Among our strolls about our fair city the GAZETTE man visited the College Sunday morning. Upon inquiry we found that practically nothing has been accomplished as yet toward beginning the winter's studies. Everyone has been busy searching for and fixing up his or her rooms. Although there are now about the same number here as last year, yet, we were told, there were many that had not arrived. This was due to the great amount of Fall work being done throughout the country, and on account of the fine weather. After Fall work is completed and the students are all in ready for the winter's work, it is expected the increase in attendance will be considerable over that of last year.

While in research of something in the news line the pencil pusher on the GAZETTE the first of the week visited Dr. Lester's place near the College, which the genial professional gentleman is diverting into a chicken ranch. Dr. Lester takes this profitable means of breaking away from his office duties, where he has been confining himself too closely of late, and as a result was detrimental to his health.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS' CONCLAVE.

A Notable Assembly of Masons in the City of Albany.

The seventh annual convale of the Knights Templars of Oregon was held in Albany on Thursday last, and the occasion was one long to be remembered. Quite a number of the members of the Albany Commandery live in Corvallis and all attended the meeting, some of the members being accompanied by their wives, who assisted the ladies of the Eastern Star of Albany, in the festivities of the evening. The business of the Grand Commandery was concluded in the afternoon.

From the Herald of Friday, we learn that the following grand officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Commander, George H. Hill, of Portland; deputy grand commander, L. N. Roney, of Eugene; grand generalissimo, D. C. Agler, of Albany; grand captain-general, G. H. Burnett, of Salem; grand senior-warden, F. J. Miller, of Albany; grand junior warden, D. A. Paine, of Eugene; grand treasurer, B. G. Whitehouse, of Portland; grand recorder, Jas. F. Robinson, of Eugene. Grand Commander Hill then announced the following minor grand officers for the ensuing year: Grand prelate, A. M. Knapp, of Portland; grand standard bearer, T. C. Taylor, of Pendleton; grand sword bearer, Henry Roe, of Portland; grand warder, E. D. Briggs, of Ashland; grand captain of the guard, Ed Kiddle, of LaGrande.

In the evening the new officers were installed by Grand Commander F. E. Allen, of Albany. A large number of guests were present. The following excellent program was rendered, every number being well received and deserving of special mention:

Overture, orchestra; installation of grand officers; violin solo, Prof. George Anderson; reading, Miss Mary R. Starr; vocal solo, Mrs. E. W. Langdon; reading, Miss Eva Simpson; piano duet, Mrs. Edwin Stone and J. C. Fox; vocal solo, S. N. Steel; music, orchestra.

O. A. C. Glee Club.

Friday evening in one of the rooms in Administration Hall, several of the men of the College met for the purpose of forming a glee club. It is several years since such an organization has existed in the College, and it was thought that uniting men from the successful quartets of last year it would be possible to form an organization which would be strong and at the same time representative of the college vocal spirit. Accordingly an organization known as the Oregon Agricultural College Glee Club was formed, under the direction of Otto F. L. Herse. Work is to begin a few days and Mr. Herse expresses the hope that one or two pleasing entertainments may be offered during the season.

Other officers elected were: President, J. G. Kilpack; secretary-treasurer, W. T. Shaw.

From an Old Soldier

EDITOR GAZETTE: August 14, wife and I left Corvallis to attend the National encampment of the G. A. R., at San Francisco. At Albany we took the night train which gave us a daylight ride over the mountains. We arrived in San Francisco Sunday and found the streets filled with old soldiers, who were there from every state in the union. All soldiers were asked to register and the people of Frisco put forth every effort to protect and entertain the visiting veterans royally.

After remaining in Frisco for one week we left for Los Angeles, on the steamer Santa Rosa and as we went through the Golden Gate across the bar, I felt like singing that old song, a life on the ocean wave and a home on the rolling deep.

On arriving at Los Angeles I found that city also crowded with old soldiers who were taking in the sights to be found in this city before returning to their homes. The people of Los Angeles, not to be out done by Frisco, gave us free rides on cars and by water and all kinds of fruit in abundance.

Being weak and much fatigued by the trip, I enrolled myself at the Soldiers Home Hospital here and as I like the way they treat me, and the doctor say that the climate will do me good I will remain sometime, but my wife thinks of returning home soon.
