harris at first declined. After some persuasion, he was induced to take a ticket, "just for the fun of the thing." This ticket drew $100. Mr. Harris kept the $100, but left the purse and its contents with his brother when he came home. The wonder is that Mr. Harris does not go to Oakland to reside—for him it is a lucky spot.

The foregoing is what may be termed the "lucky" side of the proposition. Now for the negative: In the not too remote past, F. L. Miller of this city, dropped a quarter of a dollar on the floor. It rolled under the safe. "Gene" secured a sharp stick and tried to punch the quarter out of its place of seclusion. Lying prone upon the floor, he prodded long and vigorously, but was only able to unearth a 5-cent piece. This is the unlucky side—now say there is no such thing as luck, good or bad.

Musical Director Selected.

The committee appointed by the board of regents to select a director of music to fill that chair at the O. A. C., has chosen Mr. Mordaunt Goodnough of this city. Delay in selecting an instructor in this department, has been due to efforts on the part of the committee to secure a person competent to teach both vocal and instrumental music. Finding this impossible, the committee made haste to secure Mr. Goodnough for the instrumental department. An instructor in vocal music will be added later. The committee's selection will be highly popular in this city. Mr. Goodnough has proved his fitness for the position, and he has the confidence of his pupils and the community.

A course of music, covering a period of four years, will be established and students will be graduated from this department. Credit will be given pupils for work in music the same as that in other studies. Graduates will be brought up to a performance of the works of Mozart, Weber and the lighter sonatas of Beethoven.

Clark-Privett.

At Baker City, September 17, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Privett, Mr. Elmer A. Clark, of Vale, was married to Miss Leila V. Privett, of Baker City, Rev. George T. Ellis officiating. Mr. E. M. Clark, of Corvallis, Benton county, Or., brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Lola I. Dorsett as maid-of-honor. Only relatives and a few friends of the bride were present. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk, profusely trimmed with tucks and silk applique. Mr. Clark is the popular cashier of the First Bank of Vale. Miss Privett has grown to womanhood in Baker City and is the accomplished daughter of the late W. R. Privett, county superintendent of schools of Baker county. Mr. and Mrs. Clark left on the noon train for a brief wedding trip to Boise, Idaho. They will be at home to their friends at their future home at Vale after September 25th.

These details concerning the wedding of a former Corvallis boy appeared in Sunday's Oregonian. Mr. Clark is highly esteemed by his many friends in this city for his many qualities and genial disposition. THE GAZETTE joins them in extending congratulations.

Burned to the Ground.

Early Saturday morning the farm house on what is known to old-timers as the Prior Scott place took fire and burned to the ground. The place is now the property of James Hays, and he had it rented to James Gray. Just how the place caught fire is not known, but it is supposed to have resulted from a defective flue.

Just what loss Mr. Gray suffered is not known, but it is reliably reported that he was heavily damaged notwithstanding the fact that some few articles of furniture and other effects were saved. The house was valued at $1,200 or $1,500 and was built a number of years ago by John Huffman. It was better than the average farm house.

When Mr. Hays heard of the fire it is reported that he accepted the news in his characteristic manner and, for perhaps the first time in his life, his favorite expression, muttered on this occasion, was appropriate. At first he was certain that there was no insurance on the building and argued the matter with his wife. When she thought of looking up some policies they held he told her to save herself the trouble, as he very well knew that the insurance that had been placed on the house some time ago had been allowed to lapse. Mrs. Hays, however, had the last say, and hunted through their papers, which resulted in her finding that they held an insurance policy on the house for $1,000, issued by an old line company.

Minstrels.

The coming of Beach & Bowers' minstrels, under canvas, on Sept. 25th is heralded with pleasure. It's now the oldest minstrel company on the road under one continuous management and we are very fortunate in getting a performance from them. It will furnish more fun and entertainment than any show of its kind. This season is all new, original and funny in the very best of opera companies. The specialties cannot be beaten and are decidedly laughable and intensely interesting as Beach & Bowers have called to their assistance an array of talent that places their company in the van of minstrelsy. The minstrel boys are young, active and up to date and seem untried in their efforts to please, and they arouse the spectators to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

Harry Percy, vocalist and musical director. Entire change of program each night. See large and small bills. Admission: Big people, 25 cents; little people, 15 cents. Remember balloon night.

For Sale

One good work horse, weight 1,200, price $60; one 6-year-old mare, bred to colt, price $100; one young cow, $25. Enquire of A. F. HERSHNER.

Good News.

The engagement of the eminent comedian, Hennessy LeRoyle, is settled at last and this distinguished actor will appear here shortly in his famous character of Hutchinson Hopper, the gay and festive stock broker in "Other People's Money," a description in detail of which will be given later in these columns. This is certainly good news and Manager Groves is to be congratulated on securing this attraction for one night during its tour from coast to coast, as the company is one of rare excellence, comprising some well-known artists.

Mrs. Christina Barker was dangerously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Allen, in this city, yesterday afternoon and was not expected to survive the night.

Mayor Woodcock returned Saturday from a visit to the state fair. He reports it a great success, the stock exhibit being especially fine. The judge on live stock, who has acted in this capacity at exhibits in Chicago and other points in the United States, pronounced the animals shown at the Oregon fair this year as fine as any he had ever seen.

The business of the Corvallis Creamery has built up so rapidly, and future prospects are so bright for this new industry in this section, that Manager Kaupisch feels encouraged to improve his plant in this city and establish new ones. The first of next month he will put in a creamery in Halsey. The machinery used in the Corvallis creamery when it was first established will be put in at Halsey. The plant in that city will have a capacity of about 500 pounds of butter per day.

Nothing equaling "Thelma," as presented at the opera house Thursday evening, in the way of scenic production, has ever been seen in this city. The two glimpses of Norwegian mythology were brilliant productions and brought forth much show of approval. A fair-sized audience witnessed the performance which was in the hands of a capable company. Manager Groves is to be commended for giving the amusement-loving public an opportunity to witness such meritorious productions, and he should be encouraged by more liberal patronage.

Nat Stewart, whose picture appears at the head of this page, and whose meritorious record has become so impressed upon all the voters of the county that we can hardly add anything to make it more so, is a native of Oregon and is 48 years old. He has resided in Lompoc for many years, having been in the stock and butcher business prior to his election four years ago. His record is one that he can well be proud of, and unquestionably will be endorsed by the people. —Santa Maria (Calif.) Times. The above has reference to Mr. Stewart's recent nomination for sheriff of Santa Barbara county. The subject of the sketch is a Benton county boy.
