Two Girls.

Does it pay to have good sense? In an Atchison family there are two girls. One of the girls insists upon taking music lessons, which the family finds very hard to pay for. She devotes her entire time to her music and never lifts her hand to do a stitch of sewing. The family says, "Jennie is so ambitious." The other daughter will not take music lessons or study art. She puts up preserves, does the housework and all her own sewing and is a fine cook. The family says: "Poor Lizzie. It is too bad she has not Jennie's ambition."-Atchison Globe.

People are wondering why the postoffice doss not move into the new building, and the explanation is easily given. A couple of sections of the boxes have not arrived, although they are three weeks overdue from the East, and until they are here the fixtures cannot be completed in the new building. It was rumored that the delay was due to the fact that the heating plant was not in working order. but this is not correct as it was not intended to use the plant until spring.

There are two kinds of gossipers, both classes are genuine nuisances to society and an abominable evil in general. One class deliberately lie and ci.culate lies. The besmirching of reputations is their delight. The other class, but little better, takes great delight in delving in the past and reminding the present generation of all the forgotten saults and foolish errors and mistakes made by people who have since redeemed them by a life of their homes. Rev. Bush and wife honesty and probity. If all the gossips left Wednesday afternoon for Baker were transported the work of salvation would be a far easier task than it is now .- Exchange.
