How to Make an Excellent Self-Feeder for Ear Corn for the Fattening Lamb.

Make an X of two 2x4-inch pieces, five feet long, so that they cross each other two feet from lower ends and have the top ends four feet apart, outside to outside. Across the lower end of this frame bolt a 2x4 piece 2½ feet long so the top edge will be nine inches from the bottom of frame. This is to support the floor of feeder. Also in angles of sides of frame nail two pieces cut the proper shape to fit, so they will be one foot apart from outside to outside. This makes the throat of feeder that wide. Make two of these frames, one for each end. The middle should be supported by a bench. Use eight-inch boards for sides of trough. In boarding up the sides place the lower edge of bottom board eight inches from floor of trough, which gives room for corn to feed out. I inclose sketch of feeder.—John S. Core, in National Stockman.

STOCK AND DAIRY HINTS.

Impatience with an impatient or restless cow will render her worthless.

The Farmers' Tribune says that in feeding hogs "it is better to abandon the evening meal than to feed it too late."

Any surplus skim milk may be fed to growing colts or to the cows themselves. Let them run it through the machine and replace the cream you have taken out.

A little time each day spent in currying the calves and heifers will be well invested. It gives them comfort and keeps them on good terms with their attendants. This will be money when they come to be milkers.

The majority of farmers have grown corn with the sole idea that the grain was the only valuable part of the crop. Some have learned that the stover properly saved is a valuable feed. A few more drought years will enforce the lesson on more farmers.—National Rural.

Wheat as a Hog Food.

Results obtained at the Wisconsin experiment station show that there is practically no difference in the quantity of pork produced from the same weight of wheat or corn. In four trials an average of 499 pounds of ground wheat were required to produce 100 pounds of gain in live weight. In two trials with corn meal 498 pounds were required to produce 100 pounds of gain. When a mixture of equal parts of wheat and corn was fed, better results were obtained than when either wheat or corn was fed alone. It required 485 pounds of mixed wheat and corn, half and half, by weight, to produce 100 pounds of gain in live weight.

Celebrated Their Anniversary.

At their residence, three miles east of Corvallis, Mr and Mrs. G. A. Hurd, celebrated the 22th anniversary of their wedding on May 19. The evening was passed in social chat, games and music, after which an excellent supper was served by Mrs. Hurd. Those present were: Mrs. E. Caldwell, Jane Russell and Bessie Kate Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butler, Marcus Butler, Mrs. Mary Platt and Miss Hattie Platt, both of Chester, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurd came from Wisconsin four years ago and are expecting to make Oregon their home.

Famous Boer Officer to Lecture

Gen. Joubert was a cavalry leader in the Grange Free State, and rose from the ranks to general. He is a nephew of the late General Joubert of the Transvaal. Gen. Joubert will give a full description of the early history of South Africa, and the settling up of that country. He will also describe the tactics and incidents of the late great struggle for liberty, which will be illustrated with sixty excellent views. The lecture will be in two parts, which will be most interesting to every American who admires a brave man. There is no reason why there should not be a large crowd out to hear General Joubert. Saturday night, College Chapel at 8 o'clock. General admission 35 cents.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Surgis Dunder

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

WINE OF CARDUI

O. A. C. Notes.

Pres. Gatch went to Newport Friday and returned Monday.

Prof. E. R. Lake was in Port and on business from Saturday noon till Sunday.

Mrs. Sherman from Washington, is staying at Cuthorn Hall. She is here to attend the State Grange.

George W. Leavitt spoke to a large audience of college men Sunday afternoon at the College. He is a strong speaker and gave a talk well worth hearing.

The senior excursion to the Bay last Saturday was said by many to be the best excursion that ever went from Corvallis. Three hundred and forty students and townspeople left the Corvallis depot at 6:20 a. m. The train was crowded on the way over and standing room was at a premium when we left Corvallis, and several more were taken on at Philomath and other points along the way. We had to wait about half hour up in the mountains for the other train to pass us and while waiting the boys all played "little boy," for willow whistles and water dogs tied with a string were in demand. At last the train passed and we rolled on toward Newport. We reached Yaquina at 10:30, where everyone made a dash for the boat; all got safely on the barge and the little tug steamed away for Newport, where we arrived without accident at 11:30. A large number had brought lunch and they now repaired to shady places in sight of "old ocean" and ate dinner. When dinner was over a stroll to Nye Brook was in order. The wind was blowing a hurricane on the beach and many a hat gave the owner a long chase and some were lost in the ocean waves. The rhododendrons were in prime condition, there being open flowers and buds on nearly every bush. No one wanted for rhododendrons if they were willing to walk up the hill and pick them. During the afternoon about 40 or 50 young people went out over the bar in the tug "Roscoe." The girls stood the trip in all right but several of the boys were inclined to "feed the fish." They said, however, that it was a fine trip, all but "John Thomas" and "Baby" and they said they would not go again for $10. At 5:30 the boat left Newport and at 7:10 the train left Yaquina for home. We had an extra car on the way home and every one had a seat. The ride over the mountains in the twilight was grand and no one begrudged the time or spent. We arrived in Corvallis at 10 o'clock and everyone pronounced it a day of unalloyed pleasure.

The senior class were royally entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Withycombe Thursday afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served after which everyone retired to the lawn and indulged in some good old fashioned games till seven o'clock when they bid their hostess good evening and retired all more than pleased with the delightful time they had enjoyed.

The State Grange.

The annual meeting of the State Grange will be held in this city this week. The exercises opening at the College Chapel on this Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The program in the Chapel will be open to all, and the public are invited. Addresses of welcome will be by the Mayor on the part of the city, and by Mary Harris Whitby on the part of the Granges of Benton county. The responses by Mrs. Clara H. Waldo, of Macleay Grange, and Judge R. P. Boise, of Salem, who was formerly master of the State Grange. Music will be furnished by the college orchestra, Messrs Ruthyn Turney and Mordaunt Good-nough, and the vocal part by the Ladies Chorus Club.

The business meetings of the Grange will be held at Agricultural Hall, and business of much importance will come up for discussion and decision.

On Thursday evening the installation of officers will take place, to be followed by the Banquet called "Flora's Feast."

The meetings close on Friday.
