BANKING.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF Corvallis, Oregon, does a general, conservative banking business. It guards safely its customers' banking business through the panics of the last two decades, which merits proper consideration. It affords banking privileges at home and abroad, first-class, not excelled by any institution in the United States. The members of the Board of Directors were born and raised in Benton County, except one, and that member has resided in the county forty-six years. The business history of each is as an open book before the people of the county. Loans to customers solicited, properly secured. 40tf

Reads Pretty Good.

Of late we have heard much about the Chinese boycott of American goods. Various opinions have been tossed about on the matter of all things heathen and Chinese. Commenting on the fact that Chinamen in Portland are contributing a couple of dollars each to maintain this boycott, the Oregon Boaster says:

If there is an eyecore in Portland—if there is one quarter that has long been a demoralizing influence in this city—it is Chinatown. Situated as it is in the very heart of our business district, its malodorous smells permeating the nostrils of every man, woman or child riding on our cars—its noisome smells being too much for the olfactory nerves of our police, it has festered as an unholy sore in our midst awaiting municipal surgeons who could apply the lance and remove it. The vices of the Oriental have run rampant in this district for years, white girls have been debauched, our boys have been degraded in the vile dens which infest the quarter, and the insidious lottery and "fan tan" games have been the source upon which the lecherous heathen have fattened. Not content with tolerance, Mr. Chinaman and his consort, the Jap—who, by reason of a temporary victory over a degenerate and venal nation, has become more or less "cocky"—have decided to add insult to injury, and by putting into vogue a weapon—the boycott—to force the United States of America to admit their swarm of coolies without restriction. The snake has its head reared. Will you choke it? How? Remove the pestilential sore known as Chinatown, from the midst of Portland, stop patronizing in any way, manner or form these Oriental bloodsuckers, and send them back whence they came. As for trade—study statistics and you will be convinced that America supplies the world and it has got to come to us.

Gridiron News.

With the approach of the opening of college interest in matters relating to football appears to grow. From what we are able to learn the indications are that OAC will have a squad on the gridiron this year that will do business. Many of the old "stand-bys" will be at college again, to the everlasting joy of football enthusiasts. Regarding football at OAC during the coming year a communication from this city appeared in the Telegram a few days ago, as follows:

Dow Walker, the star center of the OAC football eleven, passed through Corvallis this week, enroute to Newport for a few days' outing. In spite of the fact that he has been working hard all summer, he is bigger than ever.

He will bring to college with him this fall a new man almost as large as himself, who has had considerable experience on the foot-ball eleven in the East. Dunlap and Bundy, the guards of the past two seasons, will support Walker at center and are a trio of players hard to withstand. Abraham at left tackle and Williams at right half will be back in their old positions, both returning to college for a post-graduate course. Bower, the veteran at right tackle, will not be back, and a new man will take the place he leaves vacant. Emily and Cooper, last season's ends, will be prominent candidates for these positions on this season's team.

Rinehart, the plucky little quarter, will be in his old position, and Root, the stalwart half-back, who made a reputation for himself in the Christmas game on Multnomah Field, will, with Floyd Williams, make a pair of backs hard to beat. Pilkington will also be back in college for a post-graduate course in pharmacy, but it is doubtful if he can be persuaded to take his old position at fullback, as the injuries he received in the early games of last season caused him to lose almost his entire scholastic year. He will, however, be of invaluable aid as an assistant coach.

The schedule for this season as arranged so far by Manager Stimpson, the post-graduate manager, includes games with all the principal colleges of the Northwest, and in addition a California trip at the beginning of the season will be of great help in rounding the men into shape. The contest this year will be of unusual interest from the fact that Bruce Shorts and Dr. Steckle were respectively right and left tackles on the same team at Michigan and received their football training at the same time under the celebrated Michigan coach, Yost.

Horse Changed Hands.

The fine black Percheron stallion, Fanion, has been sold by Thomas K. Fawcett. It seems a company was formed to buy him and said company is composed of the following parties, who share equally in the deal: Peter Whitaker, Richard Irwin, J. W. Foster, Peter Rickard, J. F. Buchanan, M. H. Whitby, J. N. McFadden and Jesse Porter.

At present the animal is at Peter Whitaker's. Later on arrangements will be made to keep Fanion at Monroe Childers' some 10 or 15 miles south of this city. Fanion is valued at $2,000; he will be five years old next spring and he weighs at present about 1,800 pounds. When fully matured it is thought that he will tip the beam at fully 2,000 pounds. He is very kind and a child could handle him. He has both French and American registered pedigree. This year he has 76 colts, all alive and doing well.

Notice.

The undersigned hereby gives notice to the effect that all parties are forbidden to trust anybody whatsoever on my account after this date without a written order. Dated August 25, 1905. G. W. Parker. 70-1

It Depends on You.

Several times of late have we called attention to the poultry exhibit to be held in connection with the Lewis and Clark Fair next month. It is sincerely to be hoped that poultrymen of Benton county will bestir themselves in this matter and look after the glory of Old Benton in such a vigorous style that we need not be obliged to take off our hats to rivals from any locality. We are in receipt of a letter from C. D. Minton, poultry commissioner for Oregon, of Salem, throwing some light on things possible from every standpoint. In substance the letter is as follows:

California and Washington are making every endeavor possible to throw Oregon in the shade at the coming Lewis and Clark poultry show. This is a friendly rivalry and we want you to get in and see that the honor of your grand old state does not become dimmed by the radiant splendor of our sister states. A man at home has many advantages that the visitor does not have and it is up to you to see that Oregon does her part in this show. The premiums are liberal, the specials are large and the entry fee is only one dollar per bird which includes feed and care and you doubtless have as good birds as has ever been hatched. We want you to show and not be among the class who "have better ones at home." May we not depend on you? Entries close September 10.

From Bremerton.

Friday, Frank Groves arrived home from Bremerton, Washington, where he has made his headquarters for the past year or two. He holds a good position in the government quartermaster's department at this place and is doing nicely. He was accompanied home by a companion by the name of Arthur King, who is also located at the same station. Mr. King will visit here for a week or such a matter.

Bremerton is a naval station and is the place of location of a large shipyard. Here are employed from 800 to 1,200 men all the time. It is the government naval station and the shipyard is thoroughly equipped to do all sorts of repair work on ships, even to the building of a model vessel complete. Here are found almost every kind of mechanic from a boiler maker on through the list.

The naval station is located just across Puget Sound from Seattle, distant from said city 18 miles. There is a boat every hour of the day and it only requires an hour for their flyer to make the run from Bremerton to Seattle. As a consequence, many of the government employees reside in the larger city. One can catch a boat on a Saturday evening at Bremerton for Victoria, B. C., where they may spend Sunday and be back at their work Monday morning. For many reasons Bremerton is a delightful place to be employed.

Frank has leave of absence of nearly two months and will pass the greater part of his vacation with relatives and friends in Corvallis. While on the way home he visited at the Fair in Portland for a few days and speaks in highest praise of what he saw there.

Notice for Publication.

United States Land Office, Portland, Oregon, August 19, 1905. Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 9, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1894, IVA SHERWOOD FATTY, of Corvallis, county of Benton, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office her sworn statement No. 9534, for the purchase of S 1/2 of Section No 28 in Township No 10 S., Range No 6 West, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish her claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at Portland, Oregon, on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1905. She names as witnesses: Erwin R. Alexander, Thomas R. Graham, James H. Patten, of Corvallis, Oregon; Robt. A. Miller, of Portland, Oregon. Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 6th day of November, 1905. ALGERNON S. DRESSER, Register.

Zamboanga News.

A few days ago John F. Allen of this city, received a letter from Major C. B. Hardin, who is now quartered with his regiment at Zamboanga, Philippine Islands. Mr. Allen and the major have corresponded regularly since the departure of the latter about a year ago for the Philippines. Major Hardin writes a capital letter—it is always newsy. It will be remembered that the major was in charge of the military department of OAC for something more than a year before being ordered to the islands.

The major in his letter states that his health is excellent and he recently had the honor of taking first place in athletic contests on the horizontal bar and flying rings. This was in regimental contest. Recently he has been instructing his men in the art of swimming and the men are compelled to come up to a certain standard before they are considered proficient in the water. Every man must be able to swim 100 yards, striped; 75 yards with clothing on, and 50 yards with clothing and in addition with a cartridge belt containing 100 rounds of ammunition, haversack, canteen and blanket. This is a load for a horse and enough to make 50 yards seem a mile.

The health of the major's family has been excellent since they went to the islands. Mrs. Hardin and daughter, Virginia, recently returned to Zamboanga after having visited Japan. This of course was a delightful trip and of a kind anybody would appreciate. The major calculates on doing a little touring on his own account before leaving the islands for good. His objective point is Borneo—he wants to see the wild man in his own domain. He is but a few hundred miles from Barneo at present and will in all likelihood have the tour his heart is set on.

The major's regiment has orders to leave Manila, December 15, 1905, for the United States. On arrival in the "States" they are to be stationed at Monterey, California. Taken all in all, there are few more interesting writers than Major Hardin.
