SHIPPING LIVE STOCK.

Mistakes for Which the Feeders of the Country Pay a Vast Amount Every Year.

A large majority of feeders make a mistake in holding fat cattle that are ready for market; for instance, a man is feeding 100 to 150 head of steers, and there are, say, one-half or two-thirds of the cattle that are fat and could be shipped at any time. Very few men will ship them out, for the simple reason that their cattle are not ready, and they hold on to the good ones until the entire bunch is ready. We are continually advising our customers to ship out all the fat cattle as fast as ready. By doing so they divide their risk. The cattle that are left have a better chance to improve, and there is more profit to be made in this way on account of the small margin there is in keeping matured steers, as this class of cattle make little gain compared with half-fat steers.

Another mistake that is made is in shipping cattle off grass. We have had a number of instances where our customers have shipped cattle that were fed on the grass without putting them in a dry lot for a day or two before shipment and feeding nothing but corn, oats and hay, and, by not doing so, the cattle on their arrival look grassy, their hair looks shiny, they shrink almost double what they would if handled in the proper way, and they don't sell within ten to fifteen cents per hundred (and in some cases more) of cattle that are put in a dry lot and fed nothing but corn, oats and hay before shipment. Overloading is a very bad feature, but we might add that we are not troubled as much in this respect as we were before the charge of freight by cents per 100 pounds became established. A little advice on this subject is still quite necessary, as we have customers frequently who overload their cattle, and, as a result, make an extra shrinkage; they do not look as well at market, which, as you are aware, affects the sale fully ten cents per hundred pounds; this means a direct loss to the shipper of ten cents per hundred and the extra shrinkage, which is quite a large item, that could be saved with proper management.—Midland Farmer.

ADDING A GRAIN ROOM.

It Can Be Done at Small Expense, and Would Save Many Steps and Much Time.

On many farms not a little grain is fed to the stock. Where no room is set apart in the stable for a grain, or feed, room a good deal of inconvenience, and much extra work, is experienced. In most barns it is not convenient to provide a feed room from the present accommodations. In such a case a small room can well be added to the stable in the manner shown in the cut, making the addition where it can be conveniently reached from the interior. The door is seen to be placed high up in this addition, and opening upon a small platform. A load of grain can thus be backed up to the door and very easily unloaded, no lifting being required. Such an added room can be of small cost, and would save many steps and much valuable time in daily bringing feed from a distant building.—Orange Judd Farmer.

GRAIN ROOM ADDITION.

Willing to Humor Her. Doctor—You say you always burn this lamp in your room all night? Woman—Always. I can't sleep without a lamp.

Doctor—My dear madam, I can give you a few simple chemicals which you can easily mix before retiring. They will give off just as much blood-poisoning and sleep-inducing gas as a lamp, and won't be half so much trouble.—N. Y. Weekly.

WINTER EXCURSION RATES TO YAQUINA BAY.

A New Departure on the Southern Pacific and the Corvallis & Eastern Railroads.

Recognizing a long felt want, and desiring to give the public cheap rates to the coast in the winter as well as the summer, for persons who desire to see the bounding billows in their wildest moods and imbibe the pure ozone of the winter air at the coast, the Southern Pacific Company in connection with the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad have placed on sale, taking effect Nov. 2, 1904, and continuing until March 31, 1905, from all points on their lines, round trip tickets to Yaquina at the same rate as during the summer. These tickets will be sold on Wednesdays and Saturdays only and will be good for return sixty days from date of sale.

Dr. Minthorn's sanitary baths will be in operation and anyone who desires a genuine health resort during the winter cannot do better than spend a month or so at Yaquina.

Similar tickets will be sold from Albany, Corvallis, Philomath and all points west on the Corvallis & Eastern R. R.

Full information as to rates, baggage, etc., can be obtained by applying to the nearest S. P. agent or direct from W. E. Coman, G. P. A., S. P. Portland, or Edwin Stone, manager, C. & E. R. R. Co., Albany.

P. S.—Through tickets to Portland are sold by the C. & E. at Corvallis and by the S. P., Portland to Corvallis via Albany and the C. & E. at the same rates via the west side, viz: $2.60. C. & E. trains connect at Albany with the Albany-Portland local both ways.

For His Wife's Benefit.
"She says she's going to marry me when we grow up," said the boy, proudly, referring to a little playmate.
"Pay no attention to her threats, my son," returned his father, with a covert glance in his wife's direction.—Chicago Post.

A Test Desirable.
The Fiance—George and I never had a quarrel.
Her Friend—Oh, I think you ought to have one before you are married. Otherwise you can't be quite sure whether you are going to have your own way or not.—Judge.

Possibly She Did.
"How do you like my new waist?" she coyly asked.
"Very pretty, indeed," he answered; "but I see a wrinkle in it that I will press out if you will let me."—Somerville Journal.

Two Points of View.
Poeticus—There isn't much atmosphere, music or poetry in business, is there?
Practicus—Naw. An' there ain't much business in music, poetry and atmosphere.—N. Y. Times.

He Forgot Himself.
Mr. Crimsonbeak—That man is the worst hen-pecked husband in the country!
Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Don't speak that way of your neighbors; you're forgetting yourself.—Yonkers Statesman.

Two Kinds of Enjoyment.
Father—What is the use of my earning money, if you spend it as fast as I make it?
Son—That's all right, father. I enjoy spending it just as much as you do making it.—Brooklyn Life.

Had Her Suspicions.
Mrs. Church—They say your husband squeezes his employees.
Mrs. Gotham—Well, do you know, I've had my suspicions of those two blond typewriters of his!—Yonkers Statesman.

Honors Easy.
"This dollar," began the cashier of the restaurant, as he scrutinized the coin.
"Is bad, eh?" interrupted the sour-looking patron.
"Well, it doesn't look very good."
"That so? Just bite it, and if it's anything like the dinner I had it'll taste even worse than it looks."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Friendly Criticism.
Clara—Mr. Simpson paid you a great compliment last night.
Maude—Indeed! What did he say?
Clara—He said you seemed to be growing more beautiful every day.
Maude—That was nice.
Clara—Yes; and I reminded him of the old adage about practice making perfect.—Chicago Daily News.

Of Course They Is.
Editor—What do you mean by saying "lots of people think?"
Reporter—Why not?
Editor—Don't you know that a plural-substantive cannot take a singular verb?
Reporter—Oh! but you must admit that lots of people are singular.—Philadelphia News.

Splendidly Located.
"I will bring some verses to you to-morrow," said the would-be writer to the editor he met out one evening; "is your office conveniently situated?"
"Oh, yes," replied the scribe, pleasantly, "the hospital is just across the way from my office."—Yonkers Statesman.

A Natural Mistake.
"I'm afraid that Bliggins' new baby has turned his head. He does nothing but talk baby talk all day."
"That's all right. It isn't baby talk. Bliggins is composing the words for a popular song."—Washington Star.

Sure Test.
Miles Standish was figuring out how he stood with Priscilla.
"I guess I'm ace high," he reflected, "because I notice that she doesn't take me around and introduce me to the other girls."—Cleveland Leader.

Practical Definition.
"What is your idea of a strong-minded woman?" she was asked.
"One who can pass three days in another city and return home without purchasing a souvenir spoon," he replied.—Chicago Daily News.

All the Same.
"Boys will be boys," quoted the apologist for the youngsters.
"Boys will be nuisances, you mean," retorted the man whose garden had been trampled.
