

ASK FOR INJUNCTION.

Next Monday, Sep. 29th, was the day advertised by the sheriff as the time when the property, known as the Geo. S. Coe land, was to be sold for delinquent taxes. Yesterday, the Oregon Pacific Colonization Company, through its attorneys, Weatherford & Wyatt, and E. E. Wilson, filed papers in the clerk's office to restrain the sheriff from selling the lands included in the advertisement, which this company recently purchased from the Coast Land and Live Stock Co. In asking for this injunction the plaintiff alleges irregularity in the assessment and procedure, and the matter may be heard at the November term of court. Meantime there may be no sale of any of the property until the court decides in the matter; and if it should find for the plaintiff, of course the sheriff will make no sale.

The plaintiff further alleges that the county court of Benton county had no authority to issue the warrant commanding the sheriff to make sales of the property, and that the warrant is null and void.

"That the said sale if one should be made would be void, but would cast a cloud upon the title of these plaintiffs in and to said lands and by reason thereof plaintiff would be greatly injured and the sale of their lands prevented; and that plaintiff has no plain, speedy remedy at law." Wherefore, plaintiff asks for an injunction against the defendant, directing him to desist from the sale of the said premises or any part thereof, under or by virtue of warrants issued for the years 1895 to 1900, inclusive; and that permanent injunction be made for said years, and asks for costs and disbursements.

The matter will probably be acted upon immediately, and a temporary injunction granted until the matter can be heard.

An abstract of votes cast for governor, United States senator, secretary of state and state treasurer on June 2nd, 1902, sent out by the executive department, shows that the average republican vote of the state on six candidates, excepting governor, was 46,505; average democratic vote, 37,492.

Went Through the Fire.

Graves Robinson, son of Capt. G. A. Robinson of this city, arrived home from Elma, Wash., Tuesday. He left Corvallis last spring to go to that section, where he has a brother, Franklin Robinson. He reports having had some thrilling experiences in that section during the great forest fire that swept that part of the country recently.

Graves was out with a surveying party and was obliged to get out of the forest hurriedly in order to save his life. He and his party managed to reach an Indian reservation, which proved to be a place of safety. They found the Indians greatly excited over the terrible condition of affairs. The "medicine man" of the tribe was going through all sorts of holy hokus-pokus and declaring that the world was coming to an end; that the Great Spirit had sent a fire to consume the world and all of the people. Here Graves and his companions remained in safety until the fire had run its course.

When the party reached Ray's mill, where Franklin Robinson resides, they found that everything around the mill had been destroyed by the flames. It was only by heroic efforts that the men at the mill had been able to get the women and children to a prairie about three-quarters of a mile from the mill. In order to reach this point they were obliged several times to literally pass through the flames.

In order to save the mill, Franklin Robinson was wrapped up in gunny sacks and sent to the roof of the structure, where he plied the hose. The engineer remained at the engine and operated the pumps. Perhaps it was foolhardy, but in this manner they saved the mill and it was the only one saved in that section. But few men remained near the mill with Franklin and the engineer.

Graves relates that the streams of that section were full of dead animals, deer, bear and other creatures of the forest, that had been driven into the water by the flames. Cinders and ashes were carried miles from the fire and strewn on the ground and beaches to a depth of several inches.

Columbia Conference.

The sessions of Columbia Conference came to a close the first of the week. The conference was of great interest to many of our people and the sessions were marked by able addresses and discussions. Bishop Duncan, of Spartanburg, S. C., was the presiding officer, and Dr. W. E. Vaughn, editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, of San Francisco, Dr. J. Hammond, general secretary of education, of Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. W. T. Lambreth, general missionary secretary, of Nashville, Tenn., and many other noted divines were in attendance.

Various addresses and discussions, relating to the church and its work disclosed the fact that during the past year there had been a healthy increase in the membership of the M. E. church, South. It was found that the districts represented at Columbia conference were in an unusually good condition financially.

E. L. Fitch was re-appointed presiding elder of Willamette district; Rev. W. B. Smith, who has filled the pulpit in the M. E. church, South, of this city, during past year, was appointed to supply the pulpit at Junction City; Rev. John Reeves was appointed to fill the vacancy made by Rev. Smith's removal.

Some Breezy Epigrams.

The dialogue in "Other People's Money" is witty and unusually clever, it being replete with such epigrams as "Blest is the man who gets wisdom from another man's experience;" "Whether a man marries or not, he will dread it;" "Only fools ask, wise men take;" "He who has not wealth by patrimony must get it by matrimony;" "There's nothing so good as money, and no money so good as other people's;" "A matrimonial alliance with the love all on one side means trouble on both sides;" "When money talks, the average man doesn't care whether it knows what it is talking about or not."

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION
Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing his system to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics. Be sure that you get the original Ford's Black-Draught, made by the Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.
Morgan, Ark., May 15, 1901.
I cannot recommend Ford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children and myself a day's trouble. I could never be able to work without it. It cures all kinds of constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.
