Patronize home industry—Corvallis Steam Laundry.
Passengers on the C. & E. Tuesday morning were Misses Una Stewart and Maud Roberts, who spent the day in Albany on business.
Guns and ammunition at J. K. Berry's.
Capt. Crawford left Tuesday morning for points north. He will stop off for a few days visit with his son, at Salem and afterward go on to Portland.
Special rates to hotels and families at Corvallis Steam Laundry.
E. M. Stimpson and family passed through this city Wednesday enroute from Aleska to Washington. They have been spending the summer peeling chittim and are now returning home.
New invoice of street hats and caps just received by Mrs. J. Mason.
R. H. Huston's display window is the center of attraction this week for among other things the Modern Woodmen have on exhibition is the beautiful silk flag won by the Corvallis Camp at Monroe in June for the best drilled team.
You can get the birds down with the ammunition that J. K. Berry handles.
Professor Taillandier, of the department of music of OAC, reports that he has so many music pupils that he has difficulty in finding time for them all. There is an unusually large number of students enrolled in this department this year.
Fresh home-made candies at Mrs. Hammersley's, opposite Mrs. J. Mason's.
There are eighteen weekly and semi-weekly Bible classes organized among the young men and women of the College this year. The Christian Associations are doing commendable work along this special line and is receiving the hearty endorsement of the faculty.
Fishing tackle, hunters' supplies and sporting goods at Hodes' Pioneer Gun Store.
A flying quadruped in the shape of a common bat got into the College chapel a few mornings ago and created quite a stir among the students. Someone suggests that because of the bat's familiarity with college ways it should be taken by OAC as a symbol of wisdom instead of the owl.
Fishing tackle, hunters' supplies and sporting goods at Hodes' Pioneer Gun Store.
Students in advanced art at OAC are rejoicing over the new studio, where they are free from noise and interruption and can work as long as they please. The room is on the second floor of the Horticultural building and is very well lighted. Holly and chrysanthemums seem to be the popular models at present and some of them are exceedingly beautiful.

An ordinance requiring owners of dilapidated street awnings to either repair or remove same is in process of incubation in the city council and will doubtless be passed at the next regular session.
Catarrh sufferers will be glad to learn that a specialist in this and other chronic diseases is now at the Hotel Corvallis. Consultation free.
Do not buy your Christmas presents till you see the fancy and useful articles the Baptist ladies will have for sale early in December.
After Dec. 31, the expense of putting sewers across streets will not be borne by the city, but will be charged to those benefitted thereby. This action was taken by the city council Monday night and is to hold good for a few years. This action became necessary in order to cut down city expenses.
Last Saturday four carloads of rock and two of granite sand passed through this city to Dallas having been brought from Josephine county, for the purpose of constructing a bridge on the Southern Pacific at the former place. The little motor on the I. & M. line pulled the load from Independence to Dallas and broke down in the attempt.
The big poultry show next month will give every farmer in the valley who has good poultry a chance to have the same scored by the best judge of poultry on the Pacific Coast. Write to the secretary, Robert Johnson, for an entry blank and send in your birds, if it is only a pair. Who knows but that you will win a blue ribbon?
The old building opposite the Chinese laundry on north Main street has been purchased by W. A. Hadden, a builder and contractor and is being converted into a store room with dwelling rooms above. He will spend $800 in repairs and improvements and when completed will be rented to desirable parties.
The sixteenth annual report of the Oregon Agricultural College and Experiment Station has just been completed and is ready for distribution. It is a pamphlet of forty-seven pages and consists of the reports submitted to the board of regents by the College officials and the transactions of that body during its last session in July.
Graham & Wells have on display in their magnificent show window this week a complete and up-to-date line of high grade stringed instruments. There are violins, mandolins, guitars, accordions, etc. A complete line of music will be kept on hand very soon and music lovers may secure whatever they desire.
Professor Cordley is working jointly with Prof. Shaw in the preparation of a suitable display of birds and insects for the Lewis and Clark Fair next year. The work of Prof. Shaw is recounted in another column. Prof. Cordley has secured 5000 or more specimens of all kinds of insects and when the display is completed these and as many more as he can secure will be properly classified and mounted and placed in suitable glass cases.

A Runaway Bicycle.
Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's just as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c, at Allen & Woodward Drug Store.

For the purpose of officiating at the Wicks-Wilson wedding ceremony Wednesday, Rev. Andrew Carrick was a visitor from Brownsville a few days this week. We acknowledge a pleasant call from him.
The Corvallis Poultry Association has just issued the premium list for its first annual show to come off in Corvallis, Dec. 8, 9, and 10. It is a handsome little pamphlet of 28 pages gotten out by the G-zett and may be had by all interested parties by addressing Robert Johnson, Corvallis.
The lathe work for the huge transfer truck being made by the Horning Bros. is being done in the College machine shop. The axles are each a solid piece of steel and the ends are turned to fit the wheels. The truck is being made for a Portland concern and will cost the company $500. It will weigh when completed seven thousand pounds.
There is a difference between local option and prohibition and that difference should be known by those who hold temperance views, yet do not desire to be constantly quipped as third party sympathizers. The difference is this and it is a very important one. Prohibition means the destruction of the traffic by preventing its manufacture. Local option means simply preventing or limiting the sale thereof.
Between two and three hundred National Grange delegates will arrive in Corvallis on a special train from Portland next Tuesday. They will remain here about two hours and will return by the way of Albany. A committee on entertainment of which Mrs. Ida Callahan will receive the distinguished visitors and give them a royal welcome. The company headed by Hon. B. G. Leedy, master of the State Grange, will be taken on a tour of inspection about the College grounds and will later be entertained at the Hotel Corvallis. Hon. J. K. Weatherford, president of the Board of Regents of OAC, has made arrangements for that body to meet in Portland and escort the visitors here.
The apple show on Tuesday, Nov. 22, at Judge Watters' office will give us a fine chance to let Eastern people see our fruit, as well as secure some fine specimens for the Lewis and Clark Fair. Everyone ought to be able to find a plate of three to six apples fit to show. The best plate of each variety wins a prize of fifty cents. The points are general beauty, soundness and size. The best plate of dried prunes, apples or pears wins an equal prize. The competition is open to all fruit in Benton county. Let us have the best show possible. Other counties are asking for extra space at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. No doubt the same will be given to us if we are prepared to fill it, and we can if proper efforts are made.
Three of our four saloon keepers filed their bonds with the city council Monday and asked for a renewal of their licenses. The fourth man has a license that does not expire until after the local option law goes into effect Jan. 1. The licenses will probably be granted but will be void after Jan. 1. Under the state law the city can issue no license for less than six months and it is required to refund such part of the license money as is not covered by the actual existence of the saloon or from the time the new law goes into effect until the expiration of the time for which the license was granted. The question arose as to whether or not the city possessed the right to grant a license beyond Jan. 1. It was decided by an attorney that the council could do nothing else than follow the present law as it had no right to forbid licenses to saloon men, but that beyond Jan. 1, the present local option law made the licenses void.
