GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES.

Things are happening these days to incline one to the idea that there is a tendency toward centralization of governmental power in the United States. The latest movement in this direction is certainly interesting, or will be for some, as it is a unique proposition. It is an investigation of the causes of so many divorces.

Just why the webs which Dan Cupid spent so many hours of labor and love to weave should have been cut and slashed so ruthlessly by various judges throughout the land is what the government proposes to find out. The desire for this data is based upon the idea of more uniform divorce laws in the various states. In order that the government may accomplish its purpose clerks will visit every state in the union and copy the divorce records of every court within said state. In fact, much work has already been done under governmental orders in some of the eastern states, and a dozen or more are expected to arrive in Oregon sometime during the present month.

Automan will be the first Oregon county to have her divorce court records investigated and the investigation will cover a period of twenty years back. All features of the various suits for divorce, whether "just ordinary" or sensational in the extreme, are to be published in the reports of the Department of Commerce and Labor. The investigation was started upon the recommendation of President Roosevelt in one of his messages to congress.

We fancy that after the publication of these suits for divorce begins the reports of the Department of Commerce and Labor will be read regularly, early and late, and by all classes, even by intellectual people. It is safe to predict that the first few editions will run short—but the department will soon "get next." "A Thousand Nights' Entertainment!" Here is promised data which shall cause the glories of the "Arabian Nights" to fade into insignificance. Whether incompatibility of temper, the use of intoxicating liquors or infidelity shall prove the reason for the suit for divorce most frequently unearthed by the investigating committee remains to be seen. It will be interesting to learn whether men or women are the more frequent petitioners for escape from the yoke that binds.

SAYS NEVER AGAIN.

William Randolph Hearst says he's had enough. If he sticks to this sentiment there will be a feeling of intense relief experienced by the masses irrespective of political affiliations and echo will answer far and near, "Good enough!" Willie is in command of scant respect at the hands of his fellows, even among those who know him best. In California, the state where he made his home for so many years, and where he has great properties, he is blessed with a large army of decriers. Willie is politically dead, but he died hard and none to soon. Had one counseled with his nostrils he would have declared that political death has gathered the boy to his fathers some time since. On January 3 Willie Randolph sang his swan song, which reads as follows:

"I myself am not and will not again be a candidate for any office, but I am as much interested as ever—and even more interested than ever—in the promotion of the principles of the Independence League. It seems to me that we can feel satisfaction upon what has been accomplished. And it seems to me, as patriotic citizens, we need to care particularly what individuals put the principle and reform into effect, long as they actually be accomplished to the benefit of our fellow citizens.

"I believe that the league will go forward to further and better achievements and I heartily offer you, my friends, my best services as a fellowworker to those ends."

From the above we learn that the Independence League is to receive the heritage of "good will," that the singer of the song of the dying swan is going to strain himself in assisting the League in placing its mystic mantle here and there indiscriminately for the good of "our fellow citizens." Taking into consideration that because Willie dragged the League about by the tail he finally forced it to nominate him for governor of New York, thus making it a party to his political death, it will be seen that there is in his latest statements to the public much evidence of forgiveness on his part. Rest in peace!

"BRIDE OF THE LORD" TALKS

Tells Court How She Receives Messages From on High.

In Portland the wild ravings of the "Holy Howlers" still go on, and the Juvenile Court heard from the youngest convert of the faith a most remarkable story a few days ago, which is related in the Journal thus:

Captain Bailey told the court how he had found the child a few days ago trembling from the excitement of a religious frenzy, snapping her fingers as she held her hands high in the air and giving utterance to an unintelligible jumble of words that reminded him of the first babblings of babyhood.

"Tell me what you were doing and what this all means," said the judge as he took the little girl by the hand.

"Well I was receiving a message from the Lord," answered the child, her big, dark eyes looking straight into the judge's.

"And how do little girls like you receive messages from the Lord?" queried the court. "And what were all these strange mutterings—did you speak more than one language?"

"Yes sir, I was speaking Chinese, German, French and Portuguese," came the astounding answer with the studied accuracy and unwavering expression of a student of the catechism.

Even the judge was nonplussed at the child's statement. He hesitated a moment before asking the next question: "Do you understand all of these languages?"

"No sir," she replied, "but mamma told me."

The pretty little girl whose face and features radiated intelligence, then told the court how she and her mother had left their home in Los Angeles in response to a call from the Lord to act as missionaries.

"Did you get that call from the Lord, too?" asked Judge Frazer. "No," she answered, "but mamma did, and she always takes me with her."

The mother was ordered to keep the child away from the meetings, or the proper authorities will take the little one in charge.

Peculiar Story From Grant.

Grant county has a mystery. For several years there have been rumors about of strange sounds whose meaning has never been interpreted and whose origin has never been found out. People who live in the neighborhood of Ritter and occasionally people who live as far north as Long Creek tell of a distant report like a clap of thunder which is heard every winter. It is heard at irregular intervals through the day and night and not more frequent than once in twenty minutes. It sounds to the people of Long Creek precinct as though it came from the neighborhood of the junction of Long Creek and Middle fork and from the neighborhood of the Middle Fork it sounds as though it came from Three Mile and from Three Mile it sounds as though it came from Heppner. There is no explanation offered for the mystery.—Ex.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and tonic. It is especially valuable in cases of chronic cough, where the cough is not expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hanging chronic coughs, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, and chronic sore throat, and all the ailments of the throat. It is not so effective. It is in the lingering hanging coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation, and the blood-cleansing properties of the glycerine, especially in cases of eruptions, scurfulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood, cures skin eruptions, eruptions, scurfulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

Will be G out Meeting.

There is no doubt of the fact that a great horticultural awakening has begun in the Willamette Valley. While the special wave of enthusiasm which passed over the valley last winter seemed to subside with the coming of summer, it is now evident that there has been an actual growth of real interest in horticultural matters throughout the year, declares the Agriculturist. The attendance of fruit growers at meetings so far held this winter has been unexpectedly large. The coming meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society will in all probability be attended by a greater number of fruit growers than have ever yet assembled in the Pacific Northwest. The effect of the meeting will be to intensify interest in the subject of improving orchard methods and increasing the production of high-grade fruits and nuts in Oregon, and no portion of the state will be benefited more than the Willamette Valley.

NOVEL CURE FOR COLDS

Healing Medication that is Breathed, giving quick relief.

The fact that many people right in Corvallis cough and hawk and snuffle for days and weeks after they have been treated with a cold with the usual stomach dosing, shows how valueless are the ordinary cough and cold cures.

The right way to cure a cold in the head, or a cough and irritation in the bronchial tubes, is by breathing Hyomei medicated air from the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Take a few breaths in this way, and immediate relief will be noted. The medication goes right to the spot where the disease germs are and renders them harmless.

Graham & Wells give an absolute guarantee with every Hyomei outfit they sell that if it does not give satisfaction the money will be refunded. The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, while extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed can be obtained for only 50c.
