How Will it End?

In local athletic circles there is much discussion pro and con about our chances of victory when O A C goes up against U of O on the field of the former tomorrow afternoon.

At the time of going to press yesterday afternoon the matter of whether or not Frissell would be allowed to enter the contests as a member of Eugene's team had not, so far as we could learn, been decided. Should he be admitted it will be so close that any mishap to a man of our team will cost us the victory. With Frissell out of it our chances are good to win, by a small margin, at least.

That the man under discussion is not eligible there is no doubt. Then why admit him? Under any condition, Frissell or no Frissell, a great contest will be pulled off tomorrow and with so much hanging in the balance a lover of sport need not hang back for fear that he will not get his money's worth.

DANCING GIRLS AMUSE KING

Monarch of Siam When Weary of Affairs of State Watches Supple, Lissome Maidens.

One of the privileges of the king of Siam which none of his subjects may share is to keep in his employ a corps of dancing girls who trip the light fantastic toe before his majesty when he is weary of the affairs of state and would be amused. These girls, relates a London paper, must not only be able to dance many intricate steps with grace and sprightliness, but must also be able to sing songs to accompany the dances. Candidates for admission to the royal corps of dancers begin their education when they are five years old, being at that early age put in charge of dancing masters and singing teachers, who keep them steadily at work for years, until they become the most supple and lissome little singing creatures imaginable.

In the school where they are trained there is a gymnasium, where they pass much time in various exercises calculated to make their limbs and bodies flexible and strong. One of the exercises consists of bending over and picking up a straw from the floor with the eyelids. Not all the girls can do this, it being a task possible only to the youngest and most supple among them. Beginning training at the age of five, when a girl is fifteen she is thought fit to dance before the king and joins the older dancers. A girl of 15 in Siam is like a girl of 17 in this country in development. After joining the regular dancing corps the girl must still continue her gymnasium practice, so that she will preserve her suppleness and, more than all, so that she will not get stout. A fat dancing girl is a horror upon which the king would not look, so the girls have to be careful and not eat too much, as well as persevere in their athletic exercises. The favorite dance of the king is the "cup dance," which is danced by the little girls undergoing instruction.

In a great hall, splendid with carving and rich with gilding, a class of little girls from the dancing-school will take station on the marble floor with the king and his court seated around. The girls are gayly dressed in embroidered muslins of various colors—pink, blue, white and yellow—and wear many ornaments of gold and silver, or else are covered with flowers of a tropic sort. The music strikes up, a slow measure at first, and each girl places a cup of jade, malachite, amber or some precious material filled with water upon her head. Then the music quickens, and, moving to its rhythm, the girls begin to dance, all the time bearing the full cups of water on their heads and not spilling a drop. At one part of the dance the children all kneel down facing the king and, folding their hands, bow until their foreheads touch the marble floor, keeping the cups upright meantime by sending them back upon their heads with a series of little jerks of the neck skillfully executed. As they raise their heads they wriggle the cups back again in the same manner, and then, springing to their feet, continue the dance.

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE.

MONROE.

D. T. St. Clair returned home from Oregon City last Tuesday.

John Lemon is giving his house a new coat of paint.

Charles Baird and H. H. Howard have taken a contract for cutting 200 cords of wood.

Nerhah's Magic show will be here Friday and Saturday nights.

Mr. Humphrey's family, of Springfield, are visiting at the home of Mr. Cartwright.

Some Monroites will go to the Junction picnic Saturday

George Waldon and Ben Pierce have been shearing sheep the past few days.

Al Pierce went to Lowell recently to bring his mother and the children down here to reside.

Clifford Ralls returned home from Siuslaw with his cattle Monday evening. James Pfouts went with him. They were gone about two weeks.

Sam Ferguson passed through town, Monday, with over 300 head of cattle, enroute to Portland, where they will be shipped to Yakima. It is reported he will gather up enough more to make 1,100 head.

D. B. Farley has completed over a half mile of gravel road north of town. It is as good gravel as can be got for road building, none of it being coarse. It came from Long Tom River gravel bars. He is to commence work soon on the new piece of road between here and Junction City and the road running west through town.

Ira Hives recently strained himself packing a quarter of beef, but has improved greatly from his injuries. He was seriously hurt by a horse not long ago.

Henry Weiss went to Roseburg, Sunday, to look after the estate of his father who died the 15th inst. He did not receive the news until his father was buried.

The M. W. A. tea here are to have uniforms as soon as they can send and get them. The team will consist of eight, beside the Chief Forester.

OAK GROVE.

Mr. John Hanson was at the county seat on business, Friday.

Clyde Williamson of OAC spent Saturday and Sunday here.

E. Stelmacher, of Wells, treated himself to a fine carriage, Friday.

Mr. Ingalls and daughter, Bernice, of Baker City, came down, Friday, to be at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Waldron, who is quite sick.

Isaac McCluney has been very sick at his home for some time. Medical aid has been rendered by Dr. Wallace, of Albany.

The Oak Grove Basketball team left, early Sunday morning, for Corvallis, where they went to play a game with the Corvallis boys. The score stood 18 to 8 in favor of Corvallis.

There will be a Grange picnic at the Hall in Syracuse precinct May the 27th. A splendid program is being arranged and the day will be an enjoyable one to all who attend. Music will be furnished by the Sodaville orchestra. All are welcome.

Dairy cows seem to be in good demand at good prices. Parties were through these parts the past week buying for the Seattle market. They got a goodly number from this neighborhood, paying from $35 to $40 per head.

Rev. F. M. Lanner has been sent back to Albany for another year as pastor of the Evangelical church. He also fills the Oak Grove pulpit. He preached here Sunday to a good audience.

W. D. Pettyman made a visit to Corvallis, Thursday, on business, and while there inspected the country yard of Mr. Moore at College Hill. He was very much impressed with the way Mr. Moore was fixed for handling his feathered beauties.

BEAVER CREEK.

Andrew Ireland was visiting relatives at Sodaville last week.

Mr. George Manning was a Philomath visitor last Saturday.

The early gardens were damaged to some extent by the late frost.

Sherman Gleason now has a telephone installed at his upper saw mill.

Marcus Henderson is reported to be steadily improving in health.

Mr. Leiland had a valuable cow fall into Beaver Creek last week; breaking her neck.

C. L. Winters sheared his sheep last Tuesday. He reported a good clip—average fleece weighing nine pounds.

The bridge crossing Beaver Creek at the school house was repaired last Monday and is now ready for heavy traffic.

Mrs. Daniels returned last Thursday from Stayton, after a few days visit with relatives. Her little daughter, Maud, returned home with her, after a year's stay with her great grandmother.
