TRAINING CHILD BURGLARS

Newest Devices of the Modern Criminal Schools—Reason for Establishments.

It has long been known that the modern thief or burglar trains children very carefully for nefarious work. Only the other day a trainer of young thieves was sent to prison, and such cases are continually cropping up, says the London Mail.

Most ingenious are the methods practiced by "professionals" to teach their pupils the art of burglary. Mere youngsters make excellent subjects; and as it is obviously of importance not to make a noise when "burgling," the lads are now taught to slide face downward on the balustrade. It has been discovered that, in order to accustom them to this mode of descent, special spiral-shaped balustrades are sometimes constructed, and before the pupil is pronounced "finished" he must be able to slide down a variety of these balustrades "like greased lightning."

Another common practice among the "burgling fraternity" is that of getting orders to view empty houses from various house agents. A number of clever burglars are worked this way. Dressed up as a country squire, the "master" visits numbers of house agents, gets orders to view certain houses, generally in terraces, as there, if he has a plan of the interior of one house, he has a "key" to the whole terrace.

He accordingly looks over the house, gets a plan of the interior and quits. A few days afterward his pupils enter the empty house, and, making their way along the roofs, enter whichever house has been selected. In the meantime the "squire" patrols the house outside, looking respectability personified, and when the coast is clear he signals, usually by striking matches, so that the boys inside know whether they can safely come out with the spoil. One match means "all's well," two matches, danger.

A well-known Scotland yard official a short time ago effected a clever capture in this way. He noticed a man, pipe in mouth, walking up and down a street in the west end of London and continually striking matches to light his pipe. Strange to say, however, no smoke emanated from the pipe, and thinking something was wrong, the detective concealed himself and awaited developments. A few minutes later the man struck another match, and in a trice a boy about 12 years old came out from the front door of an unoccupied house, bearing on his shoulders a sack with sticks of wood protruding from the end.

The detective "smelled a rat," and at once detained the lad, in whose sack, under the wood, was found over $20,000 worth of jewels. The "country squire" endeavored to make his escape, and the boy protested that he had never seen him, but it was afterward discovered that the bucolic gentleman was a well-known ticket-of-leave man.

As a general rule, old penal servitude men are the founders of thieves' "schools." Realizing that, as they are too well known to the police, their chances of continuing a felonious career in a successful manner are very slight, they have perforce to procure understudies.

Accordingly, by enlarging on the profits accruing from burglaries and pocket-picking, they have little difficulty in getting hold of boys with evil propensities. Weeks and weeks are then spent in instructing the novices in their new trade. The initial lessons are generally devoted to the art of picking pockets.

Additional Local.

Dr. B. A. Cathey is to have built immediately another house for rental purposes. It will be a substantial modern structure, and will occupy the corner lot just south of the residence which Dr. Dr. Cathey purchased last year of the Fiersteins.

The Oregona departed down the river yesterday morning. The trip terminated steambating on the upper Willamette for the season. The summer was very favorable for boating and steamers were enabled to reach this city for about a month later than during many previous years.

Born, July 5, in Portland, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wingate, a son. Mrs. Wingate was formerly Grace Scott, was a Corvallis girl.

Mrs. Dodele, familiarly known as "Grandma" Dodele, lies at the point of death at her home near Wells. Three weeks ago she suffered a second stroke of paralysis, and Sunday morning the third one came. Yesterday she was unconscious and the end was expected at any hour. Mrs. Dodele is 84 years old and for years has been a respected resident of Northern Benton. She is the mother of Paul and Felix Dodele, of Wells, well-known farmers, and of Mrs. Clum Reed, of this city, who left Saturday to be at the bedside.

Charles McHenry, who sustained severe injuries in a fall of 16 feet from a barn on the George Brown place a week ago, is able to be about again, although still lame and bruised from the accident.

J. W. Butler, of Alesia, was a Corvallis visitor Saturday and Sunday.

The improvements that Dr. E. H. Taylor has been making to his dwelling are completed. They include the addition of a new kitchen, porch and pantry, and add materially to the convenience and appearance of the residence. Norton Adams did the work.

Mrs. Maud Hemphill is improving the property on North Main street recently purchased by her. She is adding a bathroom and porch, building a new fence and otherwise adding to the premises in value and appearance.

Norton Adams has been awarded the contract for the J. Fred Yates residence, to be built immediately at the northeast corner of the property just purchased by Mr. Yates of W. S. McFadden. The dwelling is to be a two-story affair, modern and first-class in every respect, William Hand, of Albany, is the architect.

R. L. Taylor, the Job's addition merchant, is suspicious now of his son Jack, the popular tonsorial artist. It happened on the night of the Fourth, but "Maccabee Bill" has been keeping it dark. Jack had invested in a giant firecracker, or bomb, and, being afraid of the thing, he persuaded his unsuspecting pater to apply the match. There was a fizz! biff! pop!!! and "Maccabee Bill" has not been pretty since. His jaw is gashed and burned, his chin is singed, his hand is cut and bruised, and he is generally used up. Whether Jack's professed sympathy is genuine is a question that bothers the father almost as much as does the injury sustained.

H. A. Hoffman, who has been local agent for the O. R. & N. during the past winter, left yesterday for Portland for the summer, the boating season being ended here. Mr. Hoffman will remain with the company, and may be returned to Corvallis this fall.

Next Tuesday the grand lodge of the workmen in Oregon is to convene in Portland. Prof. F. Berchtold, who is grand master, will attend from this city. Jesse Spencer, and possibly Judge Waters, will attend as delegates from the local lodge. Mrs. O. W. Beckwith will attend as a delegate from the Degree of Honor.

Supt. Denman and family arrived home Saturday from Alesia, where Mr. Denman delivered the Fourth of July oration. From what we learn the gathering in Alesia on this occasion was large and the day ideal.

Clerk T. T. Vincent made a trip to Portland Saturday, and while there purchased a roller-top book typewriter of the latest improved pattern. The work of setting the machine up was in progress yesterday.

Isadore Jacobs arrived home Saturday from Portland, where he had been in a hospital for the past four months. It will be remembered by our readers that Mr. Jacobs had the ligaments of his knee broken while he was ascending the court house steps in March. He has had a most serious time of it since his accident and it will probably be many months yet before he can discard his crutches.

Senator A. J. Johnson arrived home Saturday from a trip through various sections of the Pacific Northwest in his capacity as national bank examiner. He leaves again today for a brief trip during which he will assist Claude G. Sch, his successor as bank examiner, to familiarize himself with the duties of the office. Mr. Johnson will then be master of his own time.

Mrs. William Schmidt went to Newport, Sunday, for an outing of two or three weeks' duration.

M. Ek and family left yesterday for Salem, to reside.

The W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church is to hold an ice cream social in the church basement tomorrow evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. An informal social time will be the order and the public is cordially invited.

Today 100 members of the State Pharmaceutical association are to be in Corvallis en route to Newport, where they will hold their annual convention. Friday night they will be banqueted at Hotel Corvallis by Prof. McKellips who is the head of the pharmacy department at OAC.

O. J. Blackledge went to Portland Sunday to purchase goods in his line. He was expected home last night.

Miss Ella Johnson is having a new sidewalk built along the south side of her property on Main street. A. L. Stevenson has purchased the residence property immediately west of the Dr. Pernot home. The place was owned by Mrs. B. R. Job. Mr. Stevenson will occupy the place, making it his permanent home.

To Water Consumers.

Corvallis, Or., July 5, 1906.

Notice is hereby given to all consumers of water: We understand some of the City Mountain Water Committee and some of their employees are circulating the report that the old Corvallis Water Company would not run their pumps nor furnish water for more than one month longer, and if they did the water would be warm and not fit to use.

In answer would say: We will continue to run as long as we receive money in advance for water. If at any time we see we will be compelled to shut down we will give ample notice so you can connect up with the new works. We will furnish fresh water if we have to pump it and then turn it back into the river again and below where we pump it from. Ample notice will be given to our patrons if the worst come to us.

Thanking you for your patronage and kindness, we are Yours truly,

A Tragic Fluish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea Dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McJzer, of Vancouver, B. C., permitted a little child to go unnoticed until a tragic fluish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure. $4.00 To $8.00 GAIN PER ACRE.

If you have 125 loads of manure to spread and you are going to plant 25 acres of corn or wheat, or have a 25 acre meadow will tell you how you can increase the value of your crop this year from $4.00 to $8.00 per acre or more than enough to pay for a spreader. We issue a 48-page book entitled "Practical Experience With Barnyard Manures," which explains the whole situation. Our Plan is not a theory. It is an actual fact, backed up by actual experiments extending over a period of 18 years. To give you an idea of what this book contains, we show results of experiments made with various crops where 5 loads of manure were spread per acre by the old method, and 5 loads by the new method, on corn ground. The latter shows a gain of $4.80 per acre. On another field and in another state, it shows a gain of $5.00 per acre, and on a clover and timothy meadow, a gain of $8.00 per acre. This Book will be sent free to anyone writing us. It is worth $100.00 to you, but it won't cost you a cent. If it doesn't do you any good, it won't do you any harm. Write us now and let us mail it to you. It is brimming full of valuable information.

The Smith Great Western Endless Apron Manure Spreader

Spreads all kinds of manure, straw stack bottoms and commercial fertilizer regardless of their condition. Spreads as much in a day as 15 men can by hand. Spreads the largest load in 2 to 4 minutes. Makes the same amount of manure go three times as far and produce better results; makes all manure fine and immediately available for plant life. Non-Bunchable Rake forms a hopper, holds all hard chunks in contact with beater until thoroughly pulverized. Endless Apron is one continuous apron, (not a 1/2 apron) therefore always ready to load. You don't have to drive a certain distance to pull it back into position after each load or wind it back by hand; it is a great advantage in making long hauls. There is no Gearing about our Endless Apron to break and cause trouble, it is always up out of the way of obstructions as it does not extend below axle. Spreads evenly from start to finish and cleans out perfectly clean. Hood and End Gate keeps manure away from beater while loading; prevents choking of beater and throwing out a bunch when starting and acts as wind shield when spreading. It has a graduating lever and can be regulated while in motion to spread thick or thin, 3 to 25 loads per acre. Light Draft because the load is nearly equaly balanced on front and rear axles. The team is as near the load as it can work. Front and rear axles are the same length and wheels track; beater shaft runs in ball and socket bearings, therefore no friction. Beater is 23 inches in diameter, steel turns over when loading. Machine runs in its own length. Simplicity. There are only two levers on our machine. One which raises the hood, locks it and throws the machine in gear at the same time. It can then be thrown in and out of gear without lowering the hood. One lever which changes feed to spread thick or thin, making it so simple that a boy who can drive a team can handle it. Strength and Durability is one of the most important points to be considered in a manure spreader. The Great Western has a good, strong, durable wheel. Extra strong spoke and rim, heavy steel tires. Strong, well braced box with heavy oak sill. Oak tongue, hickory doublers, malleable castings, gears and sprockets all bed on. Galvanized hood. Every part is made extra strong, regardless of cost. It is made for the man who wants the best, made in four sizes, 35, 50, 70 and 100 bushel capacity. Guarantee Should any part break, wear out or get out of order within one year we will replace free of charge. Send for free catalog, showing latest improvements. It tells how to apply manure to secure best results. Write just these words on a postal card or in a letter: "Send me your book 'Practical Experience with Barnyard Manures' and catalogue No. 1718." They will be mailed to you free. Do it now before you haul your manure or expect for any crop.
