BE PRACTICAL.

If you are a young man or woman and in independent circumstances you may, if your tastes run that way, pursue some hobby, may indulge in a purely theoretical education along some line of art. But if your prospects are such that the probabilities are that you will later in life "earn your bread by the sweat of your brow" it is the part of wisdom to confine yourself in your studies to that which is eminently practical.

To be successful you must have something to dispose of, and whatever this that you possess may be, your success depends wholly upon the demand for what you have. If you are a merchant you must have in stock what the people want—what they require, what is a necessity with those whom you expect to patronize you. When you have these things you may expect to be a successful merchant, provided, you can sell as reasonably as any competitor you are likely to have.

So it is with an education. A young man or woman starting out in life, expecting to carve their own destiny unassisted, should come to an early realization of the fact that what they store in their heads in the way of knowledge must have value. In order to have value it must be along practical lines and such that is of use to the masses. It is the same in trades—in the industrial fields. What you train your hand and eye to do must be along lines that are productive of something that is of material worth. The practical aim should be to produce a given thing for which there is a demand. When you have prepared yourself to meet these requirements then you may have reason to hope for success, for you have possessed yourself of that which you can barter eternally.

COULD AFFORD MORE.

"Take off the duty [from articles in which we are interested and the foreigners will buy more from us because we are buying more from them." Such, boiled to an essence, is the reciprocity program. If we take away the duty on our own industries. Take hides, for an example, when those produced by foreign countries are allowed to come to the United States duty free, all those engaged in the cattle raising industry must necessarily have less money to spend, for the simply reason that they will not have so good a market as they had formerly.

It will be the same with wage earners in steel. When they are out of work as the result of large importations of steel there will be less demand for various products. They will no longer have employment, and having no work, will have no money. If such becomes the condition of our people everything will be cheap—on a par with all cheap labor countries. And when we have reached such a state foreign countries will perhaps buy more of us in quantity, but not value.

There will be no home market and in consequence everything we possess will be cheap. As our industries become crippled so will the pocketbooks of our wage earners and the great common people will use less of everything, even to the point of denying their stomachs what they crave. Under these conditions would it be remarkable if foreign countries bought largely of us? They would have but to name their own price and take what they willed.

Do our wage earners care so much for the "other fellow" that they want the value of what their labor produces to fall so low that foreign trade will be stimulated? Would they be willing, in order to increase our exports, to work on shorter hours and less pay? Do our farmers and manufacturers want the value of their products to decline? Do they want this badly enough to take reciprocity "sop" to the effect that the "other fellow" is going to do the noble act in all deeds and play fair?

Our College.

OAC is the pride of our people. It is the biggest thing in town, in fact, the largest college in the state and the greatest Agricultural College on the coast. We are too apt to forget the importance of our college and its work on account of its location in our midst. We need a reminder now and then; need have the curtain raised that we may imbibe somewhat of the ideas of others. We ring up the curtain on the following, taken from the Rural Spirit:

The State Agricultural Colleges afford a practical training for the farm boy and girl. There the young man may learn important things connected with the line of work he has been associated with all his life. He will upon the completion of his course be fitted to take up farm work with renewed enthusiasm. There was never greater need for trained heads in farm work than at present. The whys and wherefores are essential. Land values are increasing, competition is keener, the many questions that arise in farm operations each year require greater effort to make farm lands pay good dividends.

The graduate of an agricultural institution, who has common sense and judgment, possesses a valuable asset, that will count for pleasure and remuneration in his pursuit of agriculture. The farm girl will be benefitted equally with her brother. She will receive a training along the lines of domestic economy that will fit her for a helpmate on the farm. Her education will be useful. She will be taught to observe and her position in life will be looked up to. Get an education. Let it be along the lines of usefulness for only such an education counts in the end.

Inquisitive.

There are many expressions among the English speaking people that are likely to bewilder a person should such person ponder deeply on a given idiosyncrasy. For instance, of late we have heard much of the interesting features of the "live" stock show at present held in connection with the Portland Exposition. This has set us wondering about the drawing capacity of a "dead" stock show. The following anecdote is a little along this line:

As old Robinson was walking along the principal street of his native town something new struck his eye in the window of the watchmaker's shop.

It was a large handsome clock and from it was suspended a card bearing the words:

"Goes 300 days without winding!" Suddenly an idea struck him, and he went into the shop. "That's an interesting clock of yours," he said; "but there is one thing I should like to know." "What's that?" "How long it would run if it was wound up?"

Work With League.

From what can be ascertained it is realized that the Willamette Development League is every day becoming more important. According to the following dispatch sent out from Salem a few days ago the Southern Pacific Company will work in harmony with members of the league:

A prominent Southern Pacific representative is here today, presumably to consult with leading members of the Willamette Valley Development League, regarding a bill to regulate railroad freight and passenger tariffs in Oregon. A bill is in course of preparation which it is proposed shall be submitted to the Legislature at the meeting to be held in Eugene, September 29 and 30, on which, if approved, the initiative is to be invoked at the general state election next June. Representative Graham, of this city, is a member of one of the committees that have the matter in charge.

Mr. Graham said this morning that while he could not say what action the convention would take, he was of the opinion that a draft of a bill would be submitted to the convention, but so far as he knew it would not be a drastic measure, the aim being to deal fairly with the people and the railroads.

J. A. Carson, of this city, who is chairman of the committee on tax law, it is understood, will have an interesting report to make. More than ordinary interest centers in the railroad rate law. It is a proposition in which members of the league, and the railroad people are deeply interested, as shown by recent developments.

Like Finding Money.

Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. C. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs; but after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds." Greatest sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At Allen & Woodward's drug store; 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co. N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believed I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold by Graham & Wortham.

afford the required help by promoting digestion, assimilation and reconstruction of tissue and reducing waste of vital nerve forces.

It must not be an alcoholic stimulant—just a vegetable tonic. Meeting these needs and conditions Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been in successful use these forty years and has accumulated a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It is composed of non-alcoholic, glyceric extracts of Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, and by special processes perfected by Dr. Pierce, in his own laboratory, so combined in the most exact proportions, and their medicinal properties preserved without the use of alcohol as to render it a safe and effective remedy for use in the family without consulting a doctor. Young or old can take it freely as needed, and now that its composition is published, there is no ground for prejudice against it as a patent medicine or secret medicine. It is neither.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps.

I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Engaged people should remember, that after marriage many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from Dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." Allen & Woodward druggists, sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.
