LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Articles of general interest will be published in this department as the personal opinion of the writers. It is understood that the paper is not held responsible for any opinion here expressed.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—As the editor of our most valuable county paper has opened a department of correspondence by the subscribers, I will contribute the following in regard to the Sabbath:

Now, all we know or can know, about the Sabbath of the Lord we get from the Bible. We find it stated in Genesis 2:2 that God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made. Now, it still remains a fact that God blessed and sanctified the seventh day, and that he rested upon that day, and that he did not sanctify and rest and pronounce a special blessing upon any other day. Looking further, we find as re-ordered in Exodus 16th chapter that God withheld manna from falling in the camp of the Israelites on the Sabbath, during their experience in the wilderness, causing twice the usual amount to fall on the sixth day, commanding them to gather a double portion on the sixth day, in order that they might not desecrate the Sabbath by gathering and preparing food on that day.

Passing on to the twentieth chapter of Exodus we have the record of the giving of the ten commandments by the Lord upon Mt. Sinai. In the fourth or Sabbath commandment it is here again stated that the Lord blessed and hallowed the Seventh day. Now to hallow is to make holy. There is no record in the Bible that God ever made holy any other but the seventh and commanded that it should be observed as a weekly sabbath. It is quite generally believed that the Lord changed the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day of the week on the occasion of the resurrection, but the Bible nowhere states nor implies any such change, on the contrary there are very good reasons for believing it was not changed. The Saviour, when on earth certainly knew which day was the Sabbath. His disciples must also have known. Now it is stated in the gospels that the Lord rose from the dead on the first day of the week and in connection with that it is also stated that the Sabbath had passed and that his disciples had kept it according to the commandment, which commandment states that the seventh and not the first is the Sabbath. Mark the last part of the fifteenth and first part of the sixteenth, and Luke last part of the twenty-third and first part of the 24th chapters. St. Paul was a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee. Acts twenty-third chapter and sixth verse, which sect were the strictest Sabbath keepers the world has ever known, and yet Paul declares not long before his death that he had committed nothing contrary to the customs of his fathers, Acts 24:17, which he could not have said if he had abandoned the keeping of the Sabbath as commanded and substituted some other day. Many people who are zealous for the keeping of Sunday, the first day of the week are clamoring for laws to compel the populace at large to abstain from secular pursuits on that day. Now that won't work. The Sabbath is declared to be holy. God's people are commanded to keep it holy. The majority of people are not holy, and as they are not holy there is certainly no propriety in trying to compel them by human legal enactments to keep a holy institution. They must first be made holy which can never be accomplished by compulsive means.

Rev. Green took supper with the Cauthorn Hall boys Friday evening

The way the Freshmen are training for the field meet they will take first place if some one don't do some pretty good work this week.

In Chapel last Friday morning Prof. Goodnough rendered an excellent piano solo which was well received by the students.

If you were to visit Prof. Lake's class in plant morphology you would be inclined to think that there was danger of some kinds of flowers becoming extinct from the number to be found on the dissecting table.

The Barometer is going to put out a large souvenir edition this year. It will come free to all regular subscribers but others will be charged 25 cents per copy. It will contain pictures of all the buildings, of the classes, of the battalion and literary societies, besides many others of interest. It will contain short descriptions of the buildings, and other things of interest about the school. In fact it will be just the thing to send to prospective students for it will tell them the things they wish to know concerning the school.

Dr. Withcombe went to Portland yesterday to meet Professor Elwood Mead, who is from Washington D. C. and is at the head of the irrigation and drainage work. He is now on the coast investigating some prospective work. He came first to San Francisco and is now on his way to the Sound country.

Roy Howard, '02, who left here last fall to enter school at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, has lately become quite a traveling man, with headquarters at Buffalo, N. Y. He is now traveling among the colleges and universities of Ohio and West Virginia, hiring and training agents to go out during the coming summer with the "Self and Sex Series" of books. He is an excellent canvasser himself having done some record-breaking work in the last two years.

Professor Pernot is carrying on some very interesting experiments in the preparation of cheese for market. When cheese is cured in the old way it must be turned and greased every day and then 11 per cent is lost by shrinkage and in a damp climate about 30 per cent more by mould, and in addition to this it must be kept in some particular temperature while it is ripening, and then when it is sold the consumer must lose considerable in the rind. But when cured by Prof. Pernot's new method there is absolutely no loss, for it is cured in a sealed tin can. It does not mould and no care is needed except that it be kept in a tolerably cool place, and there is no rind at all. And beside all these advantages it is much more digestible and he can give it any flavor he desires and it will retain it. He is also curing some Swiss cheese in the same way.

Friday evening after an early supper A. R. Barnett and J. Lingass left Cauthorn Hall for a trip to Mary's Peak. Lingass carried the bedding and Barnett the cooking outfit and eatables. As they started bravely forth with their faces toward the setting sun the boys gave a cheer to help them on their way. As they vanished from sight the boys turned back into the Hall many of them wishing that they could go out for a jaunt and live on fish and wild game for a few days. As the sun sank to rest in the golden west the excursionists found themselves near "bally" about half way to Philomath. They decided that they had travelled enough for one day so they pitched their camp. The next morning when the sun came up and thawed them out they struck camp and made tracks for home arriving at Cauthorn Hall soon after breakfast. The boys joshed them a little but they did not mind, for they had had the pleasure of an early summer outing.

Thursday morning at Chapel exercises President Gatch read a letter from F. E. Edwards, last year's commandant, who is now a student in Berkeley, California. Mr. Edwards says that the summer school at Berkeley this year will be an very interesting one for several of the world's greatest professors will be there. Among them are Professor Anhenius, of Stockholm University, one of the world's greatest Physicists; Sir William Ramsey, of London, and Hugo De Vries, the great evolutionist. He also said all of the O. A. C. men who are in attendance there are making themselves known. Stanley Herbert, '02 is soon to go to Nevada on some government work in irrigating Roy Shepard, '02 will graduate this year and is among the best electricians in the University. Fred Hazard who was here for some time last fall is now doing special work in the mining department there. He says for himself that he is taking some very interesting work in soil physics and chemistry. He is also assistant professor in qualitative analysis. He will soon be back as his examinations will come May 11. We will all be glad to see him for he is a universal favorite with all who know him and with the College boys especially.
