

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

A special train will leave Corvallis at 7 a. m., Saturday, for those who desire to see the OAC-Multnomah game. Round-trip, $2.

The case of August Fisher vs. J. K. Berry, that was on the docket for the November term of circuit court, has been settled and will not come up for a hearing.

L. L. Brooks returned recently from a trip through Lane county, whither he had been buying and shipping vetch seed on a large order which he had received.

Next Saturday, OAC will play Multnomah on the field of the latter in Portland. It will be a great game and will draw the largest crowd of the season for any game of football in Portland.

Logan Hays, who is now cashier in a Portland bank, came up Friday evening and visited Corvallis friends for a day or two. He is now back in the metropolis again.

William Leadbetter and children desire us to express to their many friends their appreciation of the many acts of kindness to them and their wife and mother during her last illness and their sincere thankfulness for the same.

Harry Beard, director of OAC's band, spent a few days in Salem last week, returning home Sunday evening that he might be on hand for the resumption of his duties on the opening of college after the Thanksgiving vacation.

We desire to remind our citizens that tonight occurs the regular meeting of the Citizen's League and there are several matters that will come up for discussion that are of an important nature and will interest them if they will but take the trouble to come out.

Jesse Taylor, who has been an assistant of Engineer J. A. Spangler at OAC electric light and heating plant for some time, severed his connection there last week and took his departure for Little Falls, Wash., where he will act as engineer for a lumber company. His place at OAC will be filled by William Porter.

Friday, Miss Emma Thompson departed on a business trip to Boise, Idaho. Just how long she would be away she could not say at the time of her departure. It is probable that on her return home her sister, Miss Olive, will accompany her. The latter has been located at Boise for several years.

The M. E. church was crowded to the utmost Friday evening to seat the audience congregated to hear the humorous lecture of F. Burgette Short, D. D., of Portland. The subject on this occasion was, "The Sunny Side of Life," and certainly was a credit to the able entertainer.

Recent real estate sales negotiated by Robinson & Stevenson: Three lots and house on Fourth street, this city, J. R. Sellers to C. D. Abbott, $800; Croft Bros. to George Bayne, farm of 131 acres, 3 miles east of Corvallis, $5,240; T. H. Wellsher to E. E. Kastor, farm of 60 acres 1 mile east of Monroe, $1,200; P. Avery to Mrs. Elizabeth Hansacker, 2 blocks in Avery & Wells' addition, $800.

W. P. Ireland has bought the grocery store of D. D. Berman, just across the street from Hotel Corvallis. Mr. Ireland is the father of Clarence Ireland, of this city, and came here about a month ago from Polk county. We bespeak the gentleman the same liberal patronage enjoyed by Mr. Berman. Just what the latter gentleman contemplates doing is not known.

The Presbyterian church in Independence has recently been repaired and remodeled and last Sunday was rededicated. T. T. Vincent, of this city, went down and delivered the sermon on this occasion. Dr. E. J. Thompson, who for many years occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church of Corvallis, is now in charge of the church of our neighboring city above-mentioned.

Prof. and Mrs. S. I. Pratt came out from Newport to spend Thanksgiving, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ambler. The professor also desired to attend the Poultry Show, as he had some Buff Wyandottes entered for exhibition. Every one of the birds received a place and the gentleman scoring them assured Prof. Pratt that he considered them the finest strain of Buff Wyandottes on the coast. Speaking of Newport, Prof. Pratt said that everything was moving along nicely, there being no vacant houses in that place aside from the summer cottages. The school, of which Prof. Pratt is principal, has grown rapidly during the two years that gentleman has been in charge. Two years ago the enrollment was 39 while at present it is 106.

Thomas Whitehorn arrived home Sunday from a trip to Portland and Seattle.

Mrs. Amelia Schubert arrived home Sunday from Oregon City where she attended a wedding and was the guest of friends for a few days.

Lost—Small open-faced nickel case watch on college campus or in city. Return to Ambler & Waters' office and receive suitable reward.

D. E. Matthews has added to the appearance of his jewelry and optical goods establishment by recently installing some fine show cases.

A. J. Metzger has moved into his new quarters, one door north of where he was formerly. He will have a very fine jewelry store when everything is arranged in his new quarters.

The Degree of Honor ladies presented Mrs. F. P. Sheasgreen with a fine lodge pin at a meeting of that body last Friday evening, as a mark of esteem of a departing member.

It is quite probable that there is a larger acreage of fall sown grain in Benton county this year than in many years past. Our farmers had opportunity afforded them by the open fall to seed to their hearts' content.

It is reported that some person, or persons, broke into the building of the Corvallis Social and Athletic Club, Saturday evening, and tapped the till for a few dollars. There is no very good clew leading to identification.

Once again Thanksgiving day has come and gone. In Corvallis nothing out of the ordinary occurred. Of course, there was the usual observance of the day for rendering thanks and many of our citizens have much to be thankful for—even the poorest of us might be in a worse plight.

Yesterday F. L. Miller received an order from Oakland, Calif., for 3,000 Buff Orpington eggs. Beyond doubt this is the largest order ever received by one party in this section for thoroughbred eggs, but Mr. Miller anticipates no trouble in filling the order.

Mrs. Ed. Andrews has been ill in Portland of late. Yesterday Mr. Andrews received a message to the effect that her condition was becoming quite serious and she would be compelled to submit to a surgical operation and would go to hospital last evening. He left yesterday to attend his wife.

The Oregon City Transportation Co. is now ready for business in this city. The steamer Pomona arrived in Corvallis, Sunday evening, being the first boat to reach this point this fall or winter. Capt. Graham was in command. J. B. Irvine is local agent for this company and assures us that he will make things hum.

A representative of this office who attended the lecture-recital given Friday evening in college chapel by Prof. Taillandier, head of the piano department, of OAC, speaks in high praise of the entertainment afforded. In every way the affair was interesting, instructive and enjoyable, as well as attested by the reception accorded the various numbers on the program.

At the regular meeting of Friendship Lodge, No. 14, A. O. U. W., held on Dec. 2, the following were elected officers for the following year: John F. Allen, M. W.; E. Holgate, F.; E. B. Horning, T.; A. R. Woodcock, recorder; Jas. T. Porter, guide; F. G. Clark, I. W.; W. B. Lacy, O. W.; Jesse Spencer, trustee for three years; Drs. G. R. Farra and H. S. Pernot, medical examiners. No financier was elected. W. C. Corbett having been master becomes past master E. Holgate, recorder.

In recognition of the fact that for many years Mrs. F. P. Sheasgreen had been organist and in charge of the choir at the Catholic church the congregation gave her a very handsome silver tea set Friday evening. She had been invited to call at the house of Mrs. J. M. Nolan where there was a luncheon and then followed the presentation of the service. The affair was informal and of an improper character, but nevertheless memorable.

F. P. Sheasgreen, who was up from Portland for a few days last week packing up and shipping household goods to Portland, sold his residence property near the Central Planing Mills to J. M. Porter, the consideration being $1,350. Sunday, Mr. Sheasgreen, accompanied by his son, Ernest, went to Portland to get things straightened about in the new home, recently purchased, preparatory to the arrival of the family some time this week. Misses Harriet and Mabelle Sheasgreen will remain here for an indefinite period.

Poultry Show Closed.

The poultry show held in this city last week closed Saturday evening. It is said by those qualified to judge to have been the most successful exhibition of this kind ever held in Benton county. The annual poultry shows, of Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Corvallis, are considered the big events of the season, for the above four shows are in a class by themselves, as all other shows on the coast place their entire fee at 25 cents instead of 50 cents. The latter fee brings out only the best birds in each class.

In point of numbers the Barred Plymouth Rocks headed the list with 52 entries. These were entered by seven different exhibitors. This show being the first of the regular exhibition season, some of the birds were not fully matured and another month will bring out many good birds in this class.

The Buff Leghorns were up to the standard of last season when this class was the largest of the show. Prof. S. I. Pratt is said to have entered the finest Buff Wyandottes ever seen on the coast.

According to the opinion of the judge the best buff chicken in the show was a Buff Plymouth Rock exhibited by James Wood, of Victoria, B. C.

Altogether there was more than 400 entries of fine chickens and in addition to this there were turkeys, geese, fancy pigeons, six varieties of pheasants. Twenty-five varieties of chickens were exhibited. In the way of novelties there were ferrets, guinea pigs, dogs, and a cross-pheasant—China pheasant and grouse. There were also two varieties of quails. A big white swan created much interest.

There were 31 Buff Orpingtons entered—a number from abroad, but the foreigners did not turn a trick which speaks well for the birds of F. L. Miller. It may also be mentioned that some fine Buff Leghorns were sent here from Tacoma and did not secure places, which proves we are pretty well fixed in this way at home.

The joke of the show was on W. J. Kent, who had some placards printed for placing on his ferret cages, the cards reading as follows:

PLEASE DON'T FEED W. J. KENT

Some wag added below the words, "or his ferrets." He took the joke like a man. We hope in our next issue to give a complete list of all prize and placé winners at the show.

Progress of Relief Corps.

In 1883, representatives of 16 states assembled at Denver, Colorado, and established the W. R. C., an auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic. It is now the largest charitable and patriotic organization of women in the world, the present membership being over 150,000 women thoroughly organized for patriotism. It has expended over $2,500,000 to alleviate the wants of the old soldiers and their dependent ones; it has built many beautiful homes for the aged and infirm. The Women's Relief Corps will never disband, for its work will never end. They stand pledged to perpetuate the memory of our heroes dead and teach the rising generation lessons of patriotism and love of country.

Christmas Fair.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church have decided to hold their annual Christmas Fair on Wednesday, December 6, afternoon and evening, in the Farmers' Hotel. They will also have on sale home-made candy and popcorn crisps, and will serve sandwiches and coffee. They will have a special booth for the sale of good things to eat, such as home-made bread, cakes, pies, doughnuts and other digestibles. Beginning at 5 o'clock a light supper will be given for 20 cents at which time will be served sandwiches, pickles, potato salad, cake and coffee.

In the Oregonian of Sunday the sporting editor chooses what he terms an "all Northwest college eleven for 1905" as football players. Walker, of OAC, as center, heads the list. Dolan and Root, also of OAC, are placed in the grand team, as tackle and halfback respectively. The second team picked is thought to be awful close to the first for honors and it also contains the names of three OAC boys, as follows: Cooper for end; Williams and Griffith, halfbacks.
