The annual souvenir number of the College Barometer is out, and it is a very handsome edition indeed. There are pictures of the seniors, and with each is given the student's nickname, his or her ambition, favorite by-word and failing, some of which are decidedly "cute." There are also group pictures of the various literary societies, others of the college buildings, some of scenes about the college and others of the athletic teams. The illustrations and general make-up of the number render it one of value and beauty to anyone desiring a souvenir of the OAC.
