OAK GROVE.
 Old Jack-frost came near getting us the other night.
 From the amount of wood that is being hauled to Albany, one would be led to believe that winter is coming.

Henry Karstens has discarded the razor, and now wears a full beard, much to the disgust of his many lady friends.

W. D. Prettyman and G. W. Williamson left, Monday, for Rock Creek, Lincoln county, to spend a few days upon the former's homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Williamson were Corvallis business visitors Monday.

The weather of late has been very favorable for farm work, and farmers are getting along fine with their fall seeding. If the weather stays good there will be a larger average sown this fall.

Presidential Election Will Make No Difference.

No matter what candidate is elected, Foley's Honey and Tar will remain the people's favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind. writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Graham & Wortham.

Fall of Tragic Meaning.

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think of what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At Allen & Woodward, druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Corvallis Poultry Association Will Hold Annual Exhibit.

The annual meeting of the Corvallis Poultry Association was called last Thursday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and perfecting arrangements for the holding of their annual exhibit in Corvallis, which will occur in the Opera House, November 30, December 1st and 2nd. The following officers were elected:

President, Bowen Lester; vice-president, A. L. Knisely; secretary and treasurer, Gene M. Simpson; assistant secretary, W. G. Emery; superintendent, J. G. Horning; members of executive committee, Henry Ambler and W. J. Kent.

A vote of thanks was given the retiring officers for their untiring efforts in holding last year the most successful poultry show in the state. Not only those directly interested in breeding fancy poultry, but the business men of Corvallis in general, aided materially in making the last show a success. No other town in the state has been so advertised by its fancy poultry as Corvallis. Scarcely a show of any prominence on the coast has been held during the past few years without at least a few birds from Corvallis being the winners of blue ribbons.

The books of the association show about $30.00 on hand from last year, and the amount of interest being taken again this season insures a rousing big show for Corvallis this year. Some big special prizes will be offered, the nature of which will appear in these columns later. Last year Corvallis advertised "the first and largest poultry show in the state" and delivered the goods. Again the fall show season on the coast is opened in Corvallis. Our fanciers realize the advantage of holding the first show of the season.

The catalogue of last year's show was the neatest thing ever gotten out on the coast, and was printed in this office. A committee consisting of Henry Amble, J. M. Porter and Prof. McKellips was appointed to get up the catalogue for this year's show. It is the general custom of poultry shows to wait until intending exhibitors write for a catalogue, giving rules and premium lists, etc., but to keep up the reputation of Corvallis for "doing things" the Corvallis Association mails a catalogue to every poultryman on the coast, from an alphabetical list made up every year by the secretary, C. G. Hinds, of Alameda, Calif., who officiated last year, will judge this year's show. His reputation as a poultry judge is too well known to need further introduction. This year's show will have many new features. Watch these columns for particulars.

WINS FIGHT OF 17 YEARS.

Stubborn Man Finally Gains Point and Closes Toll Road—Conflict of Long Standing.

Lancaster, Pa.—For 17 years Columbus O. Rate, residing near the city limits, has fought unaided the Big Spring & Beaver Valley Turnpike company, whose road passed his property, and which he maintained, was a public nuisance. His victory has finally been won, the court having just ordered the turnpike condemned.

As far back as 1888 Rate first began condemnation proceedings against the company. The latter resisted, and a suit resulted, which Rate won; but the decision was reversed by the supreme court. Rate then refused to pay toll, and threatened to tear down the gate house, thereby inviting another suit to test his allegation that the turnpike was a nuisance and an unnecessary public infliction.

Again he was prosecuted, and won the suit in the lower court, only to be again reversed. Still unrelenting in his determination to close the toll gate, Rate, with the assistance of his neighbors, began an agitation for the exclusion of South Duke street. It was finally opened to a point beyond the company's tollhouse, enabling travelers to get into and out of the city without paying toll.

This was a practical victory for Rate, for the company's business was in time almost completely destroyed. The road was soon in a deplorable condition, owing to lack of repairs, and then Rate again took steps to have it condemned and the toll gate removed.

These have at last been successful, and the turnpike is now a free public highway. Nearly the entire length of the turnpike was within the city limits.

GOLD GOING ABROAD.

INCREASE IN AMOUNT TAKEN TO EUROPE BY AMERICANS.

The Marked Effect Upon Exports by Summer Travel—Amount Spent Abroad Is Larger Each Year.

New York.—The recent gold exports, small in volume as they were, are suggestive of the relations which this market bears to those of Europe and serve to recall the fact that one of the potent factors in shaping the course of exchange between New York and European centers is the summer expenses of Americans sojourning in Europe. This is an item which naturally does not appear in the reports of our foreign trade, but it is of sufficient importance to materially modify the balance of trade in our favor representing the excess of exports over imports.

These expenses of Americans in Europe go on of course in some degree all through the year, but the amount spent abroad is naturally largest in summer, and it is during this season that the effect of this particular feature of the international exchange situation is most felt. With the increase in travel to European countries the amount spent in this way by Americans has largely increased in recent years. It is of course impossible to estimate closely the amount of money which is annually lost to the United States in this way, but that the amount is large is universally admitted. On the other side even closer attention is given to this particular phase of our foreign relations than we ourselves give to it.

A New York banker who was recently abroad largely in connection with important exchange transactions, in discussing this question the other day stated that while in Paris he met a French banker who had made careful investigations with a view of ascertaining so far as possible the actual amount of this particular factor in the exchange market. The estimate finally reached by this banker was that the amount spent annually by Americans traveling in Europe was close to £80,000,000, or $400,000,000. This is fully $150,000,000 in excess of the estimates that have been current for some years. This is one of the things which explains why, despite the large trade balances in our favor, the New York market is frequently placed in the position of a debtor abroad. This item and perhaps an equally large amount annually paid to foreigners for freight and insurance charges on ocean traffic make up a sum which it takes a very large trade balance to offset.

TAX VALUE IS INCREASED.

Assessment to Be Levied in New York City on a Total Estimate of $5,912,156,227.

New York.—According to the final estimates of the commissioner of taxes and assessments, New York city this year is worth $5,912,156,227 and will pay taxes on this amount. This is an increase of $271,613,570 over the assessed value last year. Of this increase $266,125,522 is charged against real estate and special franchises, the latter, under the law, being charged as real estate. The balance, $65,488,038, represents the increase in the value of the personal estates of the residents of the city which the commissioners have been able to place on the tax rolls.

This increase will cut the tax rate of $1.51342 on each $100 of last year to $1.46885 this year. The reduction this year, the last of Mayor McClellan's present term as mayor, does not equal the rate in 1903, the last year of Mayor Low's administration, however, when the tax rate was $1.41367.

Andrew Carnegie still leads the list on the personal tax rolls, being assessed at $5,000,000 on his personal estate. In addition Mr. Carnegie's residence on Fifth avenue and Nineteenth street is assessed at $2,270,000. He will be required to pay a bill of $107,000 when the taxes fall due next October.

John D. Rockefeller is second on the personal list with an assessment of $2,500,000, and Russell Sage is third with an assessment of $2,000,000.

Unfit Marriages.

An eminent physician, writing to the London Daily Mail, demands legislation which will prohibit marriages between persons afflicted with either mental or physical diseases. He asserts that his investigations show that a large proportion of the inmates in hospitals and insane asylums are committed to those institutions because they inherited their affliction. "In savage races," he adds, "natural selection remorselessly cuts down the diseased, the race does not become contaminated, and thus a high standard of health is maintained. We, on the other hand, surround the weaklings with an artificial environment, and we struggle with all our strength against the law which condemns the unfit to extinction."

Tonsorial Geniuses.

Some time ago an English author, George R. Sims, invented a new hair restorer. Now Gabrielle D'Annunzio has distinguished himself by concocting an essence for the perfuming of the bath. The exploit has led one of his commentators to hint that "one sometimes feels his need of a perfumed bath after the perusal of his unperfumed works."

Few Quality for Navy.

There were 28 vacancies in the grade of assistant paymaster in the navy. For these positions 2,000 young men applied. Only 24 stood the various tests and received their commissions.
