Presidential Election Will Make No Difference.

No matter what candidate is elected, Foley's Honey and Tar will remain the people's favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Graham & Wortham.

Additional Local.

F. L. Miller went to Portland, Wednesday, to attend the poultry exhibit held in connection with the Lewis and Clark Fair. J. M. Porter went to the metropolis yesterday to attend the poultry exhibit. Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock occurred the death of C. M. Smith at his home west of this city a mile or so. Last spring he suffered a paralytic stroke, and while getting better, he suffered a second stroke a few days ago, the result of which was fatal. Mr. Smith is survived by a wife and six children. He was nearly 50 years of age. Funeral services will be held at the family residence this morning and interment will be made in Odd Fellows cemetery.

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and reuse and substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Graham & Wortham.

Fall of Tragic Meaning.

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think of what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relief and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At Allen & Woodward, druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Back to the Farm.

How often we read of the yearnings of city people for the country, but seldom read such reasons for this great desire as are advanced by a writer in Maxwell Tatman, as follows:

People flock to the cities today, and stay there, not so much because they like to, as because they must. Before the inexorable conditions that dominate men in an industrial age, they are as helpless as chips carried by a great torrent, and the country man who drifts to the city is like the twig that is washed from the soil far inland or swept by the current into a great ocean. A multitude of people of small means, and not owning land, are now in the cities, not because they find the city more agreeable, but because circumstances force them there. Apparently in each case there is an immediate cause, but careful observation will show that there is one great underlying cause of all the migrations from country to city. There is a great force from which no man is free, that carries away a definite percentage of the people to replenish the cities, which with each new growth acquire the power of absorbing and blighting still more lives. It is not only that the city attracts; the country repels. This is why there has been so little response to the cry of "Back to the Land!" As long as it continues impossible for the people to get back to the land they will stay where they are: in the cities. The country produces people and thrusts them on the cities, but never takes them back. The reason is to be found in the relative opportunities offered to the wage earner.

Opportunity is the gate to the cities and lack of opportunity is the unsurmountable barrier that excludes a great number of the people from the boon of country life. However much the wage earner may yearn for the freedom and pure air of the country, his only opportunities are in the city, and there he must stay. A limited number of people can live in the country as farmers; the rest of our population must forever depend on work in the cities or towns for a livelihood. If we are to preserve the vigor of the race, we must provide for the health and happiness of these.

It matters not how much room we have left in the country, if the man who wants to go to the country finds it impossible to get there. We can only get the wage earner back to the land by getting the factory and office back to the land and there replacing the tenement by homes on the land. Every clerk and factory operative who so desires, should be enabled to buy a home convenient to his work.

Rural life, within the reach of every wage earner, would place modern industrialism on a sound, social and moral foundation that it has heretofore lacked. The menacing problems of present-day congested city life will vanish before the wage earner's fireside and home-garden of the future. And not until modern industrialism has been adjusted in this way to the needs of a healthy moral development of the factory people will the democracy of our forefathers have permeated the industrialism of later generations.

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE.

BELLFOUNTAIN. The public school opens next Monday the 9th, with Prof Mack and Miss Reader as teachers. The Bellfountain telephone Co. held its annual meeting last Monday night. L. H. Starr and wife, of Albany, are visiting their people here. Wayne Starr, of Southern Oregon, with his family, is at the home of his father, S. C. Starr. Almost daily some one returns from a week spent at the Fair. All seem richly repaid for the time and expense of the trip. Truly we live in a great country. Last week Mrs. Walters sold to a man from Spokane her 190 acre farm. The price was $4,000. Rev. Alford, the M. E. minister ap-

Delinquent Taxes.

Last Monday taxes not paid became delinquent. In this county there is not a large delinquency this year, in fact, as the years roll by the delinquent list in Benton county becomes smaller and smaller. Sheriff Burnett estimates that at present the delinquent list is approximately $4,700, which is very small.

Every day some party shows up at the sheriff's office and pays not only their taxes, but the penalty that is added on account of their delinquency. On this account our sheriff is of the opinion that when the delinquent tax list is ready for publication, some time in December next, taxes will have been paid until the list will have dwindled from $4,700 down to a $1,000 or $1,500.

Taxes on timber claim in this county are unpaid to the tune of several thousand dollars. This is clearly understood when one considers the fact that the government is not dealing out patents at wholesale now-a-days and on the other hand is making considerable inquiry about timber claims. If the holder of a timber claim is to lose his claim through any action of the law he does not propose to lose any additional tax money with it. Of course, in due season if the taxes on these claims are not paid the claims will be advertised and sold at sheriff's sale the same as any other delinquent tax property.
