BANKING.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF Corvallis, Oregon, does a general, conservative banking business. It guarded safely its customers' banking business through the panics of the last two decades, which merits proper consideration. It affords banking privileges at home and abroad, first-class, not excelled by any institution in the United States. The members of the Board of Directors were born and raised in Benton County, except one, and that member has resided in the county forty-six years. The business history of each is as an open book before the people of the county. Loans to customers solicited, properly secured. 40f

In the matter of the estate of and Last Will and Testament of William Wyatt, deceased
William Wyatt, deceased
Notice is hereby given that I have filed my final account as executor of the last will and testament of William Wyatt, deceased, with the clerk of the above entitled Court and that said Court has fixed and appointed Saturday, the 9th day of September, 1905 at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the office of the County Judge of said County at the Court House in Benton County, Oregon, as the time and place for hearing objections to and the settlement of said Final Account, and all persons interested and desiring to object thereto are notified to appear at said time and file their objections.
Dated, August 5th, 1905.
A. J. WILLIAMS, Executor, of the Estate of William Wyatt, deceased. 66-74

Notice for Publication.

United States Land Office, Portland, Oregon, August 19, 1905.
Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber land in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, I, VA SHERWOOD, PATTY, of Corvallis, county of Benton, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office her sworn statement No 6674, for the purchase of S. 31 ½ of Section No 36 in Township No 10 S., Range No 6 West, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish her claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at Corvallis, Oregon, on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1905.
She names as witnesses: Erwin R. Alexander, Thomas R. Graham, James H. Patten, all of Corvallis, Oregon, Robt. A. Miller, of Portland, Oregon, Oregon, and said county court has set Tuesday, September 5, 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m. at county court room, Corvallis, to hear any objections to said report.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember that after marriage many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from Dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." Allen & Woodward druggists, sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

FEAR FOR THEIR TREASURE

How the Millions in Gold Stored in English Banks Are Guarded.

Officials of the Bank of England are said to be worried for the safety of the hoards of wealth stored in their strong boxes. The bank station of the new underground railway in London is close to the vaults of the world's greatest institution of finance. At a recent meeting of the bank directors it was suggested that some brave but wicked person might set off a quantity of explosive in the bank station, wrecking the foundations of the stately buildings above and sending the bars of bullion and streams of gold leaking out to the station platform. The feasibility of this scheme has been conceded by the bank governor. It is figured, however, that the "tube," as the underground railway is called, is a little too deep at this point. To reach the bullion vaults of the bank the conspirators would have to drive a shaft nearly 100 feet, and then they would face a mass of concrete, thick masonry and steel. At one time the Bank of England was the object of conspiracy. From a church tower close by the bank was bombarded. Afterward the authorities had the church and its threatening tower destroyed. Officials of the bank do not like the tunneling going on in the clay beneath their foundations. The constant pumping of water has affected even the solidity of the clay, and from this cause one of the wells which is within the three acres comprised within the bank's precincts has dried up.

Those three acres are valued at about $5,000,000 each, and the treasures within them are guarded in fitting fashion. On either side of the main entrance to the bank are two small glass houses. In the one reposes a stately beadle. In the other are two wide awake detectives. Other detectives are in and out of the rooms but always unobtrusively. At night the police force is a heavy one. Every evening a compact body of men, commanded by a lieutenant, and including two sergeants, two drummers, a bugler and 30 privates, marches from Wellington barrack to the bank. They are in full marching order, and before they enter the technical limits of "the city" exercise that privilege of the guards of fixing bayonets. They are on duty for 12 hours, and but for the recurring spells of sentry-go have an easy time.

Officials of the bank provide moderate refreshments for these guards. In the guard room, which is of regulation pattern, are the usual shelf and blanket, sufficient accommodation for a soldier's intermittent dozing when on duty of this kind. The officer has a suite of rooms at his service—the dining-room of paneled oak, a neat bedroom and a bathroom. There is hidden away in the center of the bank one of the most pleasant gardens in London, where an after-dinner cigar may be enjoyed on a summer evening to the full, while the roar of the great metropolis around has died away to inarticulate murmurs.

A King's New Palace.

King Leopold of Belgium has taken possession of the new Japanese palace in the Royal park at Laeken. It is divided into several wings. Each of them contains half a dozen of finely decorated drawing-rooms. The furniture, the ornaments, the sculptures, the paintings, the screens and the roof were executed at Tokio by the best Japanese artists. More than 2,000 electric lights illuminate the palace, where the king intends giving some gorgeous receptions in honor of the shah of Persia next summer.

Blessings of Speech.

The victim of the automobile accident was plainly dying. He was just delivering a touching speech about the "wife and children" when he caught sight of the man who had run him down. A volley of choice expressions arose from the dying man's lips. This apparently relieved him greatly, for he got up and walked home.—Judge.

A Mistake.

It is not good for man to live alone—unless he wants to save money.—Chicago Daily News.

Will He Figure?

A writer who signs himself "J. H. S." had the following interesting communication in a metropolitan exchange a few days ago:

Just what part the wily Binger Hermann will play in the forthcoming Congress as propagandist is a subject of wide speculation among the wisecracks of politics these days. By many, the man with the felicitous digits is not looked upon as a political entity of any consequence whatever, while others are wont to regard him in the light of a force that is not yet spent, the predictions of his enemies and the indictments of the Federal Grand Jury to the contrary notwithstanding.

One thing is thought to be reasonably sure, however, and that is, that unless the tides of fortune set in for the troubled Congressman, as far as his complications with the United States are concerned, he will not figure of much importance as a candidate propria persona. Otherwise should the edifice of accusation erected by Francis J. Heney et al., be found to be built upon the sand, or collapse in failure of its purpose, the sociable statesman might pull out from under the clouds and become a factor in the race for his succession. In other words, Binger might make a try to succeed himself. But should the indictments against him pan out as Francis Joseph Heney would have them, or his trial be deferred until after the primary period, it is reasonably certain that the political Napoleon of Roseburg will have to stay behind the scenes in the coming drama of political warfare.

As it is, however, B. Hermann has not been shaking hands and inquiring into the status of domesticity all these years for nothing, and whatever the outcome as far as he is personally concerned, his influence will and does extend and ramify through large areas of political territory and his say may and likely will have a whole lot to do with directing the operations of the Hesmann wing of the political lineup in the Willamette Valley.

But just supposing Binger should by some hook and crook get the nomination on the Republican ticket. What would be the result? The prophets are all agreed that it would mean the election of Robert Glenn Smith, "the gentleman from Josephine," to the halls of the lower branch of the National Legislature. It seems pretty sure, that Robert Glenn Smith will cast his toga at the feet of the foe and sound the slogan of war, for it has come tripping on divers tongues from the South during many days that the fire-eating Josephine intends to shy his castor into the ring.

With a campaign motto of "Anti railroad and anti-Hermann," many of the foes of the Democracy think they see wherein disaster would wait its convenience to call, and it is a source of some alarm at this early date.

Sure it is that the Democrats would hail such a mixup as a message of glad tidings in the First District where the power of the enemy has not been called into question since Vanderburg, the Populist, gave Thomas H. Tongue a close shave for Congressional honors in the middle '90s. But, aside from these lugubrious speculations, it seems to be a common opinion in curbstone circles that the statesman with the glad hand and solicitous query is doomed by circumstances over which he has no control to go darkening in the trackless void of political and official forgetfulness.

Work, Says George.

Of the convicts confined in the penitentiary only 100 are employed in the stove foundry, and the serious problem with which the Governor is now wrestling is how to keep the idle ones, who are only an expense upon the state, in constant employment, for their own good as well as that of the state. He has conjured all kinds of schemes by which he might secure employment for them outside of the prison, there being nothing for them to do inside. His latest is to put them to work on farms within easy distance from the prison.

Of the more than 200 practically unemployed prisoners about 50 are leased out to work on the Marion county roads, and a dozen or so were today put to work for the state in spreading gravel upon the asylum farm road, which was improved by the prison administration last Spring. This leaves over 150 idle convicts in confinement, and the Governor believes that they could be worked to an advantage upon the farms within a radius of 10 or 12 miles of the institution.

No contract has been entered into for the employment of the convicts in the Northwest Stove Foundry, nor is there likely to be until the improvements are completed at the prison. "Of Course," said Governor Chamberlain, "you understand that I would take no such risk as to allow the convicts to be taken in charge by the farmers themselves or to enter into contracts with them for their labor, but my idea is for the penitentiary administration to take contracts for grubbing land and send the convicts out, under a strong and efficient guard, to do the work. This, in my mind, is not only feasible, but practical, and it would in no wise interfere with free labor."

Corps of Teachers.

The resignation of Miss Ethel Kyle, a short time back, as a teacher in the public schools of this city, on account of her approaching marriage with Albert S. Cured of Bright's Disease.
Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believed I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold by Graham & Wortham.

Reduction in Rates.
September 1, the round trip fare to Portland, account Exposition, will be reduced from $3.50 to $2.90 for a thirty day ticket but not good after October 31st. This is a voluntary reduction made by the S. P. R. R. and will be appreciated by the public as the last six weeks of the Fair will be the best part and see the largest crowd.
