Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and cures many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." For sale by Graham & Wortham.

A HEMP BEE BRUSH.

Discovered in California by an Eastern Man and Considered the Acme of Perfection.

While spending the past season in California with several large and experienced bee-keepers I was taught several valuable lessons. One was the making of a bee-brush that is, in my opinion, the acme of perfection. Take 20 inches of one-inch hemp rope; double together, and bind with stray threads of hemp or foundation-wire to the length of four inches, for a handle; then fray out the ends of your rope and soak it half an hour in water, and you have a brush that will neither disable a bee nor mar in the least theappings. When dirty, or daubed with honey, you can wash and wring dry, like any cloth. I have used both whisk and hemp brushes in the management of 500 colonies of bees, and I would not use any other but the homemade article. By the pressure of your thumb you can regulate the width of your brush so as to cover a Langstroth frame at one stroke. You can credit Mr. C. I. Graham, of California, with the above method, for he is the gentleman who taught me.—George Herrick, in Bee Gleanings.

AN IDEAL BEE BRUSH.

PRODUCTION OF EGGS.

Interesting Experiment to Compare the Value of Different Grains for the Purpose Named.

Some interesting results have been obtained by the technical instruction committee of the Cornwall common council, of England, in an experiment to compare the value of different grains for egg production. Thirty pullets were selected and divided into six pens of five birds each. The nature of the food given to each pen of five pullets and the number of eggs laid is shown in the statement below:

Food.	No. eggs laid in 12 months.
Half maize and half oats.....	723
Wheat.....	723
Maize.....	648
Two-thirds oats and one-third maize.....	632
Oats.....	545
Barley.....	447

The inferiority of oats as a whole ration or even when constituting the major part of it is very marked in these results. Wheat gave much the best results of any single food, while, with the chicken as with all other stock, a mixture of grains gives larger yields than any one single grain. We think very likely the failure to make a better showing on oats alone was due to the fact that the hull makes this such a bulky feed that the hens could not secure sufficient nutriment to make a large egg yield possible.

WITH THE BEEKEEPERS.

Strong colonies protect themselves against robbers and bee-moths. In rendering beeswax, use a tin, brass or copper vessel. An iron one will darken it.

In making candy to feed bees be careful not to burn it. Burnt candy will kill them.

In France, according to government figures, for the ten years ending with 1901, the average number of colonies was 1,608,412; honey per colony 10 pounds, 11 ounces; wax per colony three pounds.

Rainwater is the right thing to use in melting wax. Well water, especially that where yellow clay or red sand abounds in the soil, contains iron, and this browns the wax, no matter how carefully the melting be done.

Dr. C. C. Miller says in Gleanings that heretofore the largest yield he ever got from one colony was 192 sections, but last year he got 300 sections from one colony, with a number of other colonies yielding nearly as well. He credits these large yields to the selection of the best stores to breed from, and to the phenomenal flow of white clover, which the bees stored until nearly mid-October.

Feed and Color of Meat.

The appearance of the feed on the color and appearance of poultry meat is of sufficient importance to require careful attention. If the market demands a noticeably white meat and skin in its dressed poultry, the cheapest and surest way to attain this is to use much skim-milk in the diet. The grain ration should be mixed with it, and the drinking vessels constantly provided with a fresh supply. It will require extra good care to keep the fowls healthy on this diet, however. If a yellowish tinge is desired, it may be obtained by feeding a grain ration to which ten per cent. of animal meat has been added, and the whole mixed with water. A grain mixture wet with whey will also give good results.—Frisbie Farmer.

BLACK - DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCHELLE, GA., Jan. 30, 1902. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 20 per cent. better. S. P. BROOKINGTON.

CORRESPONDENTS' CORNER.

Monroe Notes.

Mrs. Howard is getting along nicely with the school here. It stands to show that too much hazel is not what Monroe has needed for some time, just the right kind of management.

Geo. W. Denman paid Monroe schools a visit Wednesday and made the primary pupils a very interesting speech.

Mrs. Zavodky, who was hurt by some falling boards, is slowly recovering.

Mr. Reese, of Belvidere, was in town one evening last week.

J. T. Carpenter and Will Graham succeeded in killing six coon the other evening.

Mr. Darnelle, who has been in the employ of A. Wilhelm & Sons for some time, has moved to the McElroy farm. J. C. McElroy will move to Eugene.

A number of young folks of Monroe and vicinity gave Ida, Jay and Jud Zierolf a surprise party Tuesday evening at the Bob Richardson place where the boys are farming. They were: Miss Myrtle Cartwright, Ella Porter, Elsie and Clara Darnelle, Fred Strycklin, Willie Schutte, Harry Cartwright, Jas. Carpenter, Isaac Zierolf, Ben Porter and Wiley Humphrey. Usual party games were played and a good time is reported by all.

School Report for No. 50.

Miss Edna B. Thomson, who teaches the Central district school near Bruce sends us her monthly report for October, which we herewith append. We shall be pleased if all the teachers in the county will send us reports from time to time indicating the progress of their schools, especially along the line of the Lewis and Clark school exhibit.

This school opened October 3, 1904, and report is for month ending the 28th of that month.

Number of pupils enrolled, 16; number in attendance, of which 8 are girls and 7 boys. Visitors in attendance, 1. Report cards were given out Monday, October 31.

The highest average, 95.1, was made by Nellie Taylor.

Those who were neither absent nor tardy were, Stella Mires, Cecil Winkle, Cora Dingee, Bertha Taylor, Walter Meek, Albert Sanborn and Lewis Rush. Patrons and friends are cordially invited to visit the school.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It is shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect pill. 25c. at Allen & Woodward's Drug Store.

LA GRIPPE

Pneumonia follows La Grippe but never follows the use of

FOLEY'S Honey and Tar

It stops the Cough and heals the lungs. Prevents Pneumonia and Consumption.

Mr. G. YACUM, of 187 Ogden St., Chicago, writes: "My wife had La Grippe and it left her with a very bad cough on her lungs which Foley's Honey and Tar cured completely."

Longing for One. "By the way, Miss Quickstep," said the young man, brightening up a little, "I am asked to take the part of the foolkiller in a charade. How ought I to dress for the part?" Suppressing a wild desire to tell him it would be suicide for him to act such a part, she merely replied, with a despairing glance at the clock: "I don't know, Mr. Longstayer. I don't believe there is any such person."—Chicago Tribune.

Punishment of a Thief. He is a prisoner—the thief; You'll say it serves him right, For, O! he went a-burglarizing And stole—'twas Tuesday night. So now he is confined in chains, A prisoner for life! He stole a kiss. The jailer?—well She's going to be his wife. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

REALISTIC GAME. "What are you doing in that cupboard, Cyril?" "Hush, auntie! I'm pretending to be a thief!"—Punch.

The Way. "Oh! Can we not be mated?" he cried. "Why yes," she answered deft; "We'll fix it this way: I'll be right, And you, sir, will be left."—Puck.

Self-Distrust. "What you lack," said the person who reads your character, "is self-confidence."

"I can't help it," said the young man. "You see, I was for a number of years employed in the work of preparing weather predictions."—Washington Star.

She Preferred It. He—It is better for us quietly to live apart, without the scandal of a divorce.

She—I don't agree with you. My social position is not so strong at present that I can afford to neglect any means to make it better.—Brooklyn Life.

The Colonel's Joke. "Silence," said the man who quotes, "is golden."

"Well," answered Col. Stilwell, "I don't know about silence being golden. But I must admit that I know of several people in the mountains who have made considerable money out of a still."—Washington Star.

No Place at Home. Mr. Flushing (hospitably)—So you have joined our club?

Mr. Elmhurst (wearily)—Yes; my wife has got the house so full of "cozy corners" there isn't any place where I can sit down and be comfortable.—Tit-Bits.

Keeping Him Busy. "You ought to be more economical," said young Mrs. Torkins' mother.

"Perhaps I ought," was the answer, "only, you know, I'm afraid it might be a temptation to idleness for Charley."—Washington Star.

Mutual Benefit. Young Wife—I am all run down. I think I'll hire a cook, and husband my strength.

Husband—Yes, do, dear, and strengthen your husband.—Smart Set.

As the Twig Is Bent. Bacon—That fellow's mother says that when he was a baby he was always putting his toe in his mouth. Egbert—Yes; and he's been putting his foot in it ever since.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Patience of Angels. Senator's Daughter—I've prayed and prayed, papa, but things only seem to grow worse with me! Senator Copperas—Have patience, my child—just look at the chaplain of the house and senate!—Puck.

It All Depends. "How's business?" asked the stranger who had drifted in. The shopkeeper eyed him suspiciously for a moment before replying. "Do you want to buy or sell?" he inquired at last.—Chicago Post.

Struck a New Note. Tommy—Uncle Henry's got the rheumatism in a new spot this morning. Dicky—How do you know? Tommy—His swearin' is different from what it generally is.—Chicago Tribune.

And Put Him in the Shade. Hewitt—What became of the girl that you used to say was the light of your life?

Jewett—Another fellow came between me and the light.—Judge.

Exactly. Customer—How much are eggs? Dealer—Twenty-one cents. "What do you charge 21 cents for?" "For eggs."—Harlem Life.

How It Looked. Edith—She says her face is her fortune.

Ethel—How unfortunate!—Puck.
