

That Tired Feeling

Is a Common Spring Trouble.
It's a sign that the blood is deficient in vitality, just as pimples and other eruptions are signs that the blood is impure.

It's a warning, too, which only the hazardous fail to heed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove it, give new life, new courage, strength and animation.

They cleanse the blood and clear the complexion.

Accept no substitute.

"I felt tired all the time and could not sleep. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a while I could sleep well and the tired feeling had gone. This great medicine has also cured me of scrofula." Mrs. C. M. Boor, Gilead, Conn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

How to Sleep.

It is not uncommon to hear people say "I was too tired to sleep"—but it is not generally known how great a help it is at such times not to try to sleep, but to go to work deliberately to get rested in preparation for it. In nine cases out of ten it is the unwillingness to lie awake that keeps us awake. We toss and turn and wish we could sleep. We fret, and fume, and worry, because we do not sleep. We think of all we have to do on the following day and are oppressed with the thought that we cannot do it if we do not sleep. First, we try one experiment to see if it will not make us sleep, and when it fails, we try another and perhaps another. In each experiment we are watching to see if it will work. There are many things to do, any one of which might help us to sleep, but the watching to see if they will work keeps us awake.

When we are kept awake from our fatigue, the first thing to do is to say over and over to ourselves that we do not care whether we sleep or not, in order to imbue ourselves with a healthy indifference about it. It will help toward gaining this wholesome indifference to say "I am too tired to sleep, and therefore, the first thing for me to do is to get rested in order to prepare for sleep. When my brain is well rested, it will go to sleep; it cannot help it. When it is well rested, it will sleep just as naturally as my lungs breathe, or as my heart beats."—Leslie's Monthly.

All Might Again.

Opal, Wyo., May 16.—After suffering terribly for four or five years Mr. A. J. Kohner of this place has been completely restored to good health. His case and its cure is another proof of the wonderful work Dodd's Kidney Pills can do. Mr. Kohner says:

"For four or five years I have been a sufferer with kidney trouble and a pain over my kidneys. I thought I would give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and I am glad I did so, for they have done me good work and I feel all right again."

Many cases are being reported every week in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have effected cures of the most serious cases.

These strong testimonies from earnest men and women are splendid tributes to the curative properties of Dodd's Kidney Pills and judging by these letters, there is no case of kidney trouble or backache that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure promptly and permanently.

Men are still free to be the slaves of passion, than which servitude there is not a worse.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Sold by Druggists, 70c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Four Kinds of Liars.

The late Sir Frederick Bramwell of England was famous both as a witness and arbitrator in engineering disputes. It is recalled that his brother, the late Lord Justice Bramwell, on giving advice to a young barrister, told him to be careful of four kinds of witnesses: "First, of a liar; second, of the liar who can only be adequately described by the aid of a powerful adjective; third, of the expert witness, and, finally of my brother Fred."

JUDICIAL DECISIONS.

A statute giving attorneys a lien on the cause of action for their fees in suits instituted by them is held in Tompkins vs. Nashville, C. & St. L. Ry. (Tenn.) 61 L. R. A. 340, not to deprive the plaintiff of the right to dismiss the suit against their will, or entitle them to be made parties with the right to prosecute the action to protect their own interests.

Injuries caused by the widening of the canal are held, in Mullen vs. Lake Drummond Canal and W. Co. (N. C.), 61 L. R. A. 833, not to be included in the original condemnation of the right of way for the canal so as to prevent the subsequent recovery of damages for them. The other cases on the construction and operation of canals are collated in an elaborate note to this case.

The indorsement by the principal of a check given in part payment of the purchase price of land is held, in Thompson vs. New South Coal Company (Ala.), 62 L. R. A. 551, not to be a sufficient subscription of the contract to make it binding on him, where it was made by an agent not having sufficient authority to bind the principal, although the check was attached to the contract.

A plan by a voluntary association of merchants engaged in selling proprietary medicines, adopted by manufacturers of them, looking to the maintenance of prices, by which the manufacturers should sell at fixed prices, with a rebate only to consumers who could be relied on to maintain the selling price, is held, in John D. Park & Sons Company vs. National Wholesale Druggists' Association (N. Y.), 62 L. R. A. 632, not to be void as creating a monopoly or in restraint of trade, or as against public policy.

That repairs promised by an employer to be made upon a defective machine "the fore part of the following week" had not been made by Wednesday is held, in Rice vs. Eureka Paper Company (N. Y.), 62 L. R. A. 611, not to deprive an employee who complained of the defective condition of the machine of the benefit of the rule that an employee who continues work in reliance on the master's promise to repair does not assume the risk of defects during the reasonable time allowed for making the repairs.

A passenger going upon railroad train is held, in Kansas City, Fort Scott & M. R. Company vs. Little (Kan.), 61 L. R. A. 122, to have a right to rely upon the representations of a local ticket agent that such train will stop at a certain point to which he has purchased ticket and desires to ride, and the company is held to be liable if he is compelled to leave the train before reaching his destination, because by the general rules of the company, unknown to the passenger, such train is not scheduled to stop at such station.

An insurer against employers' liability, whose contract gives it the right to defend against suits by employees against the assured, and which, after a judgment in excess of the insurance has been obtained against the assured, agrees to perfect an appeal, is held, in Getchell & Martin L. and Mfg. Company vs. Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation (Iowa), 62 L. R. A. 617, not to be liable for negligently failing to do so, whereby the judgment is affirmed, in the absence of anything to show that the judgment was erroneous and that the plaintiff could not have succeeded on a second trial. With this case is a note on liability involved in the exercise of the right to control or carry on litigation in the name of another party.

Mr. Nolan's Embassy.
Mr. Nolan had acquired a great reputation for tact, so that when Mr. Cassidy fell from a ladder and broke his leg it was quickly decided by all the workmen that Mr. Nolan should bear the time tidings to Mrs. Cassidy.

"He broke the news gradual," said Mr. Leamy to his wife that night, "and by the time she learned the truth she was as calm as a clock, they say. Oh, he's the great man, is Timmy Nolan!"

"How did he do it?" asked Mrs. Leamy, impatiently.

"Like this," said Mr. Nolan's admirer. "He went to the house and rang the bell, and he says, 'Thin Dinna is not dead, Mrs. Cassidy, or you'd never be so gay-lookin'!"

"Dead!" she screeches. "Who said he was dead?"

"Thin it's not true he's near to dyin' wid the smallpox, either," said Timmy, "or you'd never be lookin' so amazed."

"Smallpox!" she cries. "Has he got the smallpox, Timmy Nolan, and been tuk to the hospital widout me sayin' good-by to him?"

"Sure an' he has not," said Timmy Nolan, in a comfortin' tone. "It's only that he's broken a few bones in his leg, fallin' from a ladder, and I'm sint ahead wid the news."

"It's you that's a true friend, an' you've lifted a big load from me heart," said Mrs. Cassidy, and she gave a warm shake to his hand and went back to her washin'."

As We Find Him.
We came upon the college man in the green sweater.

"Studying much?" we asked.

"Studying?" he echoed, his eyes dilating with astonishment. "Well, I guess not. I finished up football in the fall; now I'm playing hockey; soon it will be polo, then lacrosse, and later on baseball."

"When do you expect to open your books?"

"Well, during next vacation, if I get a chance."

A beautiful girl is one who is pretty and doesn't know it.

Less of Kin and More of Kind.

A Scot who served an Englishman as guide and friend on a fishing trip had what the London Daily Mail calls "the national weakness" for claiming relationship with all the influential families in that part of Scotland.

One day the Englishman met him on the road driving a pig, and saw a little fun.

"Well, Donald," said he, "is that one of your grand relations?"

"Oh, no," said Donald, quietly. "This is just an acquaintance—like yersel'."

He—I see you've finished the last chapter. She—Long ago. I'm almost in the middle of the book.—Puck.

A little fellow said of all the things he saw at the circus he liked the little condensed horses best (Shetland ponies).

Meeker—My wife and I always settle our differences by arbitration. Bradley—Who is the arbitrator? Meeker—My wife, of course.—Exchange.

Employer—You are too slow about your work. Office Boy (cheerfully)—Oh, well, what I don't do to-day I kin do to-morrow.—Indianapolis Journal.

"She did not wish to be an old maid and still she detested the society of men." "How did she manage?" "She married a clubman."—Houston Post.

"An' how's yer husband the day?" asked Mrs. Hafferty of Mrs. Muldoon. "Sure, an' he's no better," replied Mrs. Muldoon. "The doctor's afraid morality will set in."

Mistress—So you want me to read this love letter to you? Maid—If you please, mum. And I've brought ye some cotton wool ye can stuff in yer ears while ye read it!

Sharpe—Yes, Parker invented the safest alrship ever heard of. Wheaton—But it refused to fly. You couldn't go up on it. Sharpe—That's why I say it was the safest.

"Here we have only been married two days, Clarence, and you're scolding me already." "I know, my dear, but just think how long I have been waiting for the chance."

"I see you are wearing my old engagement ring." "Yes; isn't it perfectly lovely to be engaged to Jack?" "Yes, indeed! He's so deliciously serious about it, isn't he?"—Detroit Free Press.

Just a Hint: Mr. Sioman—It's so strange that we have no national flower. We certainly should have one. Miss Waite (significantly)—Yes; I think the orange blossom would be nice.—Exchange.

"Does your wife do much fancy work?" "Fancy work? She won't even let a porous plaster come into the house without crocheting a red border round it and running a yellow ribbon through the holes."

Ascum—Some people are saying that you made most of your money in politics. Leader—But others are saying I made most of my money out of politics. So who are ye going to believe?—Philadelphia Press.

"Do you believe," she asked, "that a genius can possibly be a good husband?" "Well," he modestly replied, "I would prefer not to answer that question. But my wife ought to be able to tell you."—Exchange.

Patience—Woman is woman's best friend, after all. Patience—I guess you're right. Patience—Certainly I'm right. Even when she is getting married, doesn't a man give her away, and her maid of honor stand up for her?

"Mr. Dabble," said a lawyer to a witness in the box, "at the time these papers were executed you were speculating, were you not?" "Yes, sir." "You were in oil." "I was." "And what are you in now?" "Bankruptcy," was the solemn reply.

"Fall styles for school children," read Mrs. Hooper. "That seems like a great extravagance. Just look at the illustrations." "That's all right," commented Mr. Hooper; "our children have all sorts of fall styles, and most of them are illustrated with bumps."

"How is it, dear Chum, are you related to that celebrated Professor Kirk in Halle?" "Yes, but very distantly." "How distant?" "He is my brother." "How can you call that distantly related?" "Well, you see, there are ten brothers and sisters between him and myself."

"I suppose that Dewey will be expected to make a little speech to admiring friends at every place that the Olympia calls," remarked the observant boarder. "That," added the cross-eyed boarder, "will make a great many deck oration days this year."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Is this new combination what you would call a trust?" asked the young woman who asked questions simply for fear the conversation will lag. "Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "it depends altogether on which side of the deal your interests lie. If you are one of the organizers it's a trust, but if you're one of the consuming public it's a well-developed suspicion."—Washington Star.

A Springfield school teacher received the following note from the mother of one of her pupils on Monday: "Dear Miss, You writ me about whipping Sammy. I hereby give you permission to beat him up any time it is necessary to learn him lesens. He is just like his father—you have to learn him with a club. Pound nolege into him. I wants him to git it, and don't pay no attention to what his father says. I'll handle him."

A Baptist and a Methodist minister were by accident dining at the same house. As they took their seats there was an embarrassed pause, the hostess not knowing how to ask one minister to say grace without offending the other. The small son quickly grasped the situation, and, half rising in his chair, moved his finger rapidly around the table, reciting: "Eny, mene may mo, catch a nigger by the toe." He ended by pointing his finger at the Baptist minister, and shouting, "You're it!" The reverend gentleman accepted the decision, and said grace, but it lacked the usual solemnity.

A Lesson Out of School.

Plain-mannered, common-sense relatives serve no more useful purpose than in keeping down vain pretensions and silly tendencies in other members of the family. The New York Press says that it had become fashionable to a certain school to diversify names. Mabel had become Maybelle, May Mayme, and soon Jessie caught the infection.

She wrote a letter to her elder brother, Sam, and signed it "Jessica." Sam detected the signs of the times, and this was his reply:

"Dear Sister Jessica: Your letter received. Aunt Marica and Uncle Georgia started for Bostonica yesterday. Mamica and papica are well.

"I bought a new horse yesterday. She is a beauty; her name is Maudica. Your affectionate brother, Samica."

Honoring Dead White Elephants.

Curious ceremonies are witnessed in Siam when one of the sacred white elephants dies. It is given a funeral grander than that accorded to princes of royal blood. Buddhist priests officiate, and thousands of devout Siamese men and women follow the deceased animal to the grave. Jewels and offerings representing some thousands of pounds are buried with the elephant.

SSS KILL THE SERPENT

The worst disease the world has ever known, and the greatest scourge to the human race, is Contagious Blood Poison. One drop of the virus of this most horrible of all diseases will pollute and vitiate the purest, healthiest blood, and within a short time after the first little sore appears the system is filled with the awful poison and the skin breaks out in a red rash; the glands of the groins swell, the throat and mouth become ulcerated, the hair and eyebrows drop out, and often the entire surface of the body is covered with copper-colored spots and sickening sores and eruptions. Contagious Blood Poison is as treacherous and elusive as the serpent. You may be carrying it in your veins with no visible evidences of its existence; for while mercury and potash seem to cure and all external signs disappear, the disease is doing its destructive work within, or the patient is constantly harassed by returning symptoms and unmistakable traces of the blood poison. Thousands of physical wrecks and chronic invalids from the effects of Blood Poison know the uncertainty of the mercury and potash treatment—that it stifles but does not kill the serpent. As long as there is life in the serpent there is danger in its fangs; and while your blood is tainted there is danger of infection. Safety lies only in crushing out the life of the loathsome disease and killing the serpent. For many years S. S. S. has been known as an antidote for Blood Poison. It is a remedy composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, and we offer $1,000 for proof that it contains the least particle of mercury, potash or other mineral. It thoroughly purifies the blood, improves the appetite and digestion, and tones up all parts of the system. In chronic and long-standing cases of Blood Poison, S. S. S. acts promptly and without leaving any bad after-effects.
