The statement in our last issue, taken from an exchange, that Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, parents of Mr. Eddy, who died recently in Chicago, lived near Corvallis is a mistake. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott moved to Montana many years ago, so says an old resident of the city. Mr. Abbott is still living but his wife died several years ago.

The Corvallis Steam Laundry will be ready to resume operations in their new location tomorrow by the very latest. Mr. Johnson has been hustling as no other man could hustle to make this transfer with as little delay as possible. He has had men at work in the old Salvation building for some time getting things ready to make the move. Things were so far along that he thought he could make the change without any great delay in the regular work, but the delay has been longer than he expected and his patrons have been very kind in not becoming impatient for their orders. The really necessary orders were sent to Albany and they can be had at the regular time. Mr. Johnson proposes to make his laundry the best in the valley. The building will be painted inside and out and all modern improvements will be installed.

William Mathews, editor of the Newport News, passed through Albany yesterday noon on his way to Salem, where he will soon attend to reducing the population of that city by one, at the same time adding one to the permanent residents of the little and beautiful city of Newport. The southern end of Howell Prairie has suffered a severe loss as a result of the defeat of Hon. B. L. Eddy for circuit judge. Clyde Rice, a brother of assessor-elect, Hon. Fred Rice, in a moment of high enthusiasm risked his handsome and highly prized mustache, that of a pale carmine hue, on the election of every man on the Republican ticket in this district. The result was disastrous. Clyde walked and rode about in a sorrowful and dejected manner for several days, but election bets are inexorable. He had to submit to the inevitable, and today his mouth stands exposed to a sudden sunstroke for the want of a shade. He will probably now return to a secluded haunt far from Pratum and await the coming of a new mustache.—Salem Statesman.

To Purchase Philomath College.

L. A. Baldwin, president of the College of Philomath, passed through this city yesterday on his way to Salem, to be present at the Liberal United Brethren Conference now in session at that place. A movement is being agitated between the two colleges at Philomath whereby one or the other shall sell out, as college work is hindered by the existence at that place of two colleges of opposite branches of the same church. Last year a similar movement was started but not being matured was dropped for a time. A committee, however, was empowered at the recent session of the Radical United Brethren Conference held in Philomath, to meet a similar committee from the Liberal Conference now in session at Salem, and come to some understanding on the matter.

It is understood that the Liberal Brethren have a splendid offer from Hood River and look with favor on the proposition to sell out and move the college to that place. Both colleges are first-class and have just closed the most prosperous year in their history.

Graduating Exercises of the North Benton County Public Schools.

An unusually large number of people attended the graduating exercises of the North Benton County Schools, held in the North Palestine church last Friday evening. Rev. Andrew Carrick delivered the class address. The salutatorian was Miss Rena Hector, of Richland, and the valedictorian was Miss Mabel Williamson, of Wells. The Richland orchestra furnished music for the occasion, which was highly appreciated by all. The following is a list of the graduates with subjects of addresses:

"Beautiful" Willamette, Maud Collins; "The Consolidation of the Common Schools," Herman Hector; "Fire," Alice Dodele; "Foot Ball," Clement Wilson; "Furnishing Beef to the Government," Ralph Collins. Geo. W. Denman gave a very interesting talk after which he presented the diplomas to the class. The ladies who were looking after the best interests of all present had prepared a bountiful supply of refreshments. There were over 200 present but there was plenty to spare. The spirit of mirth and good will prevailed and the occasion will be long remembered by those who were present at the first graduating exercises ever held in the north end of Benton county.

THE SECOND IOWA PICNIC

Enthusiastic Gathering of "Hawkeyes" in Avery's Grove.

The second annual picnic given by the association of the people of Iowa in Avery's grove Wednesday was well attended and proved to be a grand success. All who were born in Iowa or had lived in that state prior to coming to Oregon were admitted into membership. All whose sympathies or inclinations were in that direction were also invited to attend. Fully 400 people were present. Scores of baskets filled with eatables such as only an Iowa woman knows how to prepare, were emptied upon the long table in the grove and the people helped themselves. It was a time of rejoicing as many had not had in years. Many recollections of former days were rehearsed and old memories were made new again. The singing was especially fine. A chorus of 12 voices rendered several selections. Prof. Sheak led in prayer. Pearl Bazie gave a recitation, Rev. T. S. Handsaker delivered an able address, Hattie Potts recited "Ostler Joe," Georgie White also recited and Prof. Sheak delivered an able impromptu address. The "Hawkeyes" are a jolly set, as all who attended will testify.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. H. Colbert; vice president, G. S. Rice; secretary, Waldo Colbert; treasurer, J. W. Woods. Special praise is due J. O. Blackledge who has been the moving spirit in effecting the organization and Mr. J. E. Fowels his efficient secretary.
