A HINDU LETTER.

G. Mukerji, O. A. C. Student, Writes on Conditions in India.

A Hindu distinguishes the religion of the churches from the religion of Jesus, the Christ. Speaking from the Hindu standpoint, the religion which the churches uphold and preach today, which has been built around the personality of Jesus, the Christ, and which is properly known as "Christianity," should be called "Churchanity" in contradistinction to that pure religion of the heart which was taught by Jesus and practiced by his disciples.

The religion of Christ, or true christianity, has no dogmas, no creed, no system, no theology. It was a religion of the heart, a religion without ceremonial, without ritual, without priestcraft; it was not based upon any book, but upon the feelings of the heart, upon direct communion of the individual soul with the Heavenly Father. On the contrary, the religion of the church is based upon a book, believes in dogmas, prefaces in creed, performs rituals, practices ceremonials, and obeys the commands of a host of priests.

The popular history of churchanity begins 25 years after Christ, the 20th year of Constantine the Great, when the famous council was convened at the City of Nicea. Those who have read the life of this august Roman emperor will remember how remarkable was the character of this so-called pious supporter of church dogmas. He put to death his own son and his wife, Fausta, on groundless suspicion, cut off his brother-in-law, Licinius, and the unoffending son of Licinius and massacred everyone of his rivals. Nevertheless, the Greek church has canonized him and adores the memory of St. Constantine.

It was Constantine the Great, who issued a decree, 321 A. D., for the general observance of Sunday, instead of the Jewish Sabbath. He hated Jews and everything connected with Jews, and said: "This day shall be regarded as a special occasion for prayer, because it is the Sun's day, the day of the Lord." Since that time the church has accepted this decree, ignoring the fact that this was the day for the worship of the Sun among the pagans.

Readers of ecclesiastical history will remember that in one of the disputes following the great council of Nicea maidens were insulted and scourged, the holy temple was profaned, books were thrown into flames and the church baptistry were burned and monks were trodden under foot. Such were the deeds of pious bishops and founders of churchanity.

In the council of Ephesus, 451 A. D., monks and bishops screamed, "Whoso speaks of two natures is a Nestorius and let him be cut assunder." A bishop was kicked to death and 137 corpses were left in a church to attest the convincing reason by which the most ruffianly side proved its orthodoxy. Such were the assemblies of Saints who formed the pillars of churchanity. The creed of the church would have vanished from the world if swords were not drawn and innocent blood not shed in the name of religion.

The deeds of churchanity are written indelibly on the pages of religious history of the world. Shall we wonder, then, if the humane, kind, gentle, peace-loving hearts of the Hindus, that are ever ready to send forth blessings, benedictions, and a current of love toward humanity, nay, toward all creatures, reject churchanity? Shall we wonder, then, that the Hindus, who recognize Divinity in the souls of all, should refuse to accept a system which was founded upon the barren soils of dogmas, fertilized with the vital forces squeezed out of the hearts of innocent humanity and nourished by the blood of martyrs?

By a strange irony of fate the Hindus see today that the followers of churchanity, ignoring its past history, have come over to India to tell the so-called "heathens," how churchanity has civilized the world, how it has brought peace on earth, how it has saved the souls of sinners. But a Hindu is a lover of truth and freedom—freedom of thought and speech are his guiding stars. From the earliest record down to this day there has not been in India, religious oppression to any man. The Hindus have been welcoming new thought and religion, based on rational philosophy and science, for it is impossible for the Hindu to accept anything blindly. I would ask any student of history to point out a single instance of oppression—not to speak of massacre—of a religious missionary to India.

As a proof of our cruel character, the superficial historians and students point to the massacre of 1857 at Cawnpore, but I ask again if a hair on any missionary was touched? In that great upheaval of political feuds, actuated by the politics, selfishness and injustice of a foreigner, the Hindu cried for vengeance. Even for that unbiased students of history will acknowledge the justice of the action. Look at the history of Japan in the 15th and 16th century. The Jesuit missionaries were burned and buried alive. Death sentence was passed for accepting church dogmas and so-called christianity. Look at the history of China. Again, in all European countries religious persecutions have been too many to mention.

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE.

OAK GROVE.

Mr. Hanson was at the county seat on business, Monday.

Miss Alice Morgan of Albany, was visiting relatives here, Saturday.

Mrs. Mintie S. Hae, of Halse, has been spending the last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Goff.

The ice cream social at North Palestine church was well attended Thursday evening.

Mr. Hanson is moving on his new place, the one purchased from Columbus Reed.

T. B. Williamson, of Fairmount, was shaking hands with old friends in Corvallis, Monday.

Mrs. Tolbert Carter left, Monday, for Portland to be at the bedside of her sister, who is not expected to live. While there she will attend the opening of the Lewis and Clark Fair.

S. P. Laurensen says he is going to move to Albany this fall, as he is getting tired of country life and the hum drum of farm work.

Henry Voss is the owner of a new two-seated hack. It looks strange that a bachelor should want so large a rig, but perhaps he expects to marry a widow with a large family.

Ben McElhinney has three fine bulldog pups which he will sell cheap or trade for a heifer, as he wants to go out of the business in time to attend the Fair.

O. N. Stewart is making arrangements to go to Stockton, California, to visit with his son, Elza, and will probably remain there for some time.

Supervisor Altermatt has been doing some good road work in the way of grading down some of the worst hills, cutting the dirt from above and taking to the low ground, thus diminishing the grade considerably.

The picnic at Syracuse, Saturday, was well attended. The day being an ideal one for such an occasion, all seemed to enjoy themselves; and the old granger mingled freely with the rest of the people and enjoyed the sports of the day.

Barney Cady received pay for his horse which was killed near Granger some time ago by the S. P. train while crossing the C. & E. to Corvallis. He had about given up the idea of ever getting pay for his horse, but the unexpected happened in this case and now Mr. Cady has the cash.

BEAVER CREEK.

Mrs. Armstrong has been seriously ill the past few days.

Mrs. E. J. Dunn has been quite ill the past few days.

Frank Bennett is at present hauling lumber to Corvallis.

Mr. Jones, of Inavale, came up the valley last Monday to get a load of cedar posts.

Albert Watkins and Ray Smith, of Philomath, were fishermen on the creek one day last week.

J. H. Edwards and Arthur Woodruff, Philomath, were visiting with friends on Beaver Creek last Sunday.

George Gates sheared his sheep last week and he reports a good clip.

Mrs. Hood and family were visiting friends on Beaver Creek last Sunday.

Last Friday Prof. Earl Brown's school closed with a picnic; a program was given by the pupils of the public school which reflected credit on themselves and teacher. In the afternoon there was a ball game between Philomath and Beaver Creek which resulted disastrously for Philomath. The male quartette of Philomath College gave a few well selected numbers. Everybody brought a well-filled basket and a good time is reported.

Three Physicians Treated Him Without Success.

W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes: "I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in Kentucky treated me without success. I then took Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave immediate relief, and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy." For sale by Graham & Wortham.
