CHARGES MADE.

Only last issue in speaking of closing of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, we made it a point to speak in praise of the management and the excellent condition of affairs connected with the Fair so far as we had been able to learn. Possibly we were a little hasty in our editorial, although with the best possible intention.

Not long ago the Journal known as the Oregon Booster changed hands and came out in new form as well as name. It is now The Saturday Review. It is under the management of J. M. Shawhan and a portion of an article in a recent issue is pretty hot stuff for President Goode of the Lewis and Clark Exposition Incorporation. Mr. Shawhan makes some very pointed and direct charges and openly challenges denial. So far President Goode, so far as we are aware, has not attended to Mr. Shawhan's case. If this is a case where "silence gives consent" then the statements made about Mr. Goode and his reign must savor of truth, sorry as we are to say so. In another column will be found the article in question. The reprint is worth reading.

GROWTH OF OAC.

Until within the last few years O. A. C. was not so greatly favored with students from Eastern Oregon as we had supposed she would have been. This is not a reflection in any way upon the college nor its management in the past—it was simply a condition that belonged to that period and which until within the last few years had not been changed.

However, now all is different. Many are the students from Eastern Oregon. The reason for increased attendance is found in several things, conditions or causes. In the first place the college has been making a healthy and steady growth and her reputation has gone abroad and to her credit, too. Another item of no small importance, is the class of graduates turned out. Hundreds of graduates of O. A. C. are scattered throughout the land and in nine cases out of ten are living, breathing advertisements for the school. To see what has been achieved by former students at this institution acts as a great inducement to others to come.

Another factor in advancing the interests and increasing the enrollment at O. A. C., is the efficient work done by Dr. Withycombe and his efficient assistants in the way of holding farmers' institutes throughout the state. These institutes have undoubtedly been of inestimable value to our college.

Then again, especially during the past year, Prof. J. B. Horner has made a trip or two through the eastern part of the state in the interest of O. A. C. That such visits were productive of good results, is evidenced by the number of new students from that section of the state visited by the professor.

It is interesting to note that two years ago Malheur county sent but three students to O. A. C. Last year she sent us thirteen, but this year nearly forty lads and lassies are enrolled from Malheur. Walla Walla county, too, has an interesting record. We are informed that last year there were only a few students attending O. A. C. from that county—this year we are favored with something like twenty. Four years ago, Eastern Oregon contributed only about fifty students in all to our college. Now there are from one hundred and fifty to two hundred enrolled from the eastern part of the state. Surely these things are encouraging to all who have the welfare of the school at heart.

The Logic of Facts.

There is a great difference in theory and practice now and then to the everlasting surprise of some people. Commenting along this line, the Seattle Post-Intelligence recently had the following:

In short, the exports of manufactured goods under the Dingley law, which Free-Traders claim would injure our export trade, are just double what they were under a Democratic Tariff designed for the express purpose of encouraging a development of our export trade, according to the Free-Trade-Tariff-reform school.

This demonstrates the trouble with Free-Trade and Tariff reform arguments. They are all right for closet purposes; they figure out all right on paper; but the irresistible logic of facts persists in proving the precise contrary to the closest deductions. Nevertheless, it is to be expected that the Democratic Free-Traders and their Tariff reform allies will persist in their claim that the present Tariff law is bad for expansion of foreign trade—not just now, maybe, but at some time in the future it will work out that way. It has expanded our exports steadily for nine years, but that does not prove anything to the Free-Trader.

Can't Afford Information.

Oregon has land script, representing 50,000 acres on her hands, and Governor Chamberlain is working on the question of how to dispose of these rights to the best advantage. Failing any purchasers for the script, which was offered for $6 an acre, the Governor would willingly select some large body of timber land and hold it for the State, but here again he is met by the obstruction that there are no funds at his disposal, it is stated, to employ the timber cruisers to select good lands.

The reason the State, and the Governor, as authorized agent to select school lands, on behalf of the State, cannot sell the script, is that no individual is allowed by law to purchase more than 320 acres from the State. Less than that amount they may receive, and prefer to receive from the Governor direct.

The alternative of selecting timber land and holding it for the State was brought up recently when the proposition was made to the Governor to furnish complete information for about 40,000 acres of timber lands in two large blocks, at 50 cents per acre, and to take any representative of the State over the land, to prove by inspection that it was claimed.

The offer was considered reasonable, but there are no funds at the Governor's disposal. It is possible bids may be asked for to tender the information, the bidder to await the action of the next Legislature on the appropriation to cover the expense. It is deemed here there would be no difficulty in obtaining an appropriation for such information.

That Bill of Goods.

O. V. Hurt, the well-known salesman at S. L. Kline's is one of the most obliging of men, and this fact is known by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Hurt resides in south Corvallis, a long way from Kline's big, busy store, and when he reaches home, of an evening, the tired clerk usually feels loath to go forth again unless the call is urgent. Such a call came Thursday evening by phone, just after Mr. Hurt had reached his home. "I want a bill of goods," said a voice, and with visions of $20 gold pieces floating before his eyes, Mr. Hurt struck out for town, and met the customer at the store.

"What can I do for you, my friend," queried the polite salesman, to which he received reply: "I want a yard of straw matting, and 25 cents worth of sal soda." That was all. Mr. Hurt might have got relief in one way—but he is not a profane man.

NEXT SATURDAY.

O. A. C. to Battle With Northern Giants.

What is certain to be as great a game of football as was ever seen on O. A. C. field takes place next Saturday afternoon. A feature will be the giant line against which Steckle's men will have to go. The men in it are all giants, their average weight being 192 pounds. The center is six feet four and is built to match. The guards on either side of him are six feet two, and each weigh over 200 pounds. Even the ends in this gigantic phalanx weigh 185 pounds. What Steckle's men can do against such a heavy line is a problem that must go unworked until the two big teams set into action next Saturday afternoon.

What adds to the complexity of this coming battle is that the Washington giants are, according to dispatches from the North, not only big but speedy. With all their weight, if they have the speed that is reported; they will be the hardest bunch that ever hit the local town, and it is well that the latter are now stronger than at any time in the past. In any event, the game will be a gridiron battle by big men, the O. A. C. team having also a considerable advantage, being lighter, of course, than the northern giants by several pounds per man. Information relative to the Pullman men appeared in a dispatch in Sunday's Oregon, which is as follows:

On Monday the State College boys will leave for "Old Oregon," where they will meet Willamette University in football on Wednesday and the famous O. A. C. bunch on Saturday. The Willamette boys, holding Stanford down to 12 and tying Berkeley, have a good team from all reports. The O. A. C. boasts of superior material to last year, so that Washington team will leave Pullman fully determined to do great stunts or get the short end by Saturday's setting of the sun.

Pullman sends to Oregon next Monday a team fast and heavy. The line averages 192 and the backfield 174, and the entire team 183 pounds to the man; average of 183 is a happy team. Captain Stewart at center weighs 205; Morgan and Collins, guards, 190; Sapp, 185, and Thayer, 208, tackles; Guldor orthy and Wexler, 185, ends; Miner and Spaulding, 165; Nissen and Jones, halves, 165; and Hardy, 201, fullback.

The subs that will make the trip will probably be Reed, line; Lynch, full; Thomle, end; Dudley, back and line. Manager Kreeger and Coach Sweeney will accompany the team.

In the games this year the State College scored 50 points against the strong Spokane High School eleven in 40 minutes; 52 points against the gritty Lewiston High in 35 minutes; and 32 points against the Montana "Aggies" in 33 minutes.

Although these teams were outclassed, scores of 50, 52 and 32 in short halves indicate that when the Northwest speculates on the championship the Washington State College is plainly to be found on the map.

Reasons for Selling.

The transfer of Mr. Sheasgreen's interest in the Central Planing Mills to Mr. Buxton was completed yesterday; consideration, $3,800. Mr. Sheasgreen gives as his principal reason for disposing of his business here, the impossibility of obtaining insurance on this class of property in this city.

The cause of this is owing to lack of good fire protection. During the twelve years he has conducted this business he was obliged to carry his own risk, and now has arrived at a time when he considers it unwise to continue to do so.

In order to secure manufacturing establishments a first-class fire protection must be maintained. Small water mains and pipes may by all right to supply water for domestic purposes, but when it comes to fire protection they are not considered sufficient and insurance will not be reduced as it should be. Manufacturing plants here, if insurance could be had at all, are required to pay 9 per cent as against 3 per cent in the City of Portland for the same class.

Man with limited means cannot afford to carry his own risk, and it will be impossible to secure manufacturing industries here under the present high rate of insurance.

The builders of the proposed water system should give this careful attention. You must have abundance of water and good hydrant pressure in order to class higher in fire protection.

Passed Away.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Tompkins, wife of John Tompkins, resident six miles west of Bellfountain, died of pneumonia, October 10, 1905. She was sick but three weeks.

The lady was born in Princeton, Kansas, August 4, 1863. March 17, 1881, she was married to John Tompkins at the home of

"COMPLETELY DISCOURAGED"

Is the feeling and plaint of women who are "run-down" so low that work drags, head aches, back aches, hands tremble, voice quivers, little things annoy and "everything goes wrong."

Look the other way just a minute and see what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for more than a half-million women in the last thirty years.

What it has done for others it can do for you. Believing that alcoholic, stimulating medicines were doing much harm, Doctor R. V. Pierce turned his investigating mind upon the problem of producing a remedy for the use of weak and suffering women that should be free from alcohol and at the same time EFFECTIVE AND SAFE.

Nature has provided abundantly for such needs and Dr. Pierce found in native medicinal plants such as the roots of GOLDEN SEAL, LADY'S SLIPPER, BLACK COHOSH, UNICORN and BLUE COHOSH, the needed medicinal properties which by recent processes, strictly his own, without the use of alcohol, he has extracted, preserved and combined in exact proportions to secure from each its best effect. Thus compounded his "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is a remedy for the pains and drains, weaknesses and inflammation of the uterine system that has won worldwide fame by curing more than ninety-nine out of every hundred who have used it properly.

In taking this you will know what you take and take what you know to be good. If in any doubt as to what is best for you, write and ask advice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., and reliable medical advice will be sent you by return mail in securely sealed envelope. All correspondence free and strictly confidential.

LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain uncalled for in the Corvallis postoffice, for the week ending Oct. 14, 1905:

C. B. Allen, T. E. Boundy, Mrs. Ednah Baner, B. F. Bates, Mrs. M. A. Daddard, Melvin M. Dungan, Mrs. U. M. Porter, Mrs. E. Clough Smith, Miss Leona Scott, Mrs. Della Thompson, E. C. Woods, C. C. Williams and Mrs. J. West.

B. W. JOHNSON, P. M.

On account of being in an unaccountable state of mind C. A. Hyland was placed in the city bastille Sunday. Shortly thereafter Mr. Hyland got his digits on the rung of a chair and whittled it to a point.

With this rude implement he artfully executed a hole in the brick wall and passed himself through said wall. Monday morning Chief Lane found no captive, but he found a couple of notes within the prison. One read, "Don't bother to hunt for me—I will meet you at 1 o'clock tomorrow at First National Bank corner." The other note was quite as brief, as follows: "7:30—am hungry—gone to supper."

Think of it! Yesterday, October 16, Amy Cameron laid on our desk a nice bunch of ripe raspberries.

John Smallman was up from Independence yesterday searching for a house in which he could domicile his family.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debility. At Allen & Woodward's drug store. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

Consumptives Made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptives by claiming that it will cure that dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foley's Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herron, of Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that this has cured consumption in the first stages. Graham & Wortham."

222 South Peoria St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.
