

REVISION TO DESTROY.

The democratic party in consort with all free-traders declares "the tariff must be revised in order to control the trusts." It is well understood that control of the trusts is not the real purpose of that party. We have seen how it opposed all anti-trust legislation. The leaders of the party know that trusts are not the offspring of a protective tariff. They know that trusts exist in foreign countries as well as in this country; under free-trade conditions as well as under those of protection. They know further that it is true the manufacturing trusts are made necessary to economize production and distribution of manufactured commodities. We repeat, the democratic leaders know these things. Yet they howl and wail over the tyranny, greed, selfishness, wickedness and liberty-engendering trusts. They have done all possible to befuddle the people and to excite prejudice and hate toward the very name of trust. The leaders of the republican party knew the democrats were not sincere in their professed abhorrence of trusts; knew that they were only setting the lines for an assault on protection. All may see it now for the assertion is made that tariff revision is necessary in order to control trusts.

The trusts organized to control the transportation business of the country, the great railway mergers, find that they must submit to the governmental regulation, whether the tariff be revised or not. These are the combinations doing and capable of doing the greatest mischief. By special rates, rebates, drawbacks, car distribution, etc., they have discriminated against the individual producer and shipper.

The republican party has enacted laws for control of such trusts and those laws are being enforced. But, say the enemies of protection this does not reach the manufacturing trusts. The tariff must be revised. Protection enables them to hold up our own people for higher prices than are demanded of foreigners.

Just here we recall that during the discussion of the McKinley tariff in 1890, and again in 1897 when the present tariff was discussed the democratic argument was that "protection shuts our manufacturers out of foreign markets and therefore the principle of protection is wrong." The argument now is, "protection enables the manufacturer to sell cheaper in foreign markets than he does at home, therefore protection is wrong and should be destroyed." Thus democrats reveal their hatred to protection.

The American people understand that they have never been so prosperous as at present. The manufacturer, merchant, farmer, mechanic and laborer alike know this. They rightly attribute their prosperity in a large measure to the operation of the protective tariff. They do not wish to see it needlessly disturbed. They have not forgotten the disastrous results of the democratic tariff revision of 1893-1894 and do not desire to repeat the experiment. If the tariff needs revision they prefer it should be revised by the friends of protection. So it will be. Revision is not, as some imagine an easy, simple thing. The moment the revision of one schedule is attempted the whole tariff law becomes subject to revision and the question of protection and how much, or free trade and why, are up for discussion. Discussion of the McKinley bill in 1890 occupied congress nine and one-half months; of the Wilson-Gorman bill in 1894, over eight months; of the Dingley bill in 1897, over four months. In each instance business was virtually brought to a standstill. The manufacturers could not make contracts for the future. He filled present orders, closed his factory and put his employees on the waiting list. Farmers found their markets closed, and unrest and uncertainty brooded over every enterprise. Even when the changes were all made it required months for the business of the country to become adjusted to them. Business prosperity requires stability of conditions. Every disturbance of this works mischief and is to be avoided. Secretary Root recently discussing tariff revision said on this point: "The process of revision is an evil in itself of no small proportions. The question of revision always is, not whether there are faults in the tariff, but whether those faults constitute an evil greater and more injurious than the evil incident to revision."

This expresses the sober, sensible view of the business world and indicates the purpose of the republican party neither blindly to rush nor to permit others to rush upon tariff revision.

Mr. Reames is a democrat in accord with his party. Were he in congress he must act with his party. Its conception of tariff revision is destruction of protection at any cost.

Special Train on the Corvallis & Eastern for Presidential Visit.

The Corvallis & Eastern Railroad Co. will run a special train from Corvallis to Albany, leaving Corvallis about 6:10 a. m. May 21st, in time to connect with the S. P. local train to Salem and Portland. Tickets on sale good going 20th or on the special and regular trains of the 21st at one fare for the round trip. Tickets on the S. P. at one fare for the round trip will be good to return May 22 enabling people to go to either Salem or Portland. Tickets on the C. & E. will be good to return until the 23rd.

This will be an opportunity of a life time to see the President of the United States and Corvallis people should take advantage of it.

Farmers vs. 'Varsity.

Manager Johnson and Trainer Trine were in Eugene last Saturday, making final arrangements for the dual field meet between the O. A. C. and U. of O. athletes, on Agricultural field, next Friday afternoon.

Speaking of this meet, Monday's Oregonian says:

What promises to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year will be the dual field meet between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College, which is scheduled for next Friday afternoon at Corvallis. As there is no end of friendly rivalry between these institutions, and as the teams are evenly matched, the contest will doubtless prove interesting. If the athletes are in good trim and the weather is fair, it is not unlikely that some state or Northwest records will be smashed, for there are some speedy men on the contesting teams. W. O. Trine, who trained the victorious team of the State 'Varsity for five years, has been with the Agricultural College since April 1st, and the result of the meets already held show that he has a strong team in the field.

Craig Not Guilty.

Friends of Austin Craig, who were familiar with the circumstances surrounding his arrest a month ago as told by the GAZETTE at that time, will be glad to learn of Mr. Craig's release, the reason for such action being that the evidence did not show that a crime was committed.

Mr. Craig was arrested April 23rd on an indictment charging him with larceny of $72.30 from a registered mail package while acting as postmaster at Whitney, July 21st of last year. The indictment contained two counts, one of larceny and one of embezzlement. The package was sent from Spokane addressed to James Rupp at Greenhorn. The postal inspectors claimed to have traced the package to the Whitney postoffice, and as a matter of course suspicion was fastened upon the postmaster at that place. Charges were preferred and Mr. Craig's arrest followed.

Mr. Craig protested his innocence and reiterated a previous claim that the lost package did not arrive at his office. He stated that the investigation had been invited by him and that he certainly would not have done so had he not felt that his position was unassailable. He set forth that it would have been unreasonable for him to have stolen $72 worth of registered matter when an average of 20 packages a day were passing through his office, many of which were undoubtedly of greater value, and particularly when his office was then and had been for some time in the hands of inspectors, who, he felt were not the most friendly toward him.

Will Refer to Council.

The special committee appointed by the council to consider propositions for a water franchise for the city, met in adjourned session last Friday evening. At that time a proposal in writing from the local water company was read and considered, but no action was taken. In this bid the water company offered to provide such a system of hydrants as was outlined in the specifications recently submitted to bidders by the city. Water was to be supplied from the same point in the Willamette as at present. The bid required that the city contract for at least 27 hydrants, for which $3 per month was to be paid; for street sprinkling, $8 per block per month. The rates to private consumers to remain practically as at present.

Objections were offered to a number of the provisions in the bid, and the water company has promised another offer which will be considered by the committee shortly. This will provide for filtered water, and will give the city the privilege of purchasing the plant at any time after the expiration of 15 years, allowing 14 per cent per year off the original cost for deterioration of the plant. It is understood that, if the special committee is unable to agree upon the next proposition of the water company, they will refer the whole matter to the council without recommendation.

Fun For Circus Monkey.

One of the big monkeys in the Norris Rowe circus, one of those that ride the tri-cycle, do the heavy bareback riding acts and drive the pony team, escaped from his cage Sunday during the stay of the show in town. The door of the cage was not properly fastened and the cunning beast managed to get his hand under it and slide it up till he could get out. His escapade was discovered almost immediately but he eluded his would-be captors and scampered at high speed across the flat. The keeper followed on the run. The attention of the fleeing simian was attracted by the open door of a dwelling and he rushed in, bent on mischief. A table stood in the room and he promptly leaped to the middle of it, stood erect and began to make pugilistic gestures with his hands at the lady of the house who was naturally frightened nearly out of her wits at the grotesque and imp-like form that confronted her. The keeper arrived and took charge of the runaway, to the lady's intense relief.—Grants Pass Courier.

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION. Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics. Be sure that you get the original The Ford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages. Horgan, Ark., May 25, 1901. I cannot recommend The Ford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative and I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up. C. B. McFALLAND.
