

NOT EASILY CONDONED.

It is quite improbable the monarchial governments of Europe will quietly condone the crime of those who plotted and executed the assassination of the late king and queen of Serbia. It is an offense against monarchy and a menace to the life of monarchs. It is of little consequence that the form of the Serbian government has not been changed. There is a strong current of democracy in the Serbian capital which encouraged this revolution animated by the hope that the new government would be more liberal. Serbia is a constitutional monarchy, the constitution having been granted by the deposed and murdered king in the spring of 1882. Of the legislative body, which is chosen for three years, the people elect three-fourths and the king chooses one-fourth of the members. There are other liberal provisions in the constitution which, if properly regarded, should give the people liberal government. The population numbers about two million, but the masses are ignorant, fanatical and rather turbulent.

Assassination of rulers is a crime so hideous and repulsive to all civilized peoples that the nations most nearly concerned in Serbian affairs cannot disregard this offense. These are Russia and Austria. They cannot do less than insist upon the punishment of those who planned and executed the bloody deed. They may draw Turkey into conflict with them. This would almost surely lead to a general European war, and certainly result in the dismemberment of Turkey. Serbia might be permitted to settle her own affairs after her own manner, even though she brought the reproach of the nations upon herself, but Russia cannot permit this for a measure of such reproach would fall upon her; besides which Russia is ready and eager to strengthen her position in the Balkans. Any action which might hasten the dismemberment of Turkey would command itself to Russia for she without doubt hopes to reap substantial benefit upon the disruption of the Ottoman empire.

Baccalaureate Exercises.

Baccalaureate exercises at Agricultural College Sunday morning, attracted an audience that filled the gallery and main floor of the large armory. The morning was bright and balmy, and all who attended the exercises were in a mood to appreciate the able sermon preached by Rev. Allen Wilson, of Indianapolis, and the excellent music by the choir.

The armory was appropriately decorated with evergreens and conservatory flowers and plants. From the huge central rafters hung a banner of gold with the word "Welcome" inscribed upon it in letters of purple. Streamers of purple and gold floated to the four corners of the room and draped the railing of the gallery. The stage was a bower of evergreens and flowers above which two large American flags were draped, and streamers of the National colors were everywhere in evidence.

Promptly at 10:30 o'clock the graduating class entered preceded by the faculty, ministers of the city, and the choir.

Rev. Wilson took for his theme "The Image of God," and preached an eloquent sermon replete with practical ideas and good sense. His text was from Genesis: "And God Created Man in His Own Image; in the Image of God Created He Him." He impressed upon the class that while they had finished their preparation for the battle of life, they had just reached the place where the value of this preparation would be put to the test. He warned each one to be practical; to know his or her limitation and not aim too high. "It is fool's play," said he, "to fire at a target with a 22-pistol, that can only be reached with a 13-inch gun." Men are not equal in ability to do the same thing. To succeed, one must devote his energies to one line of endeavor; select a vocation and become proficient in it. Do not undertake what is beyond you. Do not begin what you have neither the capacity nor the power to complete. The ages are filled with the examples of unfinished work. If you have anything worth saying, say it. Do not imagine that silence alone will pass for wisdom. If you are a fool the world will find it out. You have no more right to hoard up talent or information than you have to hoard up gold. "A thought miser is as bad as a gold miser."

The Play a Success

A surfeit of amusements during the week did not prevent the local theatrical company from playing to a good house, Saturday night. The debate at the College and the announcement that the public wedding would certainly take place at the Carnival, attracted a great many, but "My Friend From India" is a play to conjure with, and the Opera House was well filled.

The play was produced here about three years ago with a strong cast, but Saturday night's performance suffered nothing by comparison in the estimation of those who witnessed both performances. Only a week was spent in rehearsal, and as this was the first appearance of several members of the cast, some lack of preparation was noticeable. All who were present, however, express themselves well pleased with the entertainment, and as this was the end sought by those upon the stage, the performance may be put down as a success.

Following is the cast:

- Erastus Underholt, a Retired Packer, B. W. Johnson
Charles Underholt, Son of Erastus, Harry Davis
A. Keen Shaver, a Theosophical Barber, L. Paul
Tom Valentine, Friend of Charles, Elmer Willis
Rev. J. Tweedle, an African Missionary, John Allen
Jennings, a Servant, Bruce Barnett
Bill Finnerty, One of the Finest, Bert Pilkington
Marion Hayate, Engaged to Charles, Jennie Noble
Mrs. Beckman Street, Looking for a 3rd, Mrs. B. W. Johnson
Bernice and Gertrude Underholt, Daughters of Erastus, Mrs. B. Barnett and Edna Irvine
Tilly, a Servant, Una Stewart

DR. DARRIN'S TREATMENT.

Startling Illustration of What can be Accomplished by Electricity.

(Albany Herald.) The philosophy of his treatment may be briefly stated thus: Force is spirit in motion. Vital force is organic motion, or the proper movement of organized particles as they pass to and from the human system. Disease, in a word, is obstruction—the result of an impaired vital force, and it is at least accompanied if not caused, by deranged organic motion. These arrangements can only be effected by calling in the aid of the electro-magnetic or vital forces, which are concerned in all organic changes. So powerful is this influence, that persons who have many years suffered, have been restored to health in an almost incredible space of time. Dr. Darrin's system will not restore a lost member of the body, or perform other impossibilities, but it will, in a majority of cases, give relief where other remedies have failed. The practice is based on the most strict laws of science, and is in harmony with all natural laws. Physicians of every practice not only acknowledge this power, but receive the treatment for themselves and their families, as well as recommend the treatment to their patients.

TO HEAR A WHISPER.

I came to Salem with my daughter, April 28, 1902, to consult Dr. Darrin concerning her deafness. After a thorough examination the doctor took the case under treatment, and in one operation and with the use of electricity, restored her hearing, much to our surprise and gratification. I was so much pleased with her care that I placed myself under the doctor's care. He has cured an almost total deafness of one ear, with which I had been afflicted for twenty-three years. I can be referred to by letter or in person, and will gladly answer all questions. I reside at Shaw, Marion county, Oregon. C. R. DURFER.

May, 1902.

ONE YEAR LATER.

SHAW, OR., May 23, 1903. Dr. Darrin, Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of inquiry will say my daughter and I are both well, and so far the results of your treatment one year ago seem to be permanent. Your friend, C. R. DURFER.

Dr. Darrin can be consulted free at the Hotel Revere from 10 to 5, 7 to 8 daily. The poor treated free, except medicines, 10 to 11 daily. All curable chronic and private diseases of men and women a specialty. All paying cases at $5 a week or in that proportion of time the case may require. Batteries and belts furnished. Correspondence solicited. Circulars and question blanks sent to any address. The treatment of female diseases a specialty, as well as seminal weakness, varicose, hydrocele, stricture and lost manhood in men. Also the eye, ear and all chronic and acute diseases. Eyes tested and glasses fitted.
