This is the second farm Mr. Ambler has sold to Mr. Macor.

The latest postal laws are that the publisher can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law, the man who lets his subscription run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued leaves him liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft. It will be seen that many disputed points are disposed of by these decisions which are certainly only just. If a subscriber does not want to renew his subscription, let him notify the publisher. The second decision given here will be a surprise to some publishers who believe they must stop a delinquent subscriber if ordered to. The delinquent must pay up if he wishes to discontinue his subscription. Otherwise he is held responsible for it as long as the paper is being sent to him, whether he takes it from the post-office or not.—Newspaperdom.

He says that last winter was the most pleasant he has ever spent. After an absence of a few days, he will return to Corvallis and determine finally whether to locate here or not.

Albany is to have an entire new street lighting system, known as the alternating constant current series system, using enclosed arc lamps, which have been adopted by all large cities installing new plants. When the new plant is completed the power and lighting service will be continuous throughout the 24 hours, requiring the entire rewiring of the pole line system and new transformers in the business part of town. The improvements will cost about $20,000 and when completed the plant will be one of the most complete in the west.

The other day, workmen employed in making repairs on the Hotel Corvallis building found an old bundle of rags stowed away between the ceiling of the second story and floor of the third. When it was disturbed the jingle of metal was heard and the eyes of the finders were riveted on the bundle to get a glimpse of the money which it was believed would pour out when the child's dress and old apron which contained it were unrolled. One of the discoverers held his hat to receive the new-found treasure, and the other carefully unwound the rags which encased it. The first view brought disappointment, however, for, instead of coin, their find was silver knives and forks. They were stamped Rogers Bros., 1847, and were an excellent article of silverware. All interested parties relinquished their claims and presented the "goods" to the married man on the job.

Shives for Albina Ferry.

The average man would be rather skeptical if told that an oak log, 30 inches in diameter and weighing 1500 pounds, could be placed in a lathe and "turned" to any shape desired, yet this is just what Messrs. Sheasgreen & Buxton are doing at the Central Planing mill in this city. The mill has the contract for making 400 shives or pulleys, to carry the cable of the Portland-Albina ferry. These shives have a face of seven inches and are from 16 to 26 inches in diameter.

Green oak logs averaging 30 inches in diameter, have been cut in 44-inch lengths. These are rolled on skids to a platform in front of a lathe which has been specially constructed to receive them, and when they are clamped in place they appear as easy to "turn" as a table leg. There seems to be no strain on the machinery, notwithstanding the enormous weight of the logs. When the surface of the logs is smooth and even, the shives are fashioned and separated. About two weeks will be required to complete the contract.

That Trip Around the World.

ED. GAZETTE.—I saw something in last week's Times regarding a trip around the world, in which it is said several Corvallis people are interested. Now it has been one of the desires of my life to take such a trip, but as the Times gives no definite information, I should like to ask you for a few of the details regarding the excursion and when it is likely to start.

SUBSCRIBER.

[We have heard that such a trip is being arranged, but have no definite information at this time, but promise Subscriber that we will investigate and report in our next issue.—Ed.]

Will be a Bidder.

C. C. Hogue, formerly of Corvallis, but now a prominent businessman of Albany, has been in this city for two or three days investigating the council's proposal for a new water system. Mr. Hogue represents private parties who have abundant capital to furnish Corvallis with an elaborate and extensive system of water works as may be desired. The franchise prepared by the council and submitted to bidders, he considers very good in the main, but he says a number of amendments are necessary before it will be acceptable to parties bidding in good faith. Some of the provisions are loosely drawn, and requirements are made in some instances which are unnecessary and impracticable. Mr. Hogue has been in consultation with the city fathers, and he believes these incongruities can be corrected.

Will Open About July 1st.

Now that the new owners of the Hotel Corvallis property have a clear title, no time is to be lost in improving the building and getting it ready for occupancy. Workmen began operations last Monday. Five carpenters are already employed at finishing work on the interior, and a force of seven or eight plasterers and assistants will soon be busy coating the walls of the rooms on the first and second floors. The third story rooms will be papered. Ed Felton has the contract for the plastering, and he says that this work cannot be completed under six weeks or two months.

New cement walks will be placed along the west and north sides of the building, and a fine balcony will be built along the front and some distance along the north side at the second story.

The portion of the building being prepared for a hotel has been leased by Mrs. Hamil, and plans have been made to have it ready for the public by July 1st. It is understood that the store room south of the Willamette Valley Bank has been leased to Spokane parties, but the nature of their business has not been learned.

Death of Popular Student.

Otto Haenel is dead. For days the faithful physicians pitted their science and skill against the advances of death, and the patient suffered battled to the last, but the Grim Reaper was not to be denied. Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock the dread summons came, and the young life was surrendered with all its hopes and ambitions.

Otto Haenel was born in Corvallis, October 17, 1882. His parents moved to their farm near Monroe, while Otto was in his infancy, and there he spent his childhood. His desire for an education was strong and he soon mastered the branches taught in the country school. After attending Mt. Angel college for a time, he took up a course at the Agricultural college, and was in his Sophomore year when death claimed him.

Ambitious beyond his strength, he devoted to his books the time that should have been spent in healthful exercise. Some weeks ago he suffered an attack of la grippe. Desire to keep up with his classmates took him back to school before he had recovered his strength and he suffered a relapse which developed into pneumonia.

His father, mother, brother and two sisters survive him.

The funeral services were conducted by Fathers Buchner and Daily at the Catholic church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Six members of the Sophomore class at the college acted as pallbearers, and the students attended the services in a body. The battalion and band followed the hearse to the Catholic cemetery, where all that was mortal of the fellow student they loved was consigned to the earth from which it came.

Set For April 29th.

The Maccabee band boys are practicing diligently for their entertainment which will be given at the Opera House April 29th. The band was organized in the latter part of January, and has an instrumentation of 20 pieces. Rapid progress has been made under the efficient direction of Mr. W. T. Nicholls, and those who have had the privilege of hearing the band practice, express themselves as surprised at its proficiency. Rehearsals occur regularly every Monday and Thursday evening at the band hall in Fisher's brick.

Corvallis is badly in need of a band and every encouragement should be given this organization. Each member of the band owns his instrument, but it costs something to employ an instructor, and defray necessary current expenses. Therefore the basket social and musical entertainment which will be given on the evening of the 29th of April, should be liberally attended. Admission will be free, and the proceeds will be derived from the sale of baskets, which the ladies are requested to bring. As the boys have many admirers among the fair sex, there is no doubt that baskets will be in abundance.

James and Milton Berry left Tuesday for Fossil, Oregon, to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. S. M. Berry, which occurred in that city, Wednesday. Mrs. Berry left Corvallis a few weeks ago for an extended visit with relatives in Minnesota. She stopped at Fossil to visit with her daughter. A telephone message Monday evening stated that Mrs. Berry was ill, and the following morning announcement came of her death. Her sudden demise was a shock to her friends in this city.

For Treasurer.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of treasurer of the city of Corvallis at the election to be held May 8, 1903.

WILLIAM MCLAGAN.

Council Notes.

The city fathers met in regular session Monday evening, all being present except Councilmen Heckart and Henkle.

Consideration of the water question was immediately taken up. The special water committee made a report recommending that the franchise submitted by Sydney Smith and the ordinance offered by the Corvallis Water Company be laid on the table, and that the city clerk be authorized to advertise for bids to furnish the city of Corvallis and its inhabitants, according to the specifications, attached to said report. A few amendments were made to the specifications, and the police judge was ordered to place an advertisement in the Oregonian for ten days, calling for bids.

Bills were allowed on the street fund amounting to $20.81; and $430.50 on the general fund.

A motion to employ Taylor Porter to construct the city's new ferry boat, prevailed.

The petition of J. W. Ingle to allow property owners to construct a sewer through block 18, original town of Marysville, and block 2, Dixon's second addition to Corvallis, was granted on condition that the property owners sign said petition and that said sewer be constructed according to the plans and specifications on file, or any amendment that may be made to the same by the city attorney. The work must be done under the supervision of the city superintendent of sewers.

The petition of Mrs. T. A. Bell and others for a sewer through blocks 29, 28, 27, 26 and 25, Avery's second addition, and block 3, Helm's addition, was referred to the sewer committee.

The petition of G. W. Brown and others for a sidewalk on the south side of block 6 and lot 12, block 20, N. B. and P. Avery's addition, was referred to the street committee.

Free license was granted the Woodmen of the World to give shows and use certain portions of the streets June 10, 11, 12 and 13, for a street carnival.

Petition of the fire department to have certain repairs made in the firemen's hall, was granted.

The police judge was instructed to give notice of the annual city election. The council chamber of the city hall was selected as the voting place, and the following judges and clerks of election were appointed: Judges—Caleb Davis, Joseph Yates and W. Currin; clerks—W. B. Lacy and D. M. Smith.

A light was ordered placed in the city jail.

The sewer committee was authorized to have certain sewers repaired and flushed.

It was ordered that $50 be appropriated to the Benton Citizens' League whenever the Benton county court appropriates the sum of $100.

Additional Local.

Ladies Fire Shoes; our spring offerings are the best we ever owned, Nolan & Callahan.

Mrs. Ella Humbert will occupy the pulpit at the Christian church, Sunday. Her subject in the morning will be "The Ideal, Earnest Life," in the evening, "The Bible and how it Came to Us."

Lorena, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Withrow, died at the family home in this city, Wednesday afternoon, aged 22 months. Death resulted from pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted at the Evangelical church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, by Rev. Humbert.

Mr. S. L. Kline will leave for San Francisco about the first of May in response to an invitation from the Union League Club of that city, to be present at a banquet which will be tendered President Roosevelt at the Palace hotel on the occasion of his visit to San Francisco, May 14th.

Dr. E. J. Thompson, of Independence, has accepted an invitation from the Knights Templar of Corvallis to deliver a special sermon at the Presbyterian church in this city next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. It is customary for the Knights Templar to observe Easter Sunday by attending special religious services. This year, however, those exercises were unavoidably delayed one week. A number of Knights will attend from Albany. All local Masons and members of the Eastern Star are invited. The services will be public.
