OUR STOCK SHOW.

The stock show is over. It is the second show of this character in Corvallis and was a great success in every way. The premier show of the kind in this city was undertaken a year ago, when everyone was pleased with the result. It is safe to say that the show of last week almost eclipsed the one of a year ago. As a matter of fact, these stock shows should be made an annual affair. Should such be the case the exhibit of stock would be on a larger scale and the animals would look better, as stockmen would have a year in which to prepare for the event instead of but a few weeks, as has been the case during the period of our two shows.

Main street is scarcely the place to exhibit the stock and we suggest the selection of a suitable site and erection of sheds, etc., for showing and caring for the animals. The chances are that an early notice of the show and a knowledge that we had good stock accommodations would bring more stock and more people to our fair.

Finer stock than was seen in Corvallis last week cannot be found in Oregon, and in some instances it would have been had to have found finer or better bred animals in the United States. So it will be seen that this section of the state has become pretty fully awake to the value of fine stock.

The advantages of a stock show are many, indeed. A show of this character stimulates competition of a healthy sort. More pride is taken in the animals and they receive more care and attention. Perhaps one of the greatest advantageous features lies in the fact that the attention of stockmen throughout the country is drawn to Corvallis and they will come here to buy good animals. Corvallis as a result becomes a recognized stock market and every man in this city is benefitted. Let us determine to hold these shows annually and give notice to this effect right now.

APPEAL TO REASON.

Of all the damnable "rot" it has been our ill fortune to see in print the issue of the "Appeal to Reason" of May 18 is certainly the worst. It is the champion of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. It is revolutionary in all its utterances and appeals only to the baser qualities of man. Anarchistic ideas are advocated. It hopes to profit by creating greater strife between capital and labor rather than by words of hope, encouragement and wisdom such as would be calculated to establish closer and more harmonious relations between these two great favors in the world's destiny.

The "Appeal to Reason" boasts of a circulation of 287,292. Of these subscribers we blush to state that 7,039 are claimed to be Oregonians. That common sense is so lacking on the part of so large a number of our fellows, and mental and moral depravity so general and so monstrous seems almost incredible. Yet there are evidences which convince us that such is true, or very nearly so. Still, despite the openness of its revolutionary and anarchistic tone, its defiance of all established principles of law and order and good government, the authorities of the United States allow it circulation through the mails. This seems almost incomprehensible for all wise men must know that it blights the natural patriotism of the youth of the land, that either ignorance or purest "cussedness" rules its destiny, that from the character of every utterance it seeks to tear down and destroy our government, and that in no instance has it ever faced an issue on fair and broad principles. It was suppressed in Canada—why not in the United States? Are the minds, morals and manners, of our people less deserving protection than our Canadian cousins?

In the issue of the "Appeal to Reason" referred to is an article from the pen of Eugene V. Debs. In this article the benighted but unblushing Debs has the effrontery to offer "For President, William D. Haywood: Platform, Labor and Liberty vs Capital and Kidnapping." A self-respecting class would be insulted by such an offer, and yet this paper has more than a quarter-million subscribers—is this not significant? Despite the present quarters of Messrs. Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, in disregard of their woeful plight and the many crimes charged to them by the authorities and a self-confessed accomplice, Debs undertakes to compare them favorably with such men as Patrick Henry, Sam Adams and John Hancock. He would have them go down in history as martyrs, whereas, if they are not worse they cannot hope to be thought better than political agitators, labor bosses and the lowest and least worthy class of "undesirable" citizens.

In concluding his reprehensible article; Debs says: "For fifteen months William D. Haywood, in Ada county jail, ready to die for the working class, has proved himself worthy to live for his class in the white house of the republic." Yea! Verily worthy to live for "his" class, but we sincerely hope that "his" class will not be confounded with honest men and women be they capitalists or working people. Are we so far ahead of Russia?

Some of the events for the Fourth of July celebration will be: Ladies' foot race, with $1.50 box of bonbons as a prize from M. T. Starr's confectionery store; horse race, boys' race, 100 yard dash, free for all; hurdle and sack races; tug of war, potato race, greased pig and other features. Gold medals will probably be awarded in the principal events. The business houses will close on the Fourth from 10:30 to 4 p. m., by an agreement of the Merchants' and Grocers' Association.

This is a sort of a topsy turvy world. No one seems to be satisfied. One man is struggling to get justice, and another is flying from it. One man is saving up to buy a house and another is trying hard to sell his dwelling for less than it cost, to get rid of it. One man is spending all he can earn taking a girl to a theatre or show and sending her valuable presents in hopes he may eventually make her his wife, and his neighbor is spending all the gold he can get trying to get a divorce. One man keeps a pistol to protect himself against burglars, while his neighbor doesn't keep one for fear of shooting himself or some member of his family. One man pays for his paper in advance because he can read it with greater relish, and another takes it four or five years without paying one cent for it, and enjoys it hugely all the while. Surely a queer old world this is.—Ex.

The armory was packed to the doors Sunday morning with an interested audience gathered there to listen to the annual baccalaureate sermon, the opening event in the college commencement week. The speaker was Rev. Jonah B. Wise, D. D., of Portland, who is a very sincere, impressive and polished speaker, who not only holds the attention of his audience but leaves in the minds of his hearers food for reflection and the conviction that the utterances of the speaker are from the heart. Rev. Wise eulogized Oregon as "a place where the pleasant things of earth are gathered together," and where men have the best of opportunity and environment to develop into noble, powerful factors in the affairs of the state and nation. A large mixed chorus, composed of the best vocalists in the city, rendered splendid music for the occasion, with Prof. Taillandier as pianist. The armory was profusely decorated with cedar boughs, and several ministers of the city occupied positions on the platform, and participated in the exercises, Rev. G. H. Feese offering the invocation, Rev. Handsaker reading the scripture lesson and Rev. Armstrong pronouncing the benediction. President Gatch presided.

THESE WON CUPS.

Great Success Attends Livestock Show in Corvallis.

Success far beyond the fondest expectations of the promoters of the affair attended the big horse and livestock show held in Corvallis Friday and Saturday. It is estimated that five or six thousand people were in Corvallis both days and the streets were thronged from early in the morning until the shades of evening fell.

Parties present from other cities and other states, and who have attended many horse shows for business purposes, declare the Corvallis show to have been one of the largest and best that they have ever witnessed. Benton county certainly has reason to be proud of her fine stock, proud of the big show, and twice proud of the energetic, public spirited citizens who made the event what it was.

On account of the condition of the books which had not yet been written up by the secretary, it was impossible to obtain a complete list of first, second and third prize winners in time for this issue of the Gazette. The Oregon Christian Missionary Convention will hold its 17th annual meeting at the Turner Memorial Tabernacle, Turner, Oregon, June 29 to 30 inclusive. This gathering will represent the 100 congregations of the Church of Christ in Oregon, comprising a membership of about 11,000 disciples of Christ.—Telegram.

There was a splendid game of baseball out on O. O. athletic field, Saturday afternoon, between O. A. C. and the University of Oregon side from Eugene. Owing to the stock show, horse races and various other attractions the crowd was not what it should have been, but it was a spirited contest, and resulted in a score of 6 to 4 in favor of Corvallis.

Very interesting services were held Sunday evening at the M. E. church in honor of its graduate members. Special music by a young people's choir led by Dr. Cathey, a solo by Mrs. Carroll Cummings, addresses by Waldo Colbert, Prof. Cummings, Virgil Watters and Prof. Horner, made up a program of unusual merit which was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

A change was made in the S. P. timetable, Sunday, by which the Portland train arrives now at 11:30 instead of at 11:45 as before, and the return train from Corvallis will leave here at 1:55 p. m. instead of at 1:10 o'clock, Portland bound. A change has also been made on the C. & E., by which the two noon trains depart from this city 15 minutes earlier than heretofore. The morning and evening trains run on the same old schedule.

LeRoy Gesner, whose home at present is in Salem and who returned not long ago from four years' study of the violin in Europe, was in Corvallis, Saturday. It is possible that the gentleman may play a recital in this city in the near future and in such event we urge music lovers to attend, as Mr. Gesner has unusual talent, has enjoyed exceptional advantages and will play the world's masterpieces for the violin in a most artistic manner.

President H. C. Atwell, of the State Horticultural Society, has announced the appointment of the following persons to serve as judges at the Salem Cherry Fair, to be held July 10, 11 and 12: E. L. Smith, Hood River; C. I. Lewis, Corvallis; Mark Levy, Portland. Mr. Smith is one of the most widely known fruit men in the state. Mr. Lewis is professor of horticulture at the Agricultural College. Mr. Levy is a commission merchant. This selection was heartily approved by the committee having the arrangement for the fair in charge. None of the judges will have any personal interest in the fruit entered in the competitions.—Oregonians.

A Forest Grove dispatch of Friday says: "A Farmers' Institute was held here yesterday under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural College. Professors Withycombe, Kent, Cordley and Bradley represented the college and J. W. Bailey, State Food and Dairy Commissioner, and William Schulerich, the well known dairy authority, completed the party. The attendance at the forenoon and afternoon sessions was gratifyingly large, but not many farmers were in at the evening session. Professor Cordley gave a talk on fruit pests and diseases, and exhibited specimens showing their work and making suggestions in regard to fighting them. This morning the party went out to Banks, where an institute is being held today."

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing hope to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ in the body, and that it is the seat of all our troubles, from indigestion to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot.

"Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, such as the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Wall Paper and the Sick.

"I am glad the walls of my bedroom are not papered," said the invalid. "Nobody but the sick knows how nerve racking it is to lie all day long looking at the wall paper that doesn't match. It matches well enough, you understand, for people who are well. They never would notice where the flowers failed to hitch or the stems met too far down the fraction of an inch, but we notice it and worry over it and cry sometimes because it worries us so. My wall is painted light blue, the color of the skies. It doesn't hurt my eyes at all to look at it. It doesn't worry me. When the curtain is down it is the very softest kind of blue, so gratifying that I fall asleep looking at it. Oh, yes; the only thing to do with the walls of the sickroom is to paint them light blue."—New York Press.

The Age of Fishes.

The normal length of life of our common small minnows rarely exceeds four or five years and may be much shorter, but there are few satisfactory observations on this point. No general rule can be laid down regarding the age of fishes or the relation between age and size. It is known that the salmon of the Pacific coast, which enter the rivers in such immense shoals, live to be four or five years old and then invariably die after once laying their eggs. One Japanese fish died when one year old. On the west coast of Europe there occurs a small fish which is like an annual plant—that is, all the individuals die each year and only the eggs—i. e., the seed—remain to produce the next season's crop.—St. Nicholas.
