BEE AS A FARM ASSOCIATION

Busy Little Insect?—Agriculturist in the Pollen. His Orchards and Meadows.

The bumblebee is one of the most valuable little farm ants known to the agriculturist. He is necessary to the production of blossoms in the orchards and meadows. He destroys the fruit and seldom attacks the bee or apple until it is too ripe for use. His mission on earth is that of peace and prosperity. In Germany his life is protected by legislative enactment. Here he is chased by the farm boys and killed on sight. His services as a farm and orchard assistant are not appreciated.

Red clover blossoms do not form seed until the pollen is thoroughly mixed. For this reason, it is argued in many sections of the country, the first crop of clover is failure as a seed producer. The bumblebee does not come from his winter resting place in time to work on the clover blossoms, and hence the pollen is not handled; it should be to form seeds. In the early days of agriculture this was merely a theory. Now it is published as a fact and not denied by anyone at all familiar with plan life.

Some interesting experiments have been conducted at agricultural colleges to demonstrate the value of the bumblebee in growing red clover seed. Last year at the Iowa station patches of clover heads were covered with mosquito netting and similar sized areas left uncovered. The experimental plots were six feet square. Covered patches for the first crop gave no seed, while those uncovered returned ten per cent. of an ordinary crop. For the second crop the covered plants seeding were only two, while those uncovered numbered 612 that produced seed.

Plants near the nests of bumblebees always produced the best crops of seed. In a space of six square feet over 2,000 heads of red clover formed excellent seed. The bumblebees had built nests in the clusters of clover roots. Those who are inclined to kill every bee that comes about should study the nature of bees and plant life. The bees are perfectly harmless. They never try to wage warfare on any person except in defense of their homes or lives. Let them alone and they will make the farmer and the orchardist rich and thereby help in building up the country.

OUR MAIL SERVICE.

Over One-Fourth of World's Entire First and Second Class Matter Goes Through United States.

The aggregate annual letter and newspaper mail of the world amounts to 32,500,000,000 pieces, of which 8,500,000,000 go through the United States mails, says a writer in Success. We have 75,000 post offices and 500,000 miles of postal routes, with a yearly travel over them amounting to 500,000,000 miles. The service costs over $150,000,000 a year. The receipts are now almost equal to the expenditures, and have doubled in the last ten years. In 1860 the total receipts were $8,000,000, which was considered an extraordinary sum. But for $22,000,000 spent in establishing the rural free delivery, which now serves one-seventh of the population of the United States, the post office would be self-sustaining.

New Attack on the Sun.

With the aid of $10,000 granted by the Carnegie institution the Yerkes observatory has sent an expedition to Mount Wilson, near Pasadena, California, for special investigations of the sun, under the personal direction of Prof. George E. Hale. A horizontal reflecting telescope of 145 feet focal length is to be employed to produce an image of the sun 16 inches in diameter, which will be investigated with a spectroheliograph of 30 feet focal length. The spectroheliograph is an instrument with which it is possible to study the solar surface in light of certain selected wave-lengths, the other light being shut out. Thus a photograph of the sun taken with the light emanating only from the calcium vapor in the photosphere presents a very different aspect from that taken with the light of the hydrogen vapor.—Youth's Companion.

An Invitation.

The W. R. C. extends an invitation to all to assist in the decoration of the graves of the soldier dead.

Every year we need more flowers To place above our soldiers' heads; Every year our ranks are smaller That march to glorify our dead.

They are marching, swiftly marching, Soon they'll reach the other shore; Soon our boys will be with Jesus, Then their suffering will be o'er.

When the bugle call is sounded, Bring your flowers for their graves, For we know they did their duty, When our glorious flag was saved.

EFFIE CALE.

Private Car and Rebates.

Calculations as to the effect of car mileage on beef prices to the consumer are all bosh, says Charles E. Russell in his detailed consideration of Garfield's report on the Beef Trust, in Everybody's June installment of "The Greatest Trust in the World." Whether the profit on car mileage is four cents a hundred pounds or four mills a million tons is not worth a moments thought. The real point, over which this report skates with airy ease, is that the privately owned car in the dressed-beef trade is merely a disguise for illegal railroad rebates, that it was designed for that purpose and none other, that it is and was merely a way to cover lawbreaking, and that the breaking of the law at which it connived enabled the Trust to be formed, competitors to be crushed, and the people to be robbed. The private refrigerator car meant $15 rebate on every carload of beef shipped from Chicago to New York. The houses in the combination got that rebate; their competitors did not get it, and that ended the competitors. If we are to have government reports we might as well have them tell the truth.

APPAREL BARS MAIL WOMEN

Des Moines, Iowa, Postmaster Finds That Carriers Must Work in Male Clothing.

The postmaster of Des Moines, Ia., finds himself in a somewhat peculiar position. With a view to economy he decided to invite women to apply for positions as postmen. A number of women applied, and, having been put through an examination, which they passed satisfactorily, the documents were then sent to the postmaster general for ratification, and that exalted functionary, seeing that the names were presented with the initial only for the Christian name, failed to detect that the subordinate had introduced a change. The women, therefore, being appointed started work in due course, and it was only when the uniform department came to deal with the new entrants that trouble arose. The uniform of all letter-carriers is settled by law. It consists of three garments, which need not be specified otherwise than to say that the postmaster of Des Moines found they were unsuitable for his new employees.

The postmaster general is considering it, but it looks as if the women would not be retained. The suits of uniform are lying in the post office of Des Moines, and the women are delivering letters clad in their ordinary raiment.

CREDIT AT PAWNBROKERS'.

Favorite Patrons Can Obtain Almost Any Amount They Desire on Jewelry or Personal Property.

The men that can and do establish a line of credit with pawnbrokers is a proposition beyond belief to the man who has been offered only $20 on a watch that cost $75. The fact remains, however, says the Philadelphia Record, that all pawnbrokers have favored patrons on their books who can always get the amount of money they want upon almost any old thing that takes the shape of jewelry or other "hockable" personal property. A local sport tried to raise $50 on his split-second stop watch the other day, and was offered $30 less than the value of the case melted. A friend who had an established credit took the same watch to the same pawnbroker and got $75 on it without a question being asked. It was the man, not the watch, that made the loan possible.
