Evangelistic Services.

Rev. I. D. Driver, of Eugene, has been conducting evangelistic services at the Methodist church last week and this week. There has been a large attendance at all these meetings, that of Sunday night especially when the church was not large enough to hold the people who came from a number of the churches, all uniting in the services.

It seems remarkable that a man of Dr. Driver's age, about eighty, can go on the platform and hold an audience spell-bound for over an hour, and keep it up night after night without breaking down from exhaustion. He seems possessed of an unusual amount of strength for one of his age. Where he gets it, ask him. During his course of lectures, expounding the scriptures, last week, he has shown evidences of great industry in seeking the true meaning and interpretation of scriptural passages and doctrine. It will be remembered that some years ago Mr. Moody, the great evangelist, in passing through the country propounded a number of questions for the clergy to answer. From the intelligence of the answers, he desired to select a suitable man for certain work in his school in the East. Of the hundreds of answers to these questions, those submitted by Dr. Driver were so superior to any others, that he was selected to go to that school and there expound the scriptures. During those years he was frequently called upon to meet with distinguished men of different or no religious beliefs, and publicly debate with them the reason why each believed as he did, and it is well known that no antagonist ever failed to admit the superiority of the reasons produced by Dr. Driver. And that was for the best of reasons, that the arguments supporting his position on religion are unanswerable.

There are men and women up and down the coast who bear living witness of the effectiveness of Dr. Driver's preaching, by means of which their attention has been called to the great question of present virtue and future reward. He is as actively engaged still in the work of persuading sinners to repent and accept the salvation offered by the Christian faith, as his age and the calls of his church admit of, and it is fortunate that the people of this community, have in the declining years, and in the fullness of his intellectual vigor, had this opportunity of listening to his interpretations of the scriptures, upon which our civilization and laws are founded, and by which they are sustained. W.

In our report of the social of the Woman's Relief Corps last week we inadvertently overlooked some of the most important parts of the proceeding. The party was under the management of the executive committee, consisting of Mrs. Fannie Oren, Mrs. Emily Henkie and Mrs. Agnes Young. During the musical and literary part of the program a letter was read by the president, Mrs. D. C. Rose, coming from Comrade James Wilkinson, now in Santa Monica, Calif. This was followed by readings by Mrs. Chipman and Miss Daisy Rose. W. E. Yates as auctioneer of the baskets, acquitted himself in a manner to earn for him a vote of thanks of the entire assembly. One the whole it may be considered one of the most enjoyable parties of the season.

Summit Items.

Mrs. Mimmie King, of Harris, is visiting her parents at Summit. T. Ranney, our enterprising merchant is shipping dressed poultry to Seattle markets. Miss Helen Harrison left Monday for Ellensburg, Wash., where her brother resides. Jasper Pettit is using a traction engine as a power in sawing railroad wood. Chas. Kennedy, of Corvallis, is here visiting old friends. J. H. Crain and Bruce Hamar went to Blodgett, Friday, to make music for the dance at Warren Norton's. John Morrow has gone to Wasco, Or., to resume his work as stationary engineer. While the valley has been engulfed in fog we have been having bright, beautiful days, living above the clouds. X. Y. Z.

Kings Valley.

Rev. G. M. Stroup, pastor of the Evangelical church, has resigned and moved to his home near Portland. Rev. Epley, of Jefferson, has been appointed to supply the work until the meeting of the Conference in April. Mr. Brown closed a three months term of school in the Alexander district last Friday.

The Spaulding Lumber Co. have driven about 18,000,000 feet of logs down the Luckiamute river this winter. Men are now rolling in the logs from the banks of the river which can not be easily removed by the water.

During the last week a very interesting revival meeting has been conducted in the United Evangelical church by Revs. Plowman and Lovell. The order is good and we do not think any eggs will be thrown at the preachers.

Curtis Miller has recovered from the measles, and again working in the store at Arlie Paul, a younger brother, is taking them.

Last Saturday Chas. Wiley, a 14-year old boy, living about one and one-half miles from the Kings Valley store, while hunting, dropped a gun from his shoulder. The gun was discharged about eight inches from his leg, inflicting a dangerous wound and cutting off a portion of the bone in the lower part of the leg. Dr. Luther attended the boy, and says he can not recover without some permanent injury.
