

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Barney Martin, of Brownsville, an old time OAC student, transacted business in Corvallis, Friday.

Mrs. Thomas Bolt arrived home Thursday from Independence, where she had spent the past few months.

Indians were abroad in Corvallis, Friday, offering for sale all sorts and sizes of Indian baskets, of their own make.

Miss Aggie Wilson entertained a dozen young lady friends Saturday evening. The occasion was very pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ambler went over to Newport, Friday, to be guests of Prof. and Mrs. S. I. Pratt until tomorrow.

Attorney W. E. Yates returned Thursday evening from a business trip to Aberdeen and other points in Washington.

The ladies of the first Methodist church are to be entertained at the home of Mrs. J. E. Farmer next Friday afternoon from two to five.

Wayman Mason, who was in Corvallis a week ago, is now at Butte, Montana, where he has secured employment at good wages.

Walter Brickley, a former OAC boy, returned a few days ago from Athena, Or., bringing with him a charming bride, to the surprise of his friends.

George Henry, of Baker City, and Mrs. Dr. J. Harrington, of Idaho, are to leave today for their homes after a visit with J. A. Henry and family in Corvallis.

Miss Rena Spencer started Friday for Aberdeen, Washington, where she will attend the wedding of a niece. When she left Corvallis she was not certain that she would return to Corvallis soon.

James Mace, the well known cattle buyer of Portland, was in Corvallis during the week and purchased a car load of cattle and sheep of P. A. Kline. The stock were shipped to Portland Saturday.

In order to supply the demand for seed wheat, August Fischer has ordered a carload from Eastern Oregon. It is expected to arrive in about ten days, and will, it is stated, be free from vetch and other foreign seeds.

A New Jersey man applied at the office of Clerk Moses, Friday, for a hunter's license. When informed that the price for non-residents licenses was $10, the gentleman decided that he did not like fried pheasant any way, and departed without securing the paper.

Joseph Henkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Henkle, who graduated from OAC in the class of '05, has arrived from Athena, Eastern Oregon, where he spent the summer, and is at the home of his parents. He will either re-enter OAC for a post graduate course or go East to Cornell.

The Dave Irvine building on the south side of Main street is now in the hands of a gang of workmen, who are to put it into good condition. The property is now owned by August Fischer, and is to be occupied the first of the coming month by some sort of a store. The improvement will help the appearance of that part of town.

Miss Hattie Spencer departed Friday, for Cove, Eastern Oregon, where she will pass the winter. During the damp weather season she does not have good health at home and goes to Cove, where her health is usually good. She was accompanied to Portland by her aunt, Mrs. Tucker. Together they saw the closing of the Lewis and Clark Fair.

Articles of incorporation were filed Thursday at the clerk's office, by the Young Men's Christian Association of the State Agricultural College. The incorporators named in the papers are, Frank E. Edwards, E. R. Lake, W. T. Shaw, Elmer P. Rossen and Guy L. Weaver, and these are also the trustees. It is stated in the articles of incorporation that $12,000 is the amount of property possessed by the association at this time. The object of the association is the building of the Y. M. C. A. building at the Agricultural College.

The Village Improvement society will hold a special meeting in the County Court Room this Tuesday evening at 7.15. All members are urged to attend and others not yet identified with this branch of civic improvement in Corvallis are cordially invited to be present and become active members. The society also suggests to the committee from the Civic Improvement League appointed some time since to confer with the society and that they take this first opportunity to hold a conference looking to the unification of the labors and plans for continuing the good work of beautifying our city.

Mr. and Mrs. Minor Swick went Portland Friday to help close the Fair.

J. S. Booth returned Friday from a visit at Portland. Incidentally he saw the Fair.

Thomas Carns and family, of Alsea, moved Thursday into the Peterson house, near the Bogue place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ambler left Friday for a fishing trip at the Bay. They are to return tomorrow.

A. K. Milner left Tuesday for the Bohemia mines on a business trip. He will be absent several weeks.

The W. C. T. U. will meet in the Reading Room on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 3 o'clock. An informal tea will be served to the new members friends.

Bert Peters and Bert Newton returned Saturday from Buena Vista where they have been employed at carpenter work on the Jack Hall residence.

Miss Mary Jones arrived home Wednesday from Canada, where she has been visiting relatives since the last of June. She will spend the winter in Corvallis.

Mrs. Ed Jackson is in a Portland hospital, where on Wednesday she underwent a serious surgical operation. She is said to be getting along as well as could be expected.

Miss Claire Starr, who came from her home at Belfountain at the opening of college to become a student was taken home Friday, critically ill with appendicitis. She had to be moved on a bed, to serious was her condition.

Miss Lillian Ranney went to Portland, Friday morning, to visit for a couple of weeks. She saw the closing of the Fair, even though she had been down to the Exposition before.

Mrs. Ethel Peters, daughter of A. N. Harlan, of this city, arrived in Corvallis, Friday, from Lincoln, Nebraska. Her husband is expected to arrive in this city some time in January and it is probable that they will decide to remain here.

Emil Schrader is the name of the new baker at Small's. He is certified to be first-class in all departments of the business and no better guarantee is necessary than a knowledge of the fact that he held a position in Oregon City for eight years.

Otto Headrick came out from Alsea, Friday, having been over there for a week or longer on a fishing trip. He and his father and brother caught an untold number of trout and salmon. From what Otto said the sport was simply immense. He remained over Saturday to see the game of football between O. A. C. and Whitworth, and returned to Salem and his business by the early train Sunday.

B. W. Johnson arrived home from Portland, Thursday evening, and Robert Johnson the following evening. Both had been to the metropolis as delegates to the grand lodge of the Knights of the Pythias. The latter had a narrow escape from being drawn into the great republican love feast that was in progress during his sojourn down there. Robert was an A. I. democrat, too.

Yesterday morning Chas. Heckart and a force of carpenters began work on the country residence of Gustave Harding. Mr. Heckart recently finished making what he terms a tarpola, a large cover, 50x60 feet, that can be spread over a house, and in this way work can be continued on a building regardless of the weather. At present Mr. Heckart is working nine men and has contracts enough to run him until the first of the year.

A few days ago, B. D. Arnold, of the firm of Dilly & Arnold, of this city, arrived in town from the farm of A. J. Cator, near the Independence school house. While out there, Mr. Arnold was employed at the task of installing and placing in operation a large grist mill for Mr. Cator. The mill has a capacity of 60 bushels per hour, which is exceedingly good. The calculation of the owner is to grind feed for the various farmers of his vicinity. The mill is driven by steam power.

Prof. Harry Beard had the college band on the streets shortly after noon Saturday for the first time this fall. While Prof. Beard has had hold of the band but a few weeks, he is to be complimented on the showing he makes with the aggregation. A band at the O. A. C. is a little on the order of building brick houses—each year sees a change of personnel and the instructor is compelled to begin all over at the first of each season. However, we expect that before the college year is out that the cadet band will reflect credit upon themselves and their instructor.

Benton In Third Group.

During the Fair many of our citizens were somewhat wrought up over the matter of county exhibit and feared that Benton would disgrace herself. Not so by any means—she came to the front in group three.

The judges who were selected by the Lewis and Clark Fair Commission to award the prizes on the county exhibits made the awards October 10. There were twenty-three counties represented and the competition was so close and the showings so uniformly excellent that the judge found it necessary to split the prizes which was done as follows:

First prize of $1,000 was distributed among Marion, Coos, Linn, Umatilla, Wasco and Lane counties. Second prize of $500 was divided among Clackamas, Columbia, Jackson, Morrow and Polk counties. Third prize of $300 was divided among Benton, Yamhill, Malheur, Union and Baker counties. Fourth prize of $200 was divided among Wallawa, Washington, Josephine, Sherman, Lincoln, Harney and Douglas counties. The judges who made the awards are J. A. Filcher, of California; W. N. Steel of North Dakota; Wilson H. Fairbanks of Massachusetts; Charles Camp of Wyoming and M. J. Wessels of Idaho.

Chief Lane's Runner.

Last week, Chief of Police Lane, accompanied by his wife, went to Portland to have a look at things about the Fair. Robert Johnson went down on the same train. When they arrived at the metropolis our friend Robert made a break down town, but he did not proceed far before he saw some very curious jumping-jacks, and according to Chief Lane stopped to inspect them.

The Chief and his wife were nearly bothered to death on arrival at the depot by hotel and rooming house runners. So anxious were these depot pests that the Chief and his wife covered three blocks of the city before they felt themselves free from runners. Now, all of this did not escape the watchful eye of Robert.

While the latter still gazed at the jumping-jacks the chief and his wife passed him and Robert fell in a short distance behind them. Whilst thus plodding along alone Satan operated on Bob and he concluded to operate on the standard of law and order in Corvallis. Now, be it known that the chief bore carpet sacks in either hand until he was both weary and heavily laden, also out of temper as the result of running the gauntlet with so many pesky drummers.

At this stage he heard a voice from behind say, "Room, sir?" He paid no attention, but walked on in wrathful independence. The voice continued, but no result. Finally the runner touched the chief on the arm and repeated his query, "Room, sir?" The chief wheeled with blazing eyes and said things. In an instant he saw that his fellowtownsman was the runner and that the joke was on him.

Mrs. Lane had looked back and recognized Bob, but it was too good to spoil and she did not give him away. Had such a thing happened the chief in this city the chances are—well what?

John Smith is having concrete walk built along the east and north sides of his residence property. This an improvement that will be appreciated by everybody.

Miss Maggie Sutherland has been seriously ill for several days with an attack of appendicitis.
