Next Sabbath a Children's Day sermon will be preached at 11 a. m. at McFarland chapel by Rev. Reeves.

In the department of Book Reviews in last Sunday's Oregonian appeared a good bit-tone of Geo. A. Waggoner, of this city, and a very nice mention of his book, "Stories of Old Oregon."

Joseph Yates was over to Brownsville last week in attendance of the pioneers' picnic. He states that it was splendid in every way, and as he has attended many pioneer picnics in Brownsville, he caught to know.

Representative Danneman and daughter, Miss Carrie, are down from their large farm at Clem, Oregon. They are here for commencement at OAC, as Miss Mary Danneman graduates tomorrow and Miss Carrie is an alumnus.

An unusually large crowd attended the baccalaureate sermon of Rev. House in the Armory, Sunday morning. He chose for his text, "One Thing I Do." The sermon was a splendid effort and all accompanying exercises were meritorious.

Doke Hughes, a well-known farmer living some eight miles south of this city, was in town Saturday. He reports that as weather conditions are more favorable crops are beginning to look better and he predicts a fair grain yield.

Charley Tower has been in very bad health for some time, but recently he has been much worse. His ailment is more the result of an asthmatic trouble than anything else. Yesterday he was taken to the poor farm where the proper care may be given him.

Amy Cameron of this city informs us that he recently arranged and negotiated the sale of about 1,000 acres of timber land in Southern Oregon. He is now endeavoring to secure about 1,000 acres of land within a radius of 50 miles from this city. This land is desired by the same parties who purchased the timber land.

Attorney C. E. Woodson and Miss Ida Bell Roe were united in marriage in Eugene, at the home of the bride, June 8th. Mr. Woodson made Corvallis his home for a few years and his splendid character and attainments won him many friends who wish him only unbounded happiness and good luck. At present he is practicing law in Heppner, Or.

Nearly every year there is a rumpus between the seniors and juniors at OAC in the course of class day exercises, as they cannot agree. Last year there was almost a pitched battle and President Gatch threatened the arrest of any juniors who might interfere with arrangements this year. This threat, however, did not deter the sophomores. Yesterday morning residents were surprised to see "07" painted in large white letters, about six feet long, on four sides of the steeple of the administration building. The sophomores are certainly beginning in season.

Rev. G. S. O. Humbert and wife were down from Eugene last week for a short visit with friends.

Horace Locke visited in this city from Albany last Friday in the interest of the Yokohama Tea Company.

Mrs. Ella Fisher, principal of the public school at Ione, Oregon, is visiting in this city, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank E. Jones.

A most delightful time is promised those who attend the ice cream social at Oak Ridge church this evening. All are cordially invited.

The recital of the department of vocal music at OAC was scheduled to occur last evening after we went to press. A good program was promised.

The second annual banquet of the OAC Glee Club occurred Friday evening at Hotel Corvallis. It was in every way a most pleasing and elaborate function.

Yesterday marked the conclusion of examinations at OAC for this school year. Many students who have been on the anxious seat for some time now know their fate.

When in Portland last week, Prof. Goodnough dismissed his class of piano pupils in the metropolis. During the nine months that he taught in that city he was very successful.

I. O. Thompson, who has been the guest of his brother, B. R. Thompson of this city, for about a week, expects to return to his home in Sherman county within a day or so. He has a 1,000-acre wheat farm in Sherman.

J. N. Dolph arrived in this city last Friday from Portland. He was sent up here to assist in arranging details for the program for "Corvallis Day" at the Exposition and to gather data otherwise useful to the management of the Fair.

The educational congress for teachers is to be held in the Auditorium of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition from August 28 to September 2. The sessions are to be under the joint auspices of the Lewis and Clark congress committee and a committee of prominent educators.

DeGaris Reeves, son of Rev. Reeves, of this city, will start for Seattle next Friday to take a special course of study in the University of Washington that will engage him for six or eight weeks. He has been teaching in the high school at Vancouver, Wash., for some time in the past and has given excellent satisfaction, as is evidenced by the fact that he returns again this fall at an advanced salary. He is a very studious and capable young man.

Last Friday, Edward Goodchild and family, after a short visit with the father of the former, John Goodchild of this county, took their departure for their home in Chicago, via Portland, where they intended stopping to visit the Exposition. Last Wednesday they were guests at the home of L. L. Brooks and the entire party made the trip to the top of Vineyard mountain where a most beautiful landscape view was presented on all sides.

About 10 o'clock last Thursday night a brilliant illumination to the west of this city gave a clew to a conflagration that was in progress. Later it was ascertained that the fire was on the farm of F. L. Miller. A brooder house, four brooders, and between 225 and 250 young chickens were burned. The fire is supposed to have started from a brooder lamp. This is a very unfortunate occurrence and on top of other losses Mr. Miller has sustained in his chicken business is very discouraging.

L. L. Brooks reports having witnessed what might have been a serious accident a short distance this side of the Albany bridge last Thursday. A hack load of people were driving along when an automobile hove in sight. The team became frightened and plunged over an embankment, upsetting the hack and throwing all the occupants thereof out. The boy who was driving held to the reins and managed to check the horses. Nobody was hurt, which was fortunate, nor was the vehicle damaged to any extent. Mr. Brooks did not know any of the parties.

Last Thursday evening the final debate for the Gatch Cup occurred in college chapel between the Sorosis and Utopian societies of OAC. This was the seventh and last of the series of inter-society debates for the cup and the honor of its custody for 1905-6 fell to the Sorosis. The question of debate was, "What is Ambition? 'Tis a Glorious Cheat." The Sorosis were represented by Misses Agnes Sweek, Pauline Davis and Edna Irvine; the Utopians by Misses Stella Parsons, Isabelle Wright and Miss Hill. A piano solo by Miss Inez Colvig, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Mabel Laughlin were features of unusual merit.

INTER-COLLEGIATE MEET.

The Farmers Won—Record—Smashing the Order of the Day.

Willamette University, 4 points; Pacific University, 17; University of Oregon, 45; Oregon Agricultural College, 82 points, is the unadorned tale of the inter-collegiate field meet Saturday at Salem. A chapter devoted to the performances of O. A. C. might consistently be profusely embellished with "ifs," but they are not permitted in the story that goes into history for future generations to consult. Furthermore, Eugene requires all the available "ifs" to make a presentable story of her part in the meet, and in the light of success we certainly can afford to present our stock of excuses to the Eugene correspondents and those Portland papers which have so persistently and unjustly belittled the athletic pretensions of O. A. C.

It was unfortunate that so many of U. of O.'s best men were out of form. Hug, for example, was so ill that in the weight events and the discus he was able to take first places only. But other U. of O. men came to the rescue by taking second places in the weights, thus in a measure, compensating for Mr. Hug's failure to take both first and second. It was evident to U. of O. the day before the meet that her best men would not be able to do the work on which she based her hope of success. She could not realize on Frissell, the gilded yellow brick imported from Nevada, because he had a "lacerated" muscle, and would not, therefore, in all probability, be able to take first and second places in the dashes, hurdles, broad and high jumps. Then it was decided that for a few first places the management could not afford to "lacerate" the tinsel of their treasure, and he therefore did not enter any of the events except the broad jump, in which he made merely an exhibition effort. Henderson, U. of O., was slated to take third and fourth places in the events in which Frissell was to have first and second, but he also was unfortunate in having a sprained ankle, and could not do the work assigned him in the earlier calculations.

This was the first meet of the Inter-Collegiate Amateur Athletic Association of Oregon, since 1898. The trophy to be awarded the successful college team was a handsome silver cup, and it has been added to the large collection of other trophies at O. A. C. However, in order to retain it permanently a college must win in three successive seasons. Medals were also awarded to those taking first and second places in each event. Of these, O. A. C. secured fifteen. In this meet all of the old I. A. A. records were broken, excepting three, namely the high jump (5 feet 8 inches), held by Buckingham, O. U.; the shotput (41 feet 2 inches), held by Sanders, W. U., and the hammer throw (116 feet 1 inch), held by Smith, U. of O.

A new Northwest record was made by Greenhaw, of O. A. C., in the half mile, having gone the distance in 1:58 3/4 as against the previous record of 2:02 held by Edmunson of Idaho. This was a remarkable event of the meet. Both Greenhaw and Peterson of P. U. were known to be fast and that the Northwest record was likely to be broken, but which of the two was the faster it was difficult to predict. In the test they ran together, leaving other contestants in the rear. As they came into the last hundred yard stretch, Peterson essayed a spurt but he was "all in." Greenhaw thereupon lined out good and strong and it was apparent that he was master of the situation. The O. A. C. boy had the race in his sleeve through the last quarter, and could easily have beaten the time recorded.

Moore, U. of O., lowered the Northwest record in the 220-yard hurdle, when he won in 25 and 3-5 seconds against the previous record of 25 and 4-5 second, held by Coates.

Gates, of P. U., proved himself a great runner in the mile when he made the distance in 4:41 4-5, with Devolt a close second.

A notable fact is that Smithson, O. A. C., in the 220-dash, lowered the world's professional record of 21 and 4-5 seconds, held by Hutchens, and came within one-fifth of a second of tying the world's amateur record of 21 and one fifth seconds, held by Wefers.

Since the events did not occur on a regulation four-lap track, the extent to which the records will stand, except as to the I. A. A., is in doubt. This condition is unfortunate, but it is deemed certain that O. A. C.'s record-breakers in this meet can and will do as well on a regulation track.

The summary of events follows: 100-yard dash—Smithson OAC; Williams, OAC; Moores, U of O; Graham, OAC; time, 10 2-5.

Broad Jump—Peterson, P U; Moores, OAC; Henderson, U of O; Graham, OAC; distance, 21 feet, 2 1/4 inches.

220-yard hurdle—Moores, U of O; Smithson, OAC; Cathey, OAC; Mason, P U; time, 0:25 2-5.

880-yard run—Greenhaw, OAC; Peterson, P T; Perkins, U of O; Forbes, W U; time, 1:58 3-5.

Shot-put—Hug, U of O; McIntyre, U of O; Walker, OAC; Bowen, OAC; distance, 40 feet 7 1/2 inches.

Pole-vault—Woodcock, OAC; Swan, OAC; Winslow, U of O; Burns, OAC; height, 10 feet 7 1/2 inches.

220-yard dash—Smithson, O A C, Williams, OAC; Moores, U of O; Veach, U of O; time 0:21 2-5.

Hammer-throw—Hug, U of O; Gardner, U of O; Dimmick, P U; Walker, OAC; distance, 118 feet.

Mile run—Gates, P U; Devolt, OAC; Mitchell, U of O; Leonard, OAC; time, 4:41 4-5.

High jump—Moores, OAC; Lounsberry, W U; Swan, OAC; Smithson, OAC; height, 5 feet 7 inches.

440-yard dash—Williams, OAC; Greenhaw, OAC; Veach, U of O; Beach, OAC; time, 0:49 1-5.

180-yard hurdles—Smithson, OAC; Moores, OAC; Beldon, OAC; Kuykendall, U of O; time, 0:16 2-5.
