CANADIAN JEALOUSY.

The ignorance of American sentiment displayed by our cousins across our northern boundary is amazing and inexcusable. A Mr. Drummond who was a delegate from Montreal to a "Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire," recently held in London, has been criticised somewhat for offering a resolution in favor of "Imperial preferential trade" in which he referred to the growth of trade between the United States and Canada as a danger which means our political absorption of Canada.

The Standard, published at Montreal, rushes to the defense of Mr. Drummond, and says he "had in mind the great number of Americans coming into Western Canada, with American ideas, without knowledge of, and certainly without regard for Canadian institutions."

The Standard then declares the policy of annexation "is as dead as Julius Caesar," but asserts that "the Monroe doctrine of late years has proved exceedingly expansive," especially in South America, and that "it might be found equally elastic along the northern boundary line."

It might be that the Standard mistakes the vaporings of a few disgruntled Canadians living in our border cities as expressive of real American sentiment toward Canada. The average American is not giving much thought to the destiny of Canada, and has no thought of acquiring it by any means whatever. It is true that in the event of war between England and the United States we might determine "to carry the war into Africa," and this certainly would have a powerful influence on Canada's destiny.

But such a war is too improbable to contemplate except by the military student. The Americanizing of Canada may, some day, induce her to apply for admission to the American Union, but Uncle Sam is not offering his sons any inducements to colonize in Canada, so it is plain she is in no danger, unless self-invited, from this source.

The truth is that Canada is envious of our material growth and too jealous to enter into better trade relations with us. If she would have the free trade relations possessed by the states of the Union she sees the way to get them. If she prefers to grope for commercial prosperity through Colonial, or "Imperial Preferential Trade," we are satisfied she shall. Many years ago we repudiated that scheme as applied to us. Possibly Canadians will find similar reasons for repudiating it. When they do, Canada's ultimate destiny will be seen from a different viewpoint.

It may be, as the Standard says, "the policy for Canadians to keep a strict watch on the United States and upon United States' overtures to Canada," but we would assure it that no American is losing sleep over the ultimate destiny of Canada.

INSURANCE.

When a person insures his property against fire he is entitled to expect that the insurance money will be promptly paid on the occurrence of a fire which causes him a loss. If people were not justified in the hope of at least a partial return of the losses they suffer as the result of a conflagration they would not insure. The policy of insurance from any point of view is purely one of cold-blooded business.

San Francisco sufferers are to lose millions of dollars on account of what they term repudiation on the part of various insurance companies doing business there before the great catastrophe of May 18. The companies refusing to pay justify their course by pointing to what is termed the "earthquake clause." All the details are not made public and it is impossible to tell how far the insurance companies may be justified in their acts of repudiation.

One thing is certain, the public will watch the adjustment of insurance matters in San Francisco with interest—and should profit by the outcome. All companies settling on an honorable basis will receive public commendation in a large degree, but those companies repudiating just claims should be forever debarred from business in the entire United States.

There seems small choice between the repudiating companies—they are English, German and American concerns. The average American will feel no pride in home companies that repudiate just obligations.

Additional Local.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyons of Medford visited relatives in Corvallis several days this week.

Thomas Taylor and son of Bux, Oregon, were in Corvallis, Wednesday, on a business and pleasure trip combined.

Arrangements are in progress to have the various members of the Corvallis Gun Club co-operate with the game warden for the protection of game. Good scheme.

Mrs. Harlan Taylor and Miss Emma Greer left yesterday for Clatskanie, to join Mr. Taylor, who has leased a restaurant at that place.

Riding wheels on the sidewalk at present is a violation of law, as everyone knows, yet nearly every day there are youths and men who ride on the walk for a block or two as suits their convenience. What is fair for one is fair for all, and if one citizen is amenable to the law all others who violate it should also pay the penalty. This is a gentle hint, and may save someone a fine, if heeded in time.

The sale is announced of the mines of the Lawler Gold Mining Co., eleven fine claims at Anidem, in the Santiam district, to a syndicate of Alaska miners, whose names are withheld, for $200,000 on a three year's bond. Representatives have examined the mines and are satisfied with the prospects. They will in the fall begin active operations running the twenty stamp mill and adding $30,000 or $40,000 worth of machinery.—Albany Democrat.

A fireman's hat, badly battered and worn, bearing an inscription that it had done service in the San Francisco fire and quake, passed through the city yesterday as a wanderer over the lines of the Wells Fargo Express Co. At every point the express managers and agents had tagged the wanderer, and one of the cards showed that the Governor of California had received it and that it was on its way for a visit to the Governor of Oregon. The hat will make the trip over the lines of the company and finally will be taken back to San Francisco where the fire department will doubtless retain it as a souvenir.—Albany Herald.

SHE GOT BOOZE.

At Independence, and Could Not Find Way Home.

It happened Wednesday evening, after the freight train arrived from Independence. Someone phoned Chief Lane that a drunk person was at the depot, and that worthy officer hurried to the scene to find, seated flat upon the platform and supported by a telephone pole—not a masculine tippler, but a female, so drunk that she could not find her way to her stopping place in this city. She is a transient, and when asked where she belonged replied with an oath that it was none of the chief's business. Finally she mentioned her residence, and was assisted to her feet and started homeward, but within a block had lost her bearings and Chief Lane and Nightwatchman Osburn were forced to support her on either side and promenade several blocks to her destination.

The scene is said to have been ludicrous in the extreme, but one in which the officers at the time saw no joke. A valise, saturated with booze and with one end knocked out, was carried by the wobbly dame, and odds and ends of feminine belongings were scattered here and there along the street and were gathered up by the exasperated escorts. A small hand satchel containing papers of various kinds was also clutched in the hands of the tipsy traveler, and as she frequently "stuffed" her toe and lunged forward the papers were waited on the breeze and Chief Lane exhausted his supply of patience several times in giving chase. When Officer Osburn remarked, disgustedly, that jail was the proper place for such persons, the female showed fight and David wisely subsided into silence for the remainder of the stroll.

The booze, according to the woman's statement, was obtained in Independence, and she claimed she had a gallon. She gave Chief Lane a quart, but one bottle had been broken. It is said that the female created all sorts of disturbance on the train coming from Independence Wednesday evening.

George Lanrel, recently from Kansas, died at 8 a. m. yesterday at the Leder home in this city, aged about 35. Deceased was a single man. Relatives in the East have been wired and the remains are held at the morgue awaiting instructions.

Don't Be Blue

And lose all interest when help is within reach. Herbine will make that liver perform its duties properly. J. B. Vangin, Elba, Ala., writes: "Being a constant sufferer from constipation and a disordered liver, I have found Herbine to be the best medicine, for these troubles, on the market. I have used it constantly. I believe it to be the best medicine of its kind, and I wish all sufferers from these troubles to know the good Herbine has done me.—Sold by Graham & Wortham.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. Sold by Graham & Wortham.

FENCE IN GAME WITH WIRE

Several State Preserves to Be Established in the Forests of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa.—The board of state game commissioners of Pennsylvania has decided to preserve game in this state. The plan is to establish several state game preserves on land owned by the state forestry department.

These preserves are to be inclosed by a fence with a single wire strung about three feet from the ground—high enough for small game to pass under and low enough for deer to jump over. Within these inclosures hunting will be prohibited, not only in the regular "close" seasons, but at all times, and the state game warden will be empowered to enforce this regulation.

The last legislature appropriated $6,000, which can be used for establishing the proposed single wire fences. A commission composed of ex-State Treasurer Frank G. Harris, of Clearfield; W. Heyward Myers, of Williamsport, and Secretary Joseph Kalbus, of the state game commission, will select the sites.

PEARL FROM THE WABASH.

Thousand-Dollar Gem Found in Mussel Shell Taken from That River.

Montezuma, Ind.—Emory Moore, while opening mussels to obtain bait for his trotline, the other day, found a pearl valued by experts at about $1,000. This is the second pearl found in the Wabash here within the last two months, of near the same value, the latter, however, being a much finer specimen than the former. Pearl hunters are becoming numerous at this place. A Wabash river pearl that is sold here for from $100 to $200, will sell for $1,000 to $1,500 by the time it reaches Paris, which is the best market. The majority of the pearl hunters here, not knowing the real value of such gems, sell them for what they are offered. The Wabash pearls are considered the finest of the fresh water pearls.

Sexton Mistook Day.

The inhabitants of Middlesex, Mass., were alarmed the other morning by the ringing of the church bell. Leaving their work, they seized pails and started, thinking that an alarm of fire was being rung. Investigation proved that the sexton had mistaken the day, and supposed that he was ringing the bell for the Sunday morning service.

Rev. P. A. Moses, of this city, should engage in potato raising, as the tubers seem to do better for him than anybody else. His entire crop, consisting of one lone hill, was dug a couple of evenings ago and turned out 37 fine potatoes. The combined crop weighed fourteen and a quarter pounds. The potatoes were Burbanks.

Rev. J. P. Conder of Portland will conduct a Sunday school institute at the Christian church, beginning this evening. There will be sessions Saturday at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. At 11 a. m., Sunday, Rev. Conder will speak on "The Relation of the Church and Sunday School." He will also preach in the evening at 8 p. m.
