VICTORY PRESAGED.

Undoubtedly there long did exist in the republican party much of faction and strife. This was caused by the conflicting ambition of leaders and would-be leaders, and was wholly personal. It was not, in any sense, and had not been the results of differences touching republican principles.

The rank and file of the party became dissatisfied, not with republicanism, but with the disunion among their leaders, and the arrogant spirit of boss rule which had largely gained control of the party machinery. A remedy for this condition was sought and formulated in the Primary Election Law. This law takes the selection of candidates out of the hands of bosses or would-be bosses, cliques and rings and places it in the hands of the whole party.

Republicans now have, for the first time, a ticket which has been named by the party at large. Not the fairest and most untrammelled convention that ever assembled in the state ever named a cleaner, abler, worthier lot of candidates than those now on the republican ticket. This is true of it individually and collectively, from top to bottom. Republicans have just reason to feel well satisfied with their ticket—yes, proud of it.

But their duty does not end here. The ticket, every man on it, should be, and we confidently believe will be elected. It is in an emphatic sense the republican ticket. Its election will prove to the whole country that the republicans of Oregon still hold to republican principles, and are in full harmony with their president, Roosevelt, in his courageous purpose to enforce the laws, curb and punish the lawless and advance republican principles.

The election of the county ticket will be a deserved rebuke to the false and impudent claim set up by the county democracy that their candidates for certain offices—notably for sheriff and clerk—are so super-eminently qualified that it is nonsensical and futile for republicans to set up candidates for those offices, and that their own party has no other men qualified to fill them. The election of the republican ticket will break up the practice, odious alike to republicans and democrats of continuing one man or set of men in office for many years to the exclusion of other men equally deserving and capable. The true American spirit is opposed to chronic office holding.

The election of the whole republican ticket is the only fitting rebuke that republicans can give to the "non-partisan" sham and demagoguery of Chamberlain and the democratic press. Republicans should be active republican partisans until the polls close next Monday.

The eyes of the whole country are fixed upon Oregon. For two years or more Oregon has been in the lime light before the whole country. Let it be echoed from Maine to Georgia, "Oregon is all right!"

The eyes of the rest of the state are upon little old Benton county, the home of our chosen candidate for governor. Let the victory of the county ticket be so complete that all the other counties shall applaud and declare, "Old Benton is all right!"

All this is easy to accomplish. All that is necessary is for republicans to vote the republican ticket without a scratch or break. Signs multiply and we are glad to record it, that this is just what republicans intend doing.

SEEN AND BELIEVED.

Republicans firmly believe in republican principles and policies. They see that Theodore Roosevelt is the most active president and fearless exponent of republicanism and they believe in him. They see that Oregon is a republican state and Benton a republican county, and they believe both county and state should line up in support of republicanism and the President.

They see that in the very nature of things there must be partisanship and they believe it to be their duty to be republican and not democratic partisans.

They believe republican policies and administration should be in the hands of republicans in nation, state and county, and they will do all in their power to place and to keep them in such hands.

They see a complete republican ticket naming a candidate for every elective office in the state and county and they believe every man on that ticket should be elected.

They see that every man on that ticket is a worthy, capable and honest man, placed in nomination, not by bosses nor special interests, but by the party at large, and they believe it is the duty of every honorable republican to vote for the men on that ticket and not for men on the democratic ticket.

Seeing and believing these things, republicans will vote the whole republican ticket next Monday. Doing this will elect the entire ticket and on Tuesday both republicans and democrats will see that the anomaly of a democratic governor in a republican state and democratic officials in a republican county is a thing condemned.

A PARTING WORD.

In closing our campaign we desire to refer to the fact that in no instance have we made an attack on the honor and integrity of the candidates placed in nomination by the democrats. As to policies we have been vigorous, as we have been dealing with principles and not mere individuals.

On account of certain low personal attacks made on republican candidates and leading party men we were compelled to meet them in a personal way. But in our personalities we endeavored at all times to tell the truth, and in certain cases could have been far more severe. We now await the returns of the election with confidence that the republicans will triumph. We hope that with the counting of the ballots all may end in peace and harmony, but if our respectable party men are subject to personal attack after the election we intend to champion them to the best of our ability.

Got the Wrong Idea.

From a very reliable source it is learned that E. E. Wilson, in his canvass for votes, is asking republicans to support him on the grounds that the republicans got him into the race for the judgeship of Benton county. Now, it is possible that Eddy has become so worked up over the matter that he does not know whether he was "forced out" by the democrats or the republicans. In order that there may be no doubt as to whom the republicans of Benton county nominated for judge, and whom they are going to support to the last ditch, we will refer to the result of the recent primary election. E. Woodward is the man they chose, and they will elect him. We are sorry that Mr. Wilson got the idea that he is running on the republican ticket, for he is certain of disappointment.

HAWLEY'S SPEECH.

Says There is Politics in Present Campaign.

Hon. Willis C. Hawley, republican candidate for congress, spoke at the court house Tuesday afternoon to a good sized audience. His address was heartily applauded at various times, and when there was mention of Dr. Withycombe as the gubernatorial candidate there was an enthusiastic outburst.

Mr. Hawley was introduced by J. H. Edwards, and beginning his address the speaker affirmed that despite theory of the opposition party that there is no politics in this campaign, there is, and the issues should be faced fairly and squarely, to the end that the best possible solution of these questions may be reached.

He spoke of the great resources of Oregon in its mines of copper and coal, its dairying and other enterprises and industries, of the power that is embraced in the Santiam river where, by the use of 12 dams across the stream power enough could be obtained in 25 miles to furnish electricity to light every town and farm house in Linn county, and more besides.

He voiced a conviction that the Pacific coast and Oregon are to see great and rapid development, and said he expected Oregon to reach a population of four million people.

In speaking of the claim made by the opposition as to "no politics" in this campaign, Mr. Hawley said that the government could not be maintained without political parties, and that a town needed men always who would fight for their party to the end that men might be elected to execute the policies of the party along economic, industrial and other lines.

The republican party, Mr. Hawley said, was founded in 1834, and the general policy of the party had always been for the uplifting and general good of the common people.

He mentioned at some length the railroad regulation rate bill, and the Sherman anti-trust law, the latter of which President Cleveland said could not be enforced, and which the democratic party declared to be unconstitutional but which was enforced by Harrison four times during his administration, and which McKinley enforced 17 times during his term. This law was for the protection of the little owned by the poor man, as well as for the protection of the much owned by the rich man, and which law was upheld as constitutional by the supreme court.

The Elkins act of 1903 was credited to the republican party, and its merits explained; the fight of President Roosevelt in putting through the railroad rate regulation bill was commended in the highest terms; a protective tariff met with the speaker's approval, although he said he did not believe that a tariff bill once framed should remain in force forever, but should be changed when circumstances and conditions made such a change necessary for the common weal.

Mr. Hawley said the republican party was interested in the good roads movement and favored national aid in the project of road building; the speaker said the republicans through Roosevelt and congress, had secured the tract for the Isthmian canal, which will, when completed, enable shippers to sell their fruit at a good profit in foreign markets, a thing hitherto impossible. A high tribute was paid by Mr. Hawley to the old soldiers and sailors, and the service pension bill was approved and declared to be not "charity," but simple right and justice to the old soldiers.

Other phases of the political situation

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficiency of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in soothing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, croup and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities. In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchitis and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English. Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. were touched upon and many points scored in favor of his party, and in conclusion Mr. Hawley gracefully acknowledged the presence of the ladies in the audience, and took his seat amid a prolonged storm of applause. He is a pleasing speaker, does not lack for arguments nor facts with which to justify his opinions, and his appearance on Tuesday certainly won him many friends.

An Important Sale.

The property on Main street just north of the Occidental Hotel, known as the Johnson Porter corner, was sold Tuesday to A. J. Johnson. At present the lots are occupied by the Gerhard bookstore and the Morgan printers establishment. It is stated that the building now there will be moved to the lots owned by Mr. Porter just south of Hotel Corvallis, and that the corner lot vacated will be occupied by a new structure which is to be a two story brick, not less than 56x100 feet, which will be used as a bank.

The consideration in the deal Tuesday was $7,000 and in addition to the 50-foot front, A. J. Johnson purchased of H. E. Hodes 6 feet additional, giving ample room for a splendid building, which will be a great improvement to Main street.

W.L. DOUGLAS

UNION MADE $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas shoes are better this season than ever before. This means that there has been distinct improvement in their fitting qualities, and in their wear. Each year gives us additional experience which we turn to account by constantly improving our shoes. Nothing is too small to merit the minutest attention.

Things which might be considered trivial in other factories have infinite attention from our workmen for the simple reason that the Douglas standard is nothing short of the best possible. If it were not for the immense facilities and the right motive it would be impossible for the W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoe to rival the $5.00 and $7.00 productions of higher priced makers.

Millions of satisfied patrons know through actual service that Douglas $3.50 shoes hold their shape better, fit better, wear longer and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoes on the market to-day.
