OF SMALL CALIBRE.

As a result of the recent severe earthquake in Jamaica, Kingston the principal city, is and will be for some time the picture of desolation. Governor Swettenham reports to the English government to have buried 500 bodies and estimates 200 more not yet recovered from the debris. Surely this bespeaks a condition horrible enough.

During the panic occasioned by the awful seismic disturbances Rear-Admiral Davis of the United States navy hastened to assist in every way possible the suffering and distressed of Kingston, also to aid in clearing away the debris and maintain order. That this assistance could be rendered it was necessary for him to land a number of bluejackets. They were not welcome guests nor valued assistants from the viewpoint of Swettenham and he promptly indited a letter to Admiral Davis which plainly indicated that the governor would be pleased to have the bluejackets kept aboard ship.

The incident has proved the source of almost universal attention and international importance. However, no serious complications will arise from the incident. Beyond doubt the only consideration which prompted Admiral Davis to land men was to render such assistance as was possible during that awful period of human woe. There certainly was no desire on his part nor on the part of the government he represents to intrude himself and establish any claim whatever upon British subjects or British soil. That Gov. Swettenham was not broad enough to perceive the motive of Admiral Davis is unfortunate and must be both embarrasing and mortifying to all true-hearted and broad-minded Britons.

From what is learned of the temper and mind of the British government it is more than probable that ere many moons Jamaica will be blessed by a governor whose name will not be Swettenham. Whether Gov. Swettenham was convinced of his own almighty power, his own potency, or was simply out of his head temporarily or for all time is the question.

In time of such great horrors as experienced by San Francisco, Kingston, and elsewhere during the past year the only thing which prompts action is "man's humanity to man." It is not the time to seek any advantage, commercially or otherwise, of a stricken people and any man or nation striving to prosper thereby simply brand themselves barbarians and prove themselves unworthy of the toleration of any civilized people.

WARMLY WELCOMED.

What a contrast is presented by the attention showed William Jennings Bryan on his first and last trips to Oregon. When he first visited our state about 1894 or 1895 few people cared to hear what he might say, but on his campaign visit in 1897 he was treated as a god and people traveled many miles to listen to his oratory. During the past week he has again made a tour of our state and everywhere he has received nothing short of ovations.

While there are certain ideas of Mr. Bryan which are not endorsed by politicians of opposite parties, in fact, even of his own party, there is no denying that as a man he certainly stands far above the mass of his fellows. Without good sense and great personal magnetism it would be impossible for him to maintain his hold upon the people as he has, for Americans are not easily fooled. Some of Mr. Bryan's ideas are good and he is living to see them enforced and worked effectively in many ways throughout the land. While we differ strongly with Mr. Bryan on some points there is no denying that he is the foremost democrat of the day, nor is there any reason why he should be decried or refused that recognition to which he is justly entitled. Bryan as a man is all right and it is hard to believe from his public utterances that he does not have the welfare of the country at heart or to question his patriotism. We are speaking of Mr. Bryan as a man, an American gentleman, of which he represents the highest type, and are not considering him as a politician.

For Hunters.

We believe every applicant for a hunting license should be compelled to pass an examination. For instance if he could answer the following questions to the satisfaction of the county judge, then he should be treated as an American citizen, otherwise as an anarchist:

Are you married, insane, or both?

Can you tell which end of your gun is loaded?

While suffering from an attack of buck fever do you think you could tell the difference between a red jacketed hunter and a deer?

Can you tell when a gun is loaded without looking into the muzzle or pointing it at a friend and snapping it?

When were you last examined for insanity, and were you ever an inmate of a home for the feeble-minded?

In going through a fence would you crawl through and pull the gun after you?

Both in range, which would you shoot first, a rabbit or a gray horse?

Are you a prohibitionist?

If not, do you think the use of intoxicating liquors aids you in seeing more game?

What kind, if any, do you use—squirrel or barb wire?

At what distance do you think that you could kill another hunter?

Do you shoot by sound or wait for the game?

How long would it take you to tell all you know about fire-arms?

Would you rather miss killing a deer than take chances of making an angel out of a companion?

Do you believe in shooting in haste and repenting at leisure?

Lastly, can you tell the difference between a Winchester and a squirt-gun?—Ex.

For Benton Teachers.

Superintendent Denman has had printed a large number of pamphlets which he proposes to send to the various school teachers of Benton county. He is also sending a circular letter to the teachers which in full reads as follows: "Dear Teacher: I herewith send you a number of descriptive pamphlets giving all necessary data and information to be known by pupils about the 'All Benton School Fair.' You will distribute these among your schools, so that one copy goes into every home in your district where there is a child old enough to enter any of the contests.

You are also requested to urge on your pupils as follows: 1st, Place this pamphlet where it will not be lost. Only one 'copy' will be allowed each home. 2nd, To place order of seeds so that they will be in my office, as indicated by pamphlet, on last day of February. 3rd, To use your best efforts to enlist the interest, co-operation and help of your pupils. 4th, The teacher will be relied upon to have their district or room represented at the fair. 5th, No letters are to be answered concerning the fair, when data can be found in circular. 6th, All pamphlets unused are to be returned to me.

Hoping for and expecting your hearty co-operation in this industrial fair, I remain, etc.

vantage of the opportunity to attend the farmers' short course and perhaps next year there will be a larger attendance from Polk and Marion counties.

rule never made a good stand, and the farmers lost the use of their ground and the cost of seed. I have made it a rule to get home-grown seed and see the land it grew on, so as not to get fooled. I will guarantee seed I sell to grow if it is put in according to my directions.

I select the seed from the best and cleanest farms, and sometimes pay the farmer more for the seed than the seed company are selling it for.

I do not know anything that will help the farmer out more than good seeds and pure bred stock. I will be glad to send anyone my seed catalogue and directions how to raise clover and altalfa.

He Lost His Prize.

Although Corvallis is a "dry" town except when it rains, there is an occasional bottle here and there, it is declared, to relieve the thirst of the select few who are "onto their job." Recently one of these bottles, belonging to Mr. B, was discovered by a certain laborer on the premises. It looked good to the man with the ax, whom we will call "Ready" for short, and after satisfying himself that no one was looking, Reddy grasped the temptation and dodging around the buildings, deposited the bottle under a small bridge across the road. With a glance about to make sure he was unobserved the thirsty one then hied back to his work, smacking his lips as he sawed wood and thought of the drink he would have later.

But no sooner had he left the bridge than a certain Mrs. W. who had watched Reddy's antics from behind a curtain, informed her husband that something had been stolen and placed under the bridge, and in the twinkling of an eye the bottle had been removed by Mr. W. and safely put away.

Reddy sawed wood only a few moments, when he evidently decided to empty the bottle, and going back he thrust his arm under the bridge for his prize. But no bottle touched his hand and stooping Reddy gazed with wide open, astonished eyes at the spot where the flask should have been. Convinced at last that he had been buncoed, he arose, gazed sheepishly about, dusted the knees of his jeans, and with a bilious smile slunk away, a sadder and probably a thirstier man.

Wedded and Gone.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in this city Saturday evening when Miss Hildegarde Trommer became the bride of Charles Beckwith, Jr. The event took place at the home of the bride in the northern part of town.

Promptly at eight o'clock to the music of a violin played by the bride's father, the young couple entered the parlor where they were met by Rev. C. T. Hurd of the United Evangelical church who performed the impressive ceremony.

The bride was very pretty in a modest traveling suit of gray, her bridesmaid being Miss Ivy Campbell. The groomsman was Guy Newton, cousin of the groom.

The ceremony was witnessed by 26 guests, all relatives of the interested parties.

Sunday a sumptuous dinner was served by Mrs. Beckwith, the grooms mother, 16 guests being present, and at 1:10 the happy young couple departed for Ritzville, Wash., where they will reside. The groom has a good position as engineer for an electric light and ice plant, with good prospects for advancement.

Both bride and groom are well and favorably known in Corvallis and a host of friends join in good wishes for their future.

Prevention.

The address Dr. E. A. Pierce, of the Open-Air Sanitarium for Consumptives, before the Mothers' and Teachers' Club of Brooklyn, might with profit be printed upon a leaflet and given into the hands of every mother and teacher in the land. It presents the simple methods of prevention of one of the most prevalent and deadly of all diseases that affects the civilized world, as well as the elements of a possible cure in the incipient stages of this disease.

The chief fact presented is that tuberculosis in its various forms is not inherited, but an acquired malady. A low condition of vitality, congenital or induced by depressing influences, physical or mental, invites the development of the bacillus, a small vegetable organism which is the active agent of the disease. "Anything that lowers the vitality so that the resistive power of the individual is below the normal standard acts as contributory cause." As to heritage, "the offspring of diseased or feeble parents inherit a general lack of resistive power and the more readily fall a prey to disease." Herein lies the danger to the offspring of diseased or weak parents. This fact, with others in regard to the care of children in school and out, is brought out plainly in this address, the whole constituting a letter at once practical end ideal, which, if Governor Chamberlain's suggestion that teachers be required to be given instruction upon tuberculosis, its cause and treatment, at stated times to their classes is acted upon favorably, would be a valuable addition to their stock of information upon this very vital subject.—Oregonian Editorial.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

To be Given at the Opera House Thursday Night.

One of the stage stories that will ever remain strong and true to theatre goers is "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a sumptuous production of which will be given at the opera house on Thursday night. There is so much of incident, jollity, tender sentiment, lively dialogue, and poetic justice in ancient Uncle Tom that it will be of ever undying interest to the multitude. The Stetson Co. is the acknowledged leader in the production of Harriet Beecher Stowe's masterpiece.

The cast is large in number and well distributed. Specialties glitter through the evening like stars in a wintry sky. There are two Topsies and two lawyer Marks, and each of the two pairs is better than the other, so to speak. The company comprises twenty-five people, including half a dozen specialty artists, a superb orchestra, and many colored comedians, who add much to the production by their clever singing and dancing. This company is to appear at the Heilig theatre in Portland. Watch for the parade. Seats now selling.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion. Only a specific for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. Coll., Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authors and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

Notice for Publication.

United States Land Office, Portland, Oregon, November 28th, 1906

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the public land states by act of August 4, 1892 Fred Fortmiller of Albany, County of Linn, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 7126 for the purchase of the s½ of section No. 30 in Township No. 10, south range No 5, west and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before County Clerk of Benton County at his office at Corvallis Oregon, on Saturday the 16th day of February 1907.

He names as witnesses: ROBERT L GLASS of Corvallis, Oregon; JOHN JOHNSON, of Wren, Oregon; M. J CAMERON, of Albany, Oregon; WILLIAM HOG, of Wrenn, Oregon.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are requested to file their claims at this office on or before said 16th day of February 1907.

GUARANTEED STOMACH REMEDY

Graham & Wells will Refund Money If Mi-o-na Fails to Cure.

You may ask why Graham & Wells are able to guarantee to refund the money unless Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets cure when no other remedy for stomach trouble is sold in this manner.

The reason for this is that ordinary dyspepsia tablets merely digest the food, while Mi-o-na builds up and strengthens the digestive system so that it soon begins to digest the food itself without pain or distress.

If the stomach is only given a rest by being a digestive, the muscles soon become weak and it is necessary to continue taking a digestive tablet after each meal. On the other hand, Mi-o-na used before eating, strengthens the stomach so that you will soon be well enough to give up the use of medicine.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box and makes positive and complete cures. The best proofs of its merits is the guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure that Graham & Wells give with every box.

Why Not Use Electric Lights?

Stop scratching matches on your wall. Those streaky match scratches look mighty bad on any wall. But as long as you continue to use gas or oil you've got to use matches.

The "matchless light" is the electric light,—a simple twist of the wrist does it.

We are improving and perfecting our lighting service in this city and can give better service for less money than ever in the history of the city.

The cost of wiring has been reduced until it is within reach of all.
