Mardi Gras Carnival at Portland.

The great Mardi Gras Carnival to take place in Portland, Oregon, June 28th to July 9th, inclusive, promises to be the most stirring and magnificent celebration that has ever occurred in the Northwest—perhaps the most brilliant occurrence of its kind that has yet been planned and carried out on this Coast.

The enthusiasm of the various towns who have mentioned in their papers this wonderful Carnival has made it sure that there will be an immense attendance, and the stupendous preparations of the management will amply justify everyone taking a trip to Portland at this time.

To begin to enumerate the big features is almost confusing. Of course the fact that five of the Nation's big battleships have been ordered to Portland to stay during the Carnival, is one great attraction.

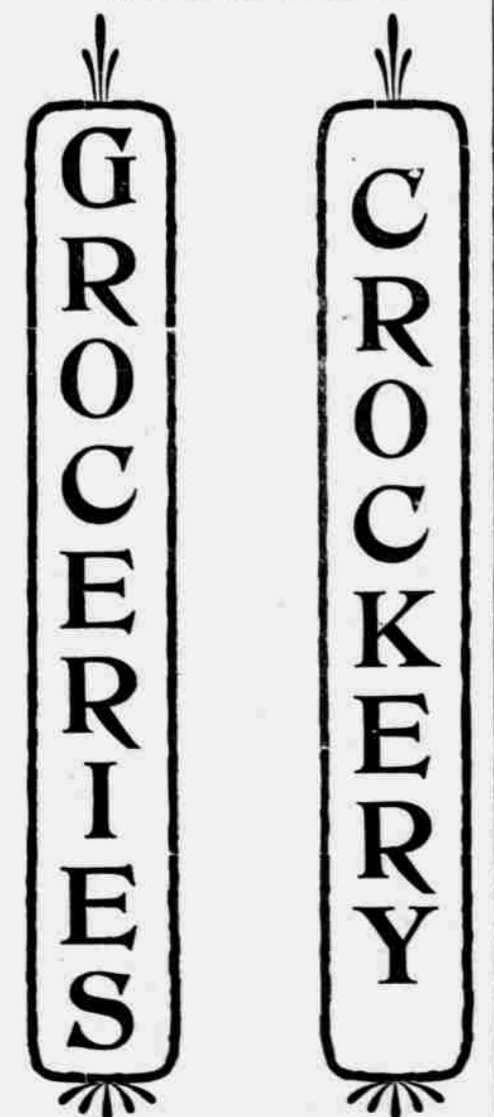

They will be open for visitors and dressed in gala dress. The Spectacular Parade on the opening day will be the grandest affair—beyond all imaginative eyes to describe—surpassing anything you can imagine or express in point of magnificence and spectacular display. The State Militia, Uncle Sam's boys from Vancouver Barracks under General Funston, all the Trade Organizations, over thirty floats, visiting organizations from far and near,—altogether making an attempt at brilliancy never heretofore dreamed of in Portland.

Again, the torchlight and fire works celebration and parade on the night of July 4th will be positively the most stunning thing you have ever heard of. It will pay anyone to come and see this Mardi Gras and Carnival.

The railroads have all made moderate rates from all points to Portland and return with stop over privileges for the Carnival, and no one should leave themselves out of this joyous event. They have promised celebrations before that were well worth seeing, but this will go far ahead of anything we have ever had before. The conditions are just right. The appropriate organizations have gotten together. This is the great year for the northwestern country, anyway, and altogether this Carnival has an unbounded support.

HURRAH FOR THE FOURTH.

Grand Celebration on July 2, 3 and 4—Some of the Events.

For the past five days four teams have been at work on Kiger's race track putting it in shape. Lafferty and Rube Kiger have given this work their personal attention and the track is now in first-class order. Several horses from Albany will be entered. Everything that time and energy and money can accomplish will be done to make the races a grand success.

One of the first features on Saturday, July 2, will be a grand parade of all horse flesh, open to all horses in the country, to take place at the race track, a mile south of town. The parade will precede the racing, and will take place at 2 p. m. Entry will be open to all horses, single or double, if driven, and to horses under the saddle. Among the prizes will be a $10 lap robe presented to the best appearing horse and buggy by J. M. Cameron, a $4 whip for the team and buggy, presented by J. M. Cameron, an elegant whip for the best single horse and buggy, presented by Ingle & Tozier, and a fine lap robe for the team and buggy, presented by Ingle & Tozier. A suitable prize will also be presented for the best appearing saddle horse, ridden either by a lady or gentleman.

A special coupon ticket to be worn conspicuously, has been prepared. Admission will be 25 cents. Tickets are now on sale at the drugstores.

Another feature will be the shooting carnival on Marys river flat July 2 and 4. The list of events and prizes is as follows:

Event No. 1—10 targets, unknown angles; entrance 75 cents; $5 cash, added money. Moneys divided, 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

Event No. 2—15 targets, unknown angles; entrance fee $1; $8 added money. Moneys divided 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

Event No. 3—20 targets, reverse pull; entrance $1; $10 cash, added money. Moneys divided 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent.

Following this event there will be a recess till 2:30 p. m. During the interim those who desire can indulge in sweepstake shooting, for which targets will be thrown at 2 cents each.

Event No. 4—15 targets, unknown angles; entrance 75 cents; $8 cash, added money. Moneys divided 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

Event No. 5—15 targets, unknown angles; entrance $1; $8 cash, added money. Moneys divided 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

Event No. 6—25 targets, unknown angles; entrance $1.50; $10 cash, added money. Money divided 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent.

First average prize—$10; 2nd average prize, $5. Only those shooting through the six events will be eligible for average prizes.

Three expert traps with electric pull will be used. Three cents will be deducted for targets thrown during program events.

Leading brands of shells will be for sale on the grounds. Purses will be divided according to Rose system.

GRAND PARADE ON 4TH.

What promises to be one of the grandest parades ever seen in Corvallis will occur at 10 a. m. on the morning of the 4th.

There will be many floats and industrial displays of the different business houses. Everyone is taking such an active interest in the matter that the committee feel assured of a success.

The committee request that all fraternal orders turn out with their floats and degree teams. All young and old soldiers of the late wars are requested to be in line.

CORVALLIS ICE WORKS.

A Thriving Industry—How Ice is Manufactured.

One of the foremost and most flourishing industries in our rapidly-growing city is that of the manufacture and sale of ice. Ice is shipped from Corvallis to all points westward on the C. & E. railway and many points eastward. It also ships to Dallas, Independence, Monmouth and as far north as North Yamhill, half way between here and Portland. The home trade of course is the heaviest of all; with the picnics, banquets, socials, ice cream stands, saloons, hotels, butcher shops and a score or more of other demands the plant is kept running night and day to supply orders. There is no time of the year, in fact when the plant is idle. At the present time, Mr. Ek, the genial, whole-souled proprietor, who enjoys the possession of one of the shortest of names, finds the limited capacity of his plant so straining under the burden of supplying the heavy trade that he may have to enlarge before the summer is over.

The story of how steam is converted into ice this hot weather is a very interesting one as well as reassuring to us who are users of ice, because when the story is told you will agree that there can be nothing purer than artificial ice.

The water is pumped from a well fifty feet deep, hermetically sealed and is clear and sparkling like the waters of a mountain stream. This water is boiled and converted into steam. The steam passes through a cooler or condenser and becomes water again—soft, velvety sterilized water. Physicians of this city purchase this water for medicinal purposes as none purer can be found. The process by which this purified water is drawn from the air-tight tank into the freezing tanks is a precautionary one, no microbe or germ or bug of any kind can get into the water in any possible way. The water tanks are surrounded by numberless iron pipes, through which ammonia gas is constantly being pumped. This gas readily absorbs the heat from the water and this extraction of heat is what really causes the water to freeze.

The gas which becomes heated is kept constantly circulating through a cooler or condenser reducing its temperature. It is constantly absorbing heat from the water and constantly losing it in the condenser. The ammonia gas will not liquify and freeze when the water freezes as it will stand a very much lower temperature. If one were to visit the ice works the hottest day in summer he would find the ammonia pipes coated with about an inch of snow. It requires a pressure of 150 pounds of ammonia gas to the square inch upon the inside of the pipes these hot days to cause the water to freeze solid. In winter the weather is cool and only 90 pounds is required. When the temperature of the water registers 32 degrees the freezing point, the ammonia will be just a little lower. The water tanks are partially submerged in a strong solution of brine to keep them from freezing to the pipes. Each tank contains about 100 pounds of ice. When it is removed from the freezing box warm water is poured over its galvanized covering and it slides out easily upon the washing board.

Mr. Ek has lived in Corvallis about three years and is one of those men you are always glad to meet and with whom it is always a pleasure to transact business.

Remember that with every 25 cents worth of laundry work done at the Steam Laundry you get a vote on the beautiful U S silk flag, in Nolan & Callahan's window.
