TRADE NOT AFFECTED.

The action of the mill-workers has not greatly affected trade on the coast so far. The lumbering interests are among the largest of the great West and are of particular importance in Oregon. For the mills of this state to close would be almost a calamity.

Thousands upon thousands of men follow logging and mill-working in Oregon for a livelihood and times and conditions of recent years have been very favorable for these men. But it would almost seem that the masses of men cannot stand prosperity, and with a little money ahead they become so independent of present conditions and future possibilities of a "rainy day" that they get mutinous.

Nor is this all—there is, it seems, a leader in every labor organization and in order for him to impress his importance upon those whom he is supposed to guide, in other words, to "earn his money," it is thought necessary at stated intervals that a strike be ordered. So Mr. Boss of the crew orders a strike no matter what his men are receiving for their services. Then comes trouble for everybody—possibly hard times.

The recent stand of the mill workers in Portland, and along the Columbia river has not resulted disastrously nor so far in any unfavorable way affected the lumber trade, and it is a wonder. The prospects for logging and sawmilling for the summer were never in the past any brighter than now.

Aside from our local demand, which is greater than ever before, we have a larger export trade. Then, too, the San Francisco disaster of a year ago created a great demand for lumber. The cities of Southern California are also making greater and greater demands upon the forests of Oregon and Washington. There is a splendid future for the loggers and mill-workers of the Pacific Northwest if they do not allow some addle-pated, flannel-mouthed reprobate to lead them into action to their own sorrow and the regret of others.

William H. Sherwood.

Corvallis music lovers were looking forward to the treat of a life-time last night after the Gazette press hour, in the recital to be given by William H. Sherwood, the world-famous pianist.

The program rendered by Mr. Sherwood was exactly the same as that given by him in Portland, as follows:

- Sonata—"Appassionata," op 57 (allegro assai, andante con moto, allegro ma non troppo) - Beethoven
- Prelude in B Flat Minor - Bach (Well-tempered Clavier, Book 1, No. 22)
- "Siree de Vienne," No. 6 - Schubert-Liszt
- "Traumerei" (Dreams) - Schuman
- "En Route" - Godard
- Barcarolle, op 60 - Chopin
- Preludes, op 28, Nos. 16-23 25 - Chopin
- Dialogue - Tchaikowski
- "March," op 91, No. 4 - Raff
- "Witches' Dance" - Mac Dowell
- Melody - Herman P. Chellus
- "Exhilaration," op 14, No 3 - William Sherwood
- "Isolden's Liebes-Tod" (from Tristan and Isolde) - Wagner-Liszt
- "Faust Waltz" - Gounod-Liszt

Concerning this great artist the Oregonian has the following to say:

"What a virtuoso he is." "Second to none." What bewildering technique and tone coloring." Few words, but they express the heartfelt praise that has been voiced by thousands of music-lovers as they reluctantly awoke from the beautiful dream in which they had been enthralled by the brilliant rendition of immortal gems of the greatest composers by the faultless touch of William H. Sherwood.

Vast audiences of musicians and music-lovers in the metropolitan cities of Europe, Canada and the East have been electrified by the brilliancy of the performances they witnessed by this great master who has such prodigious command of the piano-forte.

The event last night occurred in the Armory. The doors were to open at 7:30 and the program was to begin at 8:30 sharp.

Mrs. Chauncey Barclay of Irish Bend is the guest this week of relatives in this city.

Why Not Use Electric Lights?

Stop scratching matches on your wall. Those streaky match scratches look mighty bad on any wall. But as long as you continue to use gas or oil you've got to use matches. The "matchless light" is the electric light,—a simple twist of the wrist does it. We are improving and perfecting our lighting service in this city and can give better service for less money than ever in the history of the city. The cost of wiring has been reduced until it is within reach of all. If you would like to know more about it, call on us in our new office opposite the O. J. Blackledge furniture store or phone us, Ind. Phone 459. Willamette Valley Co. G. A. Clark, Mgr.
