HOT WATER FOR LICE.

An Insect Destroyer Which Does Its Work Thoroughly and Can Be Had for Nothing.

The Messenger very sensibly says that boiling hot water is a lice killer about which we read very little in the poultry papers; but it does the work very thoroughly, and is very cheap. In a poultry house where the pests have obtained a foothold hot water will greatly assist in their extermination. The waste water on wash day can be used for this purpose, being returned to the stove after it has served its end at the washtub and reheated. If the walls, roosts and nesting boxes are drenched with this the larger proportion of the lice will be destroyed instantly, and those which escape will meet their fate in the coat of white-wash which should follow within a day or two. If the nursery coops are turned upside down and hot water sprinkled over the inner surface until it flows into and through every crevice, not a single louse will survive the treatment. This should be done in the forenoon of a bright day in order that all dampness may be dissipated before the brood returns to it at night. We have nothing laid up against the lice killer makers, and have no desire to injure their business, but everybody cannot buy these things; and while they are a convenience, it is just as well to admit the fact that they are not a necessity. The lice can be conquered more cheaply, but to do this involves the expenditure of more time and labor.

DOUGLASS MIXTURE.

Although Recommended as a Tonic for Fowls, It is Really a Very Strong Poison.

Dougllass mixture is composed of one ounce of copperas, one ounce of sulphuric acid and half a gallon of water. It is recommended as a tonic for fowls, but is really a poison, and while its use once a week may do no harm, the practice of using it as a regular tonic will result in the destruction of the flock. The free sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol) attacks all organic substances, and the fowl is no exception. In experiments made, in which a teaspoonful of the mixture was added to a gallon of drinking water, the fowls were apparently improved in appetite for a few days, but gradually declined and finally became weak and debilitated. Examination of the fowls that were killed showed the liver to be very large and soft, while small tumors were noticed. The intestines contained red sores, as though the lining membranes had been rubbed off. The throats were affected with small tumors, and every portion of the bodies seemed affected in some way. If a bird is healthy it needs no such tonic, and so far as Dougllass mixture is concerned it should be avoided.—Farm and Fireside.

HANDY DUCK HOUSE.

How to Build Quarters Which Are Inexpensive, But Answer Every Purpose.

Ducks are easily the most profitable of all poultry, if the flesh product simply is considered, while as layers of eggs the Pekin duck is exceedingly profitable. There can be no doubt that it would be wise for more farmers to keep a flock of breeding and laying ducks, and for this purpose there is no better breed than the large white Pekin.

As ducks roost on the floor, only low quarters are needed. A low shed-roofed affair can be put onto the side of the barn or other farm building in the manner shown in the cut, three feet of height being sufficient. Let the pen open into the large building, the partition between being hinged at the top, so that by raising it one can clean out the pen and put in dry bedding. One can thus build duck quarters very inexpensively.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Many Varieties of Pigeons.
The following varieties of pigeons appear in the last premium list of the Boston pigeon show: Carriers, pouters, pigmy pouters, barbs, tumbler, short-face tumblers, inside tumblers, long-face clean-leg tumblers, long-face bald or beard tumblers, saddle tumblers, muffed beard tumblers, muffed barred tumblers, jacobines, owls, African owls, Chinese owls, trumpeters, fantails, oriental, frills, blondinettes, satinettes, bluettes, silverettes, turbitines, turbits, magpies, swallows, fairy swallows, dragons, nuns, archangels, tipplers and homers. Each of these varieties is divided into several classes, chiefly on the score of coloring.

Guinea Fowls on Farms.
Every farmer ought to have a few guinea fowls to add to the variety of feathered life on the farm. They are also a good protection against such depredators as hawks and other enemies of young chickens, their loud cries on the approach of any such intruders giving signal to the weaker fowl to make its escape. Guinea are a rather wild fowl and will not bear confinement well. It is not best to keep them unless there is good range. The hens are great layers, but will mostly steal their nests, and will bring off very large broods. The young guinea fowl are very hardy, and not so subject to disease as are other fowl.

MRS. CECELIA STOWE, Orator, Entre Nous Club.

178 Warren Avenue, CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902. For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Cecelia Stowe
Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

A Grim Tragedy

is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves.
