Fischer, $1.00.

The basketball team speak very highly of the treatment they received while in Corvallis and have no excuses to offer for losing the game. Owing to the delayed train they did not arrive in Corvallis Saturday evening until eight o'clock and the game was not called until nearly nine. Captain Thayer says his men played good ball but need more experience.—Register.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are no prisoners in the Benton county jail, and, therefore, there is no necessity for heating that building, the woodpile used for that purpose is gradually growing less. The shrinkage occurs only in the night time, and the officers in the court house, who have noticed the phenomenon, are considering the advisability of placing a watch over the wood to detect, if possible, the cause of the gradual wasting away.

Saturday evening the Commercial Club announced that it would cease negotiations with R. M. Cramer for the removal of his carriage factory to Eugene from Corvallis. This does not necessarily stop the enterprise from coming here but simply relieves the club of the obligation which is free to be taken up by any other organization or individual in the city. Mr. Cramer and Mr. Smith, the proprietors, know the advantage of Eugene as a location for the factory and will not give up trying to remove the same to this city.—Guard.

We are in receipt of a complementary copy of a little pamphlet on "The Strawberry Industry on the Northwest Pacific Coast," from the author, E. Hofer, of Salem. Mr. Hofer has given much time and attention to the growing of strawberries and is recognized as an authority on the subject upon which he writes. His pamphlet treats of the natural adaptability of the Northwest to strawberry growing. It views the industry from the standpoint of its commercial value, and offers observations and rules intended to assist the beginner in strawberry culture to make a success financially. Numerous half-tones add to the value and attractiveness of the little book.

The DeMoss family appeared in the Presbyterian church last Wednesday evening, before a good-sized audience. The program consisted of musical numbers composed by members of the company, and others attributed to the masters. These entertainers have been touring the country for years, and their efforts illustrate what may be accomplished by application in the absence of talent. The vocal numbers are tolerable only because they are a relief from something less musical. Two redeeming features were "The High School Cadets," on stringed instruments; and "Sounds from Multnomah," by the xylophone band. The DeMoss family are capable of rendering a pleasing number on a vaudeville program, but they lack the versatility and artistic merit to supply an acceptable evening's entertainment.

CHEMAWA WON.

After Playing a Tie Game, the Visitors Won by a Score of 8 to 6.

In the most stubbornly contested game of basketball seen in the Army this season, the girls of O A C met their first defeat last Wednesday afternoon. Their dusky opponents from Chemawa gained the victory after the score had been tied at the end of the second half. The teams agreed to continue play until one or the other had scored a point, and it was the visitors' good fortune to land a most difficult basket after the local girls had missed a number of pretty attempts.

The teams were most evenly matched; Chemawa playing the better defensive game, and O A C giving a beautiful exhibition of offensive play. The team work of the local girls was brilliant, but the dusky maidens camped closely upon their trails, and no paleface ever had opportunity to make a deliberate throw from the field. Chemawa was more successful in attempts from the field, and thereby gained their victory. The farmer lassies kept the ball under the visitors' basket two-thirds of the game, but the ball seemed too large for the rim, for it would circle around just inside in a most exasperating way, and jump out again.

The first half ended in a score of 2 to 0, in Chemawa's favor. To this score the visitors added another basket soon after the opening of the second half. The local lassies' luck turned then, and they secured two baskets. Chemawa added two points by a pretty trick, but their advantage was soon overcome. When the half ended, the score board read: Chemawa, 6; O A C, 6.

By mutual agreement the game was continued, and after five minutes of play one of the visitors made a sensational try for a goal, which proved successful.

While the playing of both teams was strenuous, the best of humor prevailed and few fouls were called. Neither team made a point from free throws. It is probable that a return game will be arranged, and those who see it will get their money's worth.

May Grant New Schedule.

The effort to secure a change of schedule in the West Side passenger service, whereby it is believed the towns lying along the line will be greatly benefitted, is receiving much encouragement. The movement is being pushed vigorously by all interested. At a meeting of the Portland Board of Trade last Monday evening a communication was read from the Independence Improvement League soliciting the co-operation of the board in the endeavor to obtain better train service on the West Side from the Southern Pacific. The board endorsed the communication and the chairman appointed I. B. Hammond, A. H. Devers and C. M. Idleman as a committee to confer with the railroad officials in Portland and co-operate with the Independence Improvement League.

Assurances have been received from the Southern Pacific officials at Portland, that the matter shall be given earnest consideration. Petitions are being circulated in all cities on the West Side, and are being numerously signed. Corvallis cannot afford to be idle in this matter. The suggestion for a new schedule had its inception in this city, and a strong petition from here would have its influence with the railroad people, who have shown a disposition to make improvement where there is evidence that they are practical and will be appreciated.

Benjamin Franklin Fuller.

G. W. Fuller went to McMinnville, Tuesday, to attend the funeral of his uncle, Benjamin Franklin Fuller, who died in that city Monday afternoon, February 16th. Mrs. G. W. Fuller went to McMinnville last Saturday to be at the bedside of the sick man, but his demise came before expected.

The deceased was born July 20, 1829, at Onondago, Onondago county, N. Y. While a child he moved with his parents to Camillus, N. Y. After living there a short time they moved to Vanburen, N. Y., later returning to Onondago. At the age of 10 he moved to Gilead, Branch county, Mich. While there he served an apprenticeship at the carpenter's trade, and afterwards he worked at this trade in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois. In 1857 he went to Bavaria, Mich., where he married

Miss Lydia Jane Cook, Nov. 28. On April 12, 1861, they left Michigan for Oregon, crossing the plains by team, coming direct to Yamhill county. On December 30, a son was born to them, Edgar Wyman Fuller, who, together with the wife, survives him. In the same year they moved from Yamhill county to Linn City, on the Tualatin river, where he worked in the ironworks. In 1865, with his family, he returned to Yamhill county, and in 1866 he purchased a farm five miles southwest of McMinnville, known as the Alex Miller place, where they lived until May, 1882, when they moved to McMinnville.

Married in Albany.

Mr. Cecil Cathey and Miss Merle Simpson, of Corvallis, were united in marriage last evening, February 17, 1903, at the St. Charles hotel, in Albany, by Rev. W. P. White.

The ceremony was private, there being present only two young friends of the bride and groom, of Corvallis.

The groom is a well-known young man of Corvallis, a son of Dr. Cathey, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. John Simpson, niece of Mrs. Margaret Monteith, of Albany, a relative of Mr. Robert Crawford, and has a large circle of friends in Albany as well as in Corvallis. They spent the evening in Albany, accompanied by two young people of Corvallis, attending the "Man From Mexico," and returned home by private conveyance. They have the best wishes of many friends.—Democrat.

The young couple stole quite a march on even their most intimate friends, who did not suspect that they contemplated embarking on the matrimonial sea thus suddenly. Mr. and Mrs. Cathey left Wednesday for a short honeymoon in Portland, at the conclusion of which they will return to this city, and make their residence here for the present at least. THE GAZETTE wishes them all happiness.

Enquiring for T. B. Odeneal.

F. M. Williams, of Seattle, Wash., has written to a friend in this city whom he knew in Nebraska, making inquiry concerning T. B. Odeneal and members of his family. Mr. Williams was a half-brother of Mr. Odeneal. He says in his letter, "I think Benton has been dead several years, but he had a family—a son named Arthur, and a daughter named Fanny. Arthur must be about 35 or 37 years of age. Any information you can give me about this family will be very gladly received."

Benton Odeneal was prominent in the business and political affairs of Benton county forty years ago. He established the GAZETTE in December, 1863, and was its editor until February, 1866, when he took in as his associate Wm. Carter. In July of that year he severed his connection with this paper. Following this, he served as judge of this county. In the early 70's he removed from Benton county. He served as reporter of the supreme court of Oregon from 1880 to 1884, giving place to Mr. Stratton. His death occurred several years ago. Mr. Odeneal was a brother-in-law of the late Senator J. N. Dolph. Relatives of the family still reside in Benton county, and they will confer a favor on Mr. Williams by answering his enquiries. His address is 603, 15th ave., North Seattle.

Opera House, Tuesday Night.

"Human Hearts," which will be given at the Opera House next Tuesday evening, is a play that has withstood the test of time as few dramas of recent years have done.

Monday's Portland Telegram has this endorsement of the company and their performance:

"What is there in 'Human Hearts' that enables that melodrama to make such a hit? For several seasons this play has appeared at Cordray's, and invariably it has enjoyed corking good business. Once more the show came to Cordray's yesterday, and two big audiences turned out to see it, although the heart-rending story has been told and retold on the stage of this theatre. As on former occasions the company was up to the requirements and the audiences were enthusiastic both at the matinee and evening performances."

Basket Social.

The Degree of Honor lodge is to give a Basket Social in their hall next Tuesday evening. Everybody is invited and a good time assured. A program will be rendered. Admission 5 cents, and baskets for 25 cents. Each lady is asked to bring a basket.

Former Corvallis Boy Weds.

The McMinnville Telephone Register gives this account of the wedding of a former Corvallis boy. The groom's father was engaged in the grocery business in partnership with A. F. Hershner in this city a number of years ago.

Last evening, February 18, 1903, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Daniels, then daughter, Detha May, was united in marriage to Mr. Jesse T. Irvine. The ceremony was performed according to the ritual of the Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. Henry T. Atkinson, Mr. Daniels giving the bride away. Mrs. Arla McNamer, of Forest Grove, sang beautifully "O, Promise Me," then Miss Letha Henry played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and the party entered the parlor. Mr. Irvine and F. A. Dielschneider, the bride and her father, the bride's maid, Miss Alta Booth and the parson. The group stood beneath an immense marriage bell while the ceremony was performed, the bride wearing a white organdie dress trimmed with white silk liberty ribbon, and chiffon applique. She carried a large bouquet of white carnations and had real orange blossoms in her hair. The bride's maid was dressed in white and carried pink carnations, while the groom and best man wore the conventional black.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine left on the six o'clock train this morning for Portland, where Mr. Irvine has been in business for some months with his father and brother.

Additional Local.

Once more it has been our good fortune to pass judgment on a box of soda pop presented us by James Bier. If possible it was finer than ever.

The W. R. C. and Ellsworth Post, G. A. R. entertained their friends in their hall last night in celebration of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. A pleasing musical and literary program was rendered.

T. B. Barnes, who has been making his residence on the piece of property near the college which he purchased from W. E. Yates over a year ago, has removed to his farm near Mill City. Mr. J. J. Cady has rented Mr. Barnes' property near the college for his brother-in-law, H. B. Cramer, who will arrive in Corvallis next month from Nebraska. Mr. Cramer comes to this city to give his daughter the advantage of an education in the Oregon Agricultural College.

Cows and Stock for Sale.

Owing to accumulating increase of stock, M. S. Woodcock, of Corvallis, Or., offers for sale from 12 to 16 milch cows, in prime condition. Some of them fresh and others soon to become fresh. Prefer to sell them at one sale. The above are good cows, not registered. Three full-blood Jersey bulls, old enough to breed—from No. 1 milch cows. Some young Jersey bull calves, sired by Grand Coin; dropped by good dams. Grand Coin, one of the best bred bull in the United States, was from sire Golden Grand and dam Golden Glow, both imported from the Isle of Jersey. Golden Glow made 18 pound and 3 ounces of butter in 7 days. There are but few of these fine bull calves to be had. Ten Durham steers dropped last spring and winter. One large span of heavy, good, true and healthy draft horses. With security ample time will be given and partial payments will be negotiated to suit purchaser. For further information, address M. S. Woodcock or H. A. Wicks, Corvallis, Oregon.

"The Poetry of the Orange."

"It appeals to you, when the fruit hangs ripe and sweet on the tree late in February, or early in March. Then the blossoms break out, and the trees are yellow with golden globes, and white with orange flowers. It may be that a flurry of snow has whitened the mountain tops, and then you have an artistic background for a tropical scene. The air is full of sunshine, and heavy with fragrance as night comes on, and then, if the moon be shining, you may hear at midnight through open windows, the song of the mocking-bird in the scented grove, and it never seemed so melodious before."

An experience like this is possible any winter, and it is worth a journey of a thousand miles, while you can have it by taking the scenic Shasta route through the grand and picturesque Siskiyou and Shasta mountains, to Southern California. Complete information about the trip and descriptive matter, telling about California, may be had from any Southern Pacific agent or W. E. COMAN, Gen. Pass. Agt. S. P. Co.
