MUST WAKE UP.

Wheat raising in Oregon, according to our belief, is doomed. Doomed for the reason that there is no money in it—other things pay better. Diversified farming, stock and dairying are the things to pin your faith to and let wheat raising go to the "bow bows." Too often men are induced to come here from other sections with the idea that they are going to make their everlasting fortune by raising wheat.

This is a mistake and leads to discouragement on the part of the new-comer. We want every one coming to our section to be satisfied with conditions as he finds them. A dissatisfied and unhappy man is rarely a good advertisement for any community, while a happy and contented individual is. The man who comes to the Willamette Valley expecting to engage in diversified farming, or stock raising, or dairying, will not be disappointed and will find conditions favorable in every way. He will be a happy man and helpful in many ways to the community in which he takes up his abode.

Not long ago a gentleman came to the valley and purchased a farm. He is a wide-awake business man and what he thinks of conditions here, while not in the least flattering to the raiser of the "staff of life," may be read by some with profit. In a letter to L. L. Brooks this gentleman says:

"I tell you it is up hill work to get an entering wedge where there are so many dead men; for you must know that there are more walking cadavers to the square mile hereabouts than anywhere else on God's footstool that I know anything about. All they seem to know, or care, is to raise wheat by day and illume the landscape by night with burning stow-stacks. Out on the miserable, mixed-up, Jersey and an occasional imported stallion and there isn't a drop of pure blood, or scarcely an acre of tame grasses, in the whole God forsaken bailiwick. It's a fact, by Jove!"

Suffice it to say that while this man's opinions are evidently strong, the probabilities are that he, like many others, has been essaying the laying of the foundation of fortune by the wheat-raising process. Furthermore, the man is evidently discouraged and it is possible that he has drawn too heavily against conditions. Bear in mind, also, that he does not reside in our vicinity, nor even in our county. Weigh well what he says just the same.

North Bend Gets It.

The distillery where potatoes will be made into denatured alcohol, in the Coos Bay country, will probably be located at North Bend. This will mean much to the section in which the plant is to be established and will undoubtedly start the wheels of progress as they have not been started in years.

Dr. Withycombe of this city visited the Coos Bay country recently in company with S. T. Clover of the American Alcohol Company of New York, and at the farmers' institutes held, the system of conducting such plants was explained to the farmers.

It was shown that if 75,000 tons of potatoes were promised to the company it would at once prepare to begin operations. The distillery could easily handle twice the quantity named, but was willing to start on a small scale.

Contracts were entered into with a number of farmers on a basis of $8 per ton for three years, the distillery to take potatoes of all sizes. It is estimated that at this price farmers will receive nearly $100 per acre for their product.

It was explained by the promoters of the enterprise that when the distillery was running at its full capacity it would require 87 tons of coal per day for ten months in the year to convert the tubers into alcohol, and this would prove a great stimulus to coal mining. Furthermore, a number of by-products would be manufactured that would greatly increase the payroll.

Brought Him Home.

R. K. Hunziker, residing near the C. & E. depot, is in a very serious condition, with doubts entertained as to his recovery.

Last July Mr. Hunziker was working with a team hitched to a wagon, and in some manner one of the horses became unmanageable and threw the driver against the barn with great force. When Mr. Hunziker regained consciousness he found that while unconscious he had tied one of the horses to the fence and was then engaged in an attempt to tie the other.

From the day of the accident Hunziker suffered with violent headaches and a week ago he lapsed into a semi-conscious condition and then into unconsciousness, and Monday, upon advice of Dr. Cathey, he was taken to Portland by Dr. Cathey and Adolph Leder, and two specialists at Good Samaritan hospital examined the case thoroughly. They finally decided that nothing could be done, and Tuesday Mr. Hunziker, Mr. Leder and Dr. Cathey returned home, the trip having effected no change in the patient.

The patient is 53 years of age and is the stepfather of Adolph Leder. With his wife he resides near the Leder home in the southwestern part of town.

Good Minstrels Coming.

The coming of Beach & Bowler's Minstrels is heralded with pleasure. It is now the oldest minstrel company on the road under one continuous management, and we are fortunate in getting a performance from them. This season it is all new, original and funny. The singing is as perfect as is heard in the very best of opera companies. The specialties cannot be beaten and are decidedly laughable and intensely interesting. The minstrel boys are young, active and up-to-date, and seem untiring in their efforts to please, and they arouse the spectators to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. They will be seen at the opera house on Thursday, November 8th.

Visited by Ghosts.

Forty ghosts, with awful, ghostly faces, carrying Jack o'-lanterns and moaning and sighing in a way to make one's hair curl in terror, swooped down on the Cauthorn Hall inhabitants at the dinner hour Wednesday evening. The coming of the weird company was unsuspected and as the ghosts entered the hall the leader turned off the lights and the forty white-robed figures began a march around the dining room, groaning and crying in true ghost fashion.

After a few moments of blood-curdling silence Prof. Berchtold finally regained his voice and made a brief address of welcome to the uninvited guests; Prof. Horner also offered a few remarks in poetical vein, and the company rallied and joined in a few songs, after which the ghosts filed out of the room and disappeared in the darkness from whence they had come. While no one was identified, it has since come to light that the ghosts all came from Alpha Hall and that among them were some of the most dignified of the college ladies—all of which goes to show that hallowe'en practices are not to soon be forgotten in this country, where fun and frolic are indulged in by old and young alike.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under seal. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nerve and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysterics, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.
