

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Frank Spencer returned Friday from a visit to Portland.

Wesley Edwards is having his house repainted, Sam Kerr being the artist.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Porter returned Thursday evening from a visit in Portland.

Miss Adelaide Withycombe of Portland is a guest of her brother John, in this city.

A. J. Johnson has been on a business trip to Burns, Eastern Oregon, the past week.

Grover Cate arrived Friday from Hillsboro and is the guest of friends until after commencement.

Lewis Fischer of Silverton came over Friday for the horse show and to visit over Sunday at home.

John Hammersley came out from Alsea, Friday, to attend to business and see the big livestock show.

Tom Eaton has arrived from Moro, Eastern Oregon, for a visit with his sister, Mrs. C. D. Abbott.

Miss Ryth Gatch of Salem is a guest at the home of her grandparents, President and Mrs. T. M. Gatch.

Henry Cumming and Chauncey LeVee attended the state convention of rural mail carriers in Portland, the last of the week.

James Hunt of Woodburn has been the guest the past few days of his cousin, Conductor Tom Riley, and wife, in this city.

Miss Lillian Earnest of this city, who is spending the summer with her parents at Five Rivers, has been visiting friends here for the past few days.

Miss Leona Webber, an old Corvallis girl, arrived Saturday and until after commencement will be the guest of Miss Mary Danneman and other friends.

The annual "Junior" hop of OAC occurred at the armory, Saturday night. Music was furnished by the Peerless orchestra of Salem and a splendid time was had. The patronesses were: Mrs. A. J. Johnson, Mrs. J. K. Weatherford, Mrs. Thomas Gatch and Mrs. C. M. McKellips.

Amble & Watters last week sold the M. M. Davis residence property in this city to Gus Harding. The consideration was $3000. Possession will be given at the opening of college next fall. Mr. Davis and family will spend the summer at Newport and will probably take up their residence in Eugene. Corvallis regrets their loss.

Long & Cross who have the contract for the galvanized iron cornice work on the big dormitory now being built for the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis, have completed the shop work on the same and have it all ready for transportation. They have contracted with E. W. Pollock, the drayman, to haul it overland to Corvallis and he will take his first load today. There are several loads of it and they have it stored about town in barns.—Friday's Eugene Register.

In honor of their guest, Miss Margaret Herron of Irish Bend, Misses Cleo and Zeeta Johnson entertained in a delightfully informal manner Friday evening. Games, music and conversation fill the hours with pleasure, and a tempting collation was served. Those present were: Misses Cleo and Zeeta Johnson, Margaret Herron, Edith Keady, Georgia White; Messrs. Linwood Ruffell, Marshall Laville, Sherman Chappell, Russell McCully and Otho Crawford.

The latest real estate transfers filed for record are: David Whaley to Archibald Black 93 acres near Philomath, $5200; M. J. Wells to Blanche Prather, lots 7 and 8 bl. L. Chase's addition to Corvallis, $400; H. C. Wyatt to E. B. Becker, lot 44 bl. 13, Philomath, $150; Philomath College to J. H. Merryman, lots 165 and 166 bl. 43, Philomath, $150; M. Scheiera to W. S. Burnav, lots 3 and 4 bl. 29, County addition to Corvallis, $2200; Mary Richet to Frank Richet, 120 acres near Wells, $1.00

The town is full of strangers, old students and former residents, all gathered here this week for the annual event of special interest at OAC—commencement. It is a pleasure to Corvallis to welcome these visitors, and to clasp hands with the old time students who are not forgotten by any means, even though their places at OAC have been filled by new faces. It is a merry time, a busy time, and in a measure a sad time for Corvallis, for the young men and women who leave as graduates, never to return, have become endeared to many friends in this city and their departure will be generally regretted. Then, welcome, visitors! and good-bye, students! May you remember old Corvallis kindly and visit her often in the years to come.

Born, Friday morning, to Mr. and Mrs. William Burrell, a daughter.

E. A. Willoughby of Eddyville transacted business in Corvallis, Friday.

Mrs. Clarence Vidito came over from Newport the last of the week for a brief visit.

Miss Kate Adamson of OAC visited Miss Mary Owen in Eugene the last of the week.

Dr. Melvin Evans of Creswell was a Corvallis visitor last week. He is a brother of Mrs. Claude Starr.

F. W. Bunker, a brother of Mrs. J. E. Cronk, arrived the last of the week from New Lisbon, Illinois, for a visit in Corvallis.

Mrs. Jesse Spencer is still in Portland, and the last of the week decided to enter Good Samaritan hospital for treatment.

An exchange says: "The tiny spiders may be removed from rose bushes by washing them carefully in warm soapsuds." Wash which the spiders or the bushes?

Mrs. Mary Whitby arrived home Friday, from Portland, where she has been visiting since the close of the State Grange at Hood River, which she attended as a delegate.

The new postoffice is to be fitted with new awnings, and the skylights will be provided with shades. All these have been ordered of O. J. Blackledge and will arrive shortly.

Miss Alice Watters celebrated her 12th birthday, Thursday, by giving a party to a number of her young friends, in the afternoon. Games and refreshments made up an afternoon of great happiness to all present.

Frank Sayers of Eastern Oregon arrived in Corvallis, Friday, after an absence of 28 years. He owns a ranch near Arlington and has occupied the same place for 20 years. Mr. Sayers is well known to old timers in this city, where he will visit for an indefinite period. He says he hardly knows Corvallis, so great is the change in the city.

Some excitement was caused Friday afternoon near the Johnson millinery store, when Mark Rickard's new automobile frightened a driving horse, causing it to throw itself. The crowd quickly gathered at that corner, but after unhitching the animal it was found that not a particle of damage had resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Webster who visited in Corvallis recently, leaving here about two weeks ago, have purchased property and located in Portland. They came from Chicago on a visit to Mrs. Anna Mills, who is Mr. Webster's sister, and after remaining a few weeks they became so deeply in love with Oregon that nothing could induce them to return to their old home.

Ellsworth Prindle came from beyond Five Rivers, Thursday, to Corvallis, a distance all told of 60 miles, to receive medical attention for a badly cut foot, only to find upon arrival that not a solitary doctor was in Corvallis, all of them having gone to Lebanon on the evening train to attend a meeting of the Medical Association. Mr. Prindle cut his foot about a month ago and it seemed to be doing well enough until a few days ago when it became so painful that he came to this city. The physicians arrived home on the early morning train Friday, and the injured man has been carefully attended.

One of the most beautiful display of roses ever seen in Corvallis outside of a rose show was seen at E. B. Horning's grocery store, Friday and Saturday. Roses of exquisite fragrance and color, large, small, and medium, and of every hue and variety known to man, apparently, were there, artistically arranged in tall vases, the display occupying three long shelves and two show windows and attracting the admiration and attention of all passersby. One lady, a new arrival from the East, viewed the display with ecstasy, and was utterly amazed when, in reply to a question, she was assured that these beautiful blossoms, actually "grew outdoor."

One of our exchanges says: "Every family should have a curfew, which positively should 'ring to-night' and every night if needed. These curfews are inexpensive and can be made at home. Take a piece of siding two feet long and whittle one end down to a handle; then take the child that needs the curfew and bend him over a barrel. Now take the piece of siding in the hand and use it for a clapper. Put it on hot. Divide the strokes evenly and see that none miss. Good for a boy or girl up to the age of sixteen, and applications are warranted to cure the most severe case of street loafing that exists. The music this curfew makes is finer than singing 'where is my wandering boy tonight?'"

Miss Vera Patton was the guest over Sunday of friends at Philomath.

L. N. Edwards of Bellefontaine was among the interested spectators at the pig stock show, Saturday.

Ed Andrews returned a few days ago from Eugene, where he went to visit his father who was injured recently in a fall.

Miss Marie Stahr, formerly of OAC, arrived from Forest Grove, Saturday, to visit friends and attend commencement.

The new cement walk along the south side of the Johnson brick is now being laid. It will certainly be greatly appreciated by the public.

Frank Lane came over from Newport the last of the week for a visit. His traveling companion, Joe Patterson, has gone to Humboldt Bay on a trip.

Mrs. J. H. Wigle and daughter, Miss Cora Nelms, arrived Friday from their home at Prineville for a visit with friends and to spend commencement. Mrs. Wigle was formerly Mrs. Nelms of this city.

W. T. and C. E. Small have taken possession of their handsome new building on Main street, which with its entire glass front and modern arrangement is one of the most attractive business establishments in Corvallis.

The recital given in the South Methodist church, Friday evening, by the pupils of Miss Mary Cauthorn, piano instructor, was attended by as many people as could find room in the building. The program was well rendered throughout, and the various numbers reflected great credit on teacher and pupils alike.

If anyone doubts that the Corvallis stock show was a big affair he should have seen the crowd both days. In the vicinity of one livery barn, Saturday, 71 vehicles were counted, and it must be borne in mind that this was only one. There are numerous barns in town, and many side streets were full of rigs, all of which gives some idea of the size of the "show."

Mrs. Mary Bryson died in Portland at 11:30 Saturday forenoon. The remains were brought to Corvallis Sunday and the funeral occurred at the E. R. Bryson home at 2 p. m. yesterday, Rev. Bell officiating. Interment was in Crystal Lake cemetery. Paralysis was the cause of death.
