ENLARGE THE LIST.

J. J. Hill, the railway magnate, is reported as saying Oregon should not attempt to establish manufactures. We have a good export trade for our lumber and flour to Asiatic ports...

It is probable that Mr. Hill had in mind the prosperity of his transportation rather than that of Oregon and the Pacific Northwest. That manufactured articles must be carried long distances by rail before they may reach a port of export...

If we have raw materials to export, why should we not manufacture them and export the product? May we not, here in Oregon, manufacture articles for export which are now made east and carried across the continent to reach our ports of export?

The facts that we are distant from manufacturing centers and that we have supplies of raw materials are strong arguments why we should put "made in Oregon" on as many products as possible.

Twenty-five years ago some of the manufacturing possibilities of Oregon were plainly set forth; time has disclosed others, and now it must be apparent to all that these should be laid hold of and made to contribute to the growth of Oregon and the prosperity of our people.

Let the advice of Mr. Hill add but greater incentive to the efforts making and that may be made to enlarge the list of things "made in Oregon."

WHY MEN ARE GOOD.

Why are some men good? Ah! Here is a puzzler. It is possible that there are a multitude of reasons. It may be that each good man has a reason of his own—a reason which he is at pains to conceal from his fellows.

In the generally accepted meaning of the word we consider that thing good which is of use, therefore, it might be inferred that a man who could make himself useful was good. It does not necessarily follow because a man is capable of doing a given thing well that he is a good man.

The really good man was born so and continual right environment kept him good. The majority of men make an effort to be good and not a few of them have a desperate struggle to keep within the prescribed limits. Great numbers of men do that which is right because it is right. Others do right from fear. Fear of what? Fear of the opinions of better men; fear of public denunciation; fear that to act unworthily will prove unprofitable from a business standpoint; fear of another world and possible judgment. These are a few of the considerations that prompt men to be as good as possible.

Thus, it will be seen that much which we call good in man in reality has its foundation in fear. Fear of the law is a potent factor in making men good. But we are all the better off for the the evident desire of the majority to be good, no matter from whence each individual receives his inspiration.

Let us make the best of that which we conceive to be good. Furthermore, let us all be as good as we can. One takes no chances on being good and this fact alone proves that fear figures in our goodness—fear of doing evil.

William Jennings Bryan, who evidently intends making a third race for the presidency on the democratic ticket, now suggests that a list of contributions to the democratic campaign fund be published. Very good. But who will attest the correctness of the list? Politically considered, this scheme savors of buncombe. In political manipulation Mr. Bryan seems to be holding his own.

Kind Words.

Few men have passed through more sorrowful experiences than O. V. Hurt, of this city. Commenting on Mr. Hurt and his troubles, and the manner in which he has met them, the Oregonian of Tuesday in an editorial says:

Any dissatisfied and unhappy citizen who thinks that he has a rough time in his daily life, and that the world doesn't treat him well, should pause long enough to consider the case of Mr. O. V. Hurt, of Corvallis. It is not necessary to enter into details as to the recent history of the Hurt family, for every one knows it; and every one feels that few men have deserved more and got less from the hands of fortune, or Providence, than Mr. Hurt. Yet he has complained not at all, but has met each new vicissitude with remarkable fortitude and rare devotion to his high conception of his duty.

Newport Is Awake.

A dispatch sent out this week from the city by the sea has some very interesting facts concerning conditions over there. It says:

One hundred and eighty-five people came in Saturday evening and 410 Sunday. It took eleven coaches to bring the excursionists in Sunday. The hot weather of the valley is driving people coastward and this point is getting its share. There has never this early in the season, been as many people on the Newport and Nye Creek beach as at present. If the travel continues during next month, this will be Newport's biggest season.

The crowds are taking advantage of the tide for sun-bathing at Nye Creek beach daily. There are no life lines provided, but it is considered reasonably safe on an incoming tide. All bathing is done at Nye Creek. The Newport beach, preferred by many, and being inside the bar, absolutely safe, is not opened up this year nor is there at present any prospect of its being made the haunt of surf bathers. The life-saving station is to be removed from its present quarters on South Beach across the Bay to the old light house on the Newport promontory.

George Mitchell Buried.

A special dispatch from Newberg Wednesdays says:

The last act in the Creffield-Mitchell drama so far as George Mitchell figured in it, was closed here today when Mitchell's body was laid to rest beside the remains of his mother. A number of old neighbors attended the funeral.

The Mitchells came from a good family, the father, Charles Mitchell, having been born and raised to manhood on a farm near Bloomingdale, Park County, Ind. After his marriage he located in Illinois and some 15 years ago he removed with his wife and a large family of children to Oregon, settling on a small place near Newberg, where a few years later his wife died.

Mr. Mitchell was always of an impulsive and rather an eccentric disposition and for some time immediately following the death of his wife he showed such extreme agitation of mind that fears were felt for his sanity. A few months later he left the children to shift for themselves, going to the State of Georgia for a time and later back to Illinois, where he was again married.

What Benton Can Do.

Every resident of Benton is proud of the county's resources, and has unlimited confidence in what can be grown in Benton county soil. The greatest marvel known of today inside the limits of the county, however, is a tree that is described as follows in a dispatch to the Telegram under date of July 16th:

A tree bearing 23 distinct varieties of fruit and nuts is growing on the farm of Thos Glaze, in Benton County, just across the Willamette River from Albany. It is healthy and flourishing.

Mr. Glaze undertook to grow the tree as an experiment, and by judicious grafting has succeeded in producing a marvel. He secured all the kinds of peaches, plums that he could and grafted them onto the trunk of a healthy, growing apple tree. All are growing and bearing. Then as a further experiment he grafted an almond branch onto the same tree and it also is growing.

Frank Hurt arrived yesterday from Seattle and will remain in Corvallis.

A letter received yesterday afternoon by O. V. Hurt from Attorney Will H. Morris, of Seattle, stated that the latter had decided to take up the defense of Mand Hart-Creffield, in spite of published reports Wednesday to the contrary.

While unloading freight Tuesday, George Cooper had the fore-finger of his right hand caught under a paint keg in such a manner that it was nearly cut off. The nail was torn loose and the injury was so painful that Mr. Cooper had to turn his dry over to Arthur Berman, Wednesday.

A. J. Johnson arrived home Wednesday evening from a trip through the valley and as far north as Vancouver. He made the trip with Claude Gatch, assisting him in mastering the art of examining national banks. Mr. Johnson is now free from all responsibility in that line of work.

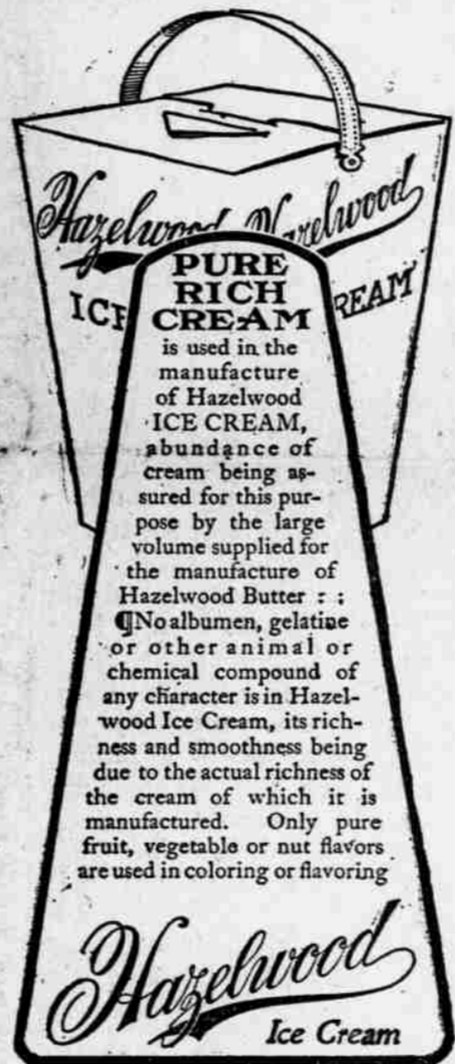

The Corvallis school board has rejected all bids that were handed in for repainting the public school buildings. These bids were for both work and material, but it has been decided to ask for bids now for work and material separate, and it is probable that the contract will be let in that way, the board probably furnishing the material.

Twenty-year Battle.

"I was a loser in a twenty-year battle with chronic piles and malignant sores, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which turned the tide, by curing both, until not a trace remains," writes A. M. Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less infidelity, this product has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Discarding this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published a treatise on all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of disease, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, and emollient and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery." In all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs, as will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

FREE TRIAL ON YOUR FARM OF A U.S. CREAM SEPARATOR

We know from our dealings with over 2,700 dairymen in the Pacific Northwest and from our own practical experience in operating the U. S. Cream Separator is the best and most practical separator for every-day farm use. It is such a well-made piece of machinery that it will last a lifetime, giving every day the quickest, easiest service. It is the best value for the money and we guarantee it ourselves, in addition to the guarantee of the factory. To show our confidence in this separator we will ship you one on ten days' free trial. Then if it doesn't prove as represented the best and most practical for your own use, you may return it at our expense. Hazelwood today stands with its guarantee behind thousands of U. S. Separators and there has never been a day when we have regretted having guaranteed this fine separator. We are thoroughly and practically familiar with the advantages and disadvantages of every separator on the market and we are handling the U. S. Separator because we know it to be the best there is. SKIMS CLEANEST—In addition, the U. S. Separator skims the milk cleaner than does any other machine. This has been demonstrated over and over again. The world's record for clean skimming has been held by the U. S. Hand Separator for many years. No other hand separator has been able to equal the record made five years ago at the Pan-American Exposition, and yet this record was lowered by the U. S. Separator in the official test at the Lewis and Clark fair last year. It will outwear any other separator, it is more easy and simple to operate, it is easier to keep clean and it will keep right on year after year doing its daily work, giving perfect satisfaction. PAY FOR ITSELF—The U. S. Separator will pay for itself in one year in extra cream saved over what could be skimmed in the old-fashioned way. If you don't believe it take advantage of our free trial offer and make the test right on your own farm. Skim in both ways and figure out the result in your own way. You will find the separator will pay for itself in a year. We sell it on easy terms and will take care in payment, so you need not pay us one cent for the separator, and at the end of the year the machine will all be paid for. Write today for catalogue and full particulars. Mention this paper. HAZELWOOD CREAM COMPANY, PORTLAND, OREGON.

$10,000.00 CONDON [Oregon] 6% Water Bonds. This is a portion of an issue of $30,000.00, all of which we own. Denomination, $500.

Condon is the town to which the Condon branch of the O. R. & N. Co. was built. It has a tributary country which produces splendid crops of wheat and a large clip of wool. The merchants of Condon get the trade of this district.

The town has twelve stores, three banks, two grist mills, four warehouses, three lumberyards and one brickyard. It is a prosperous town with a good future.

We bought these bonds primarily for our own investment. We will sell $10,000.00 in blocks of $500.00 or multiples thereof at a price which will make the investment net 4 1/2% per annum.
