FARM-GARDEN

THE DERRICK STACKER.

A Western Device Which Gives General Satisfaction in Hoisting Hay and Grain.

The derrick stacker is in use in many sections of the west, and gives general satisfaction in hoisting hay, straw and grain. It is made stationary, and can be used in making a round stack, with the pole in the middle, or for lifting hay or grain to a platform, from which it may be put in the barn. This simple device is also handy for stacking on sheds, saving all the heavy pitching from the wagon. Some farmers have the derricks set against the barn, and use them for hoisting machinery to the top floor in winter and letting it down in the spring. The derrick will be found handy for filling and emptying silos and cellars, and will save time and money on any farm if properly handled.

The stacker consists of one long post or pole set solidly in the ground and extending 30 to 40 feet in the air, a short arm of ten or twelve feet, and the necessary ropes and pulleys. The arm is fastened at the height desired by bolting onto an iron band, sometimes made from an old wagon-tire inserted in a groove or collar cut around the post. A strong wire, rope or chain is then fastened to the outer end of the arm, or derrick, and on a band made to circle round near the top of the pole. Three pulleys are sufficient to hoist the load, and a small rope in the hands of the man on the stack or ground enables him to pull the hoisted load wherever desired.

As no one has disturbed the farmers using the derrick, it is supposed the stacker is not patented, hence no royalties will be demanded of anyone who wishes to make one.—Joel Shomaker, in Farm and Fireside.

CLEANING UP THINGS.

No Time of the Year Is Better Suited for This Kind of Work Than the Present.

During the next two months is one of the best seasons for cleaning up the farm, and in the majority of farms there is plenty of opportunity or need for this kind of work. After the plowing for wheat is done the manure can all be cleaned out of the stables, sheds and feed lots and hauled out and scattered broadcast on the land intended for wheat. The work of properly preparing the land for the reception of the seed will incorporate sufficiently with the soil. Weeds may be cut down in the meadows and pastures and along the fence rows to a good advantage. Many of them, if cut down before they mature seeds, will be effectually killed out.

This is one of the best reasons for killing out sprouts and briars. With the exception of sassafras and persimmon almost all kinds may be effectually killed out by cutting down reasonably close to the ground almost any time in August. With these two in nearly all cases the only safe plan is to grub out, cutting them off at least six inches below the surface. While this plan requires considerable work, in the end it will prove much the more economical. This is so much the case that generally it will be better to thoroughly clean an acre in this way than to spend the same amount of time and labor cutting off and burning a larger acreage, but doing less effective work.

Cutting close to the ground and letting lay until dry and then burning will kill out many weeds, moss and sprouts, but with persimmon and sassafras the tops will rarely be killed down so deep but that the roots will send up shoots next year, and in a short time they will be as much in the way as ever.

By keeping the farm clear the value is materially increased to say nothing of the better satisfaction in working it.—N. J. Shepherd, in Farmers' Voice.

Open Ditches Breed Weeds.

Open ditches are usually weed nurseries, because not one farmer in ten ever finds time to go along them and keep the weeds down to prevent them from seeding. An open ditch also occupies much more ground than the width of the cut. There must be a turn row on both sides or else the crop to the width of such a row is tramped down and ruined. For these reasons it pays to put in tile drains instead of open ditches. A tile drain lasts forever; an open ditch needs cleaning out every year.

HEALTH

"I don't think we could keep house without Theford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor in the house for this length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jacksonville, Ill.

Because this great medicine relieves stomach pains, frees the constipated bowels and invigorates the torpid liver and weakens kidneys.

No Doctor

is necessary in the home where Theford's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor. Theford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, diarrhoea, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys so nearly control the health.

WINTER EXCURSION RATES TO YACUINA BAY.

A New Departure on the Southern Pacific and the Corvallis & Eastern Railroads.

Recognizing a long felt want, and desiring to give the public cheap rates to the coast in the winter as well as the summer, for persons who desire to see the bounding billows in their wildest moods and imbibe the pure ozone of the winter air at the coast, the Southern Pacific Company in connection with the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad have placed on sale, taking effect Nov. 2, 1904, and continuing until March 31, 1905, from all points on their lines, round-trip tickets to Yacuinia at the same rates as during the summer. These tickets will be sold on Wednesdays and Saturdays only and will be good for round-trip sixty days from date of sale.

Dr. Minthorn's sanitary baths will be in operation and anyone who desires a genuine health resort during the winter cannot do better than spend a month or so at Yacuinia.

Similar tickets will be sold from Albany, Corvallis, Philomath and all points west on the Corvallis & Eastern R. R.

Full information as to rates, baggage, etc., can be obtained by applying to the nearest S. P. agent or direct from W. E. Connor, G. P. A., S. P. Portland, or Edwin Stone, manager, C. & E. R. R. Co., Albany.

P. S.—Through tickets to Portland are sold by the C. & E. at Corvallis and by the S. P. Portland to Corvallis via Albany and the C. & E. at the same rates via the west side, viz: $2.60. C. & E. trains connect at Albany with the Albany-Portland local both ways.

SEVEN DOZEN TO SELECT FROM

C. A. Gerhard.

Of Interest to Mothers.

Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no opiates and is safe and sure. Mrs. George H. Pickett, San Francisco, Calif., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved her at once after other remedies had failed. We are never a minute without it in the house." Sold by Graham & Wortham.

Too Liberal.
Wife—Here is an advertisement in the paper that you'd better look into. It says a man is wanted, and he won't be worked to death, and he'll get paid enough to live on.
Husband—Says he won't be worked to death, eh?
"Yes; and they promise pay enough to live on."
"Huh! Some catch about that!"—N. Y. Weekly.

The Weary Guest.
"You are the hardest man to wake I ever met," said the kind-hearted citizen who had allowed the tramp to sleep in his kitchen. "Here I've been poking you in the ribs for an hour."
"Never paid no attention to it," admitted the lodger. "Yer see, I am used to sleepin' in a cattle car, an' I thought yer hand was a cow's horn."
—Chicago Daily News.

Why Not?
Mr. Crimmonbeak—When a man applies for a license to run a boat he has to prove that he can manage her, doesn't he?
Mrs. Crimmonbeak—Certainly.
"Well, why the mischief doesn't he have to do the same thing when he applies for a license to marry a woman?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Objectable in Either Case.
"Why did she break the engagement?"
"He told her that she was the only girl he had ever kissed."
"What of it?"
"Why, she naturally reasoned that he was either untruthful or absurdly foolish, and he was hardly worth having in either case."—Chicago Post.

The Outlook.
"Will you still love me, Clara, if, after we are married, you discover me to be full of faults?"
"Of course, Clarence, I'm terribly proud; and I never could bring myself to admit—even to you—that I had made the mistake of my life."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Little Tommy Knew.
Minister—If anyone present can show cause why this couple should not become joined together as man and wife, let him speak or forever hold his peace.

Little Tommy—I kin, mister. He thinks auntie's only 25, and she's 40!—Tit-Bits.

He Was Handicapped.
"He never amounted to much, did he?"
"No; but then the poor fellow never had half a chance."
"How was that?"
"He was considered a prodigy when he was young, and was treated accordingly."—Chicago Post.

A Real Benefactor.
"My dear doctor, I cannot thank you enough for performing that operation on my uncle."
"I did the best I could."
"I know, I know. By his death two whole families are now living in comparative ease."—Judge.

Couldn't Make Comparison.
Parsen Jackson—In de mattah ob watahmelon, I s'pose yo' b'liebe stolen fruits am always sweetest.
Sam Johnson—I dunno. I ain't nebah eat any but de one kind.—Philadelphia Press.

No Increase.
Winks—The Daily Boomer claims to have doubled its circulation this year.
Jinks—Don't believe it. The Boomer hasn't been a bit wickeder this year than it was last.—N. Y. Weekly.

Promises, But No Fulfillment.
He promised he'd return the lock of hair she'd given him in those sweet days before her love cooled.
"Twas but a promise ending there."
Like that of any other hair-restorer.—Catholic Standard and Times.

THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS.

"Do you believe that seeing is believing?"
"Yes; don't you?"
"Well, I see some people every day that I never could believe."—Catholic Standard.

Possibly.
Some morn we may wake from our slumber
And find, in this wonderful age,
That the automobile's a back number
And that flying machine's are the rage.
—Washington Star.

Reason for It.
"But the gown doesn't fit," insisted the patron.
"That," replied the modiste, calmly, "is because you are not made right."—Chicago Post.

The Exception.
Cora—Love is blind, you know.
Merritt—But, unlike other blind things in this world, it soon recovers its sight.—Puck.

An Expedient.
"Didn't you have trouble in getting so many antiques?"
"Dear me, no—I had them made to order."—Detroit Free Press.
