While at play with a number of little friends, Monday, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Murphy dislocated his elbow.

Major Frank Edwards and family returned yesterday from Eugene, where they had been to attend the annual reunion of the Rinehart family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Eaton departed Wednesday for their home at Wasco, after a week's visit with the former's sister, Mrs. C. D. Abbott.

Ernest Hudson of OAC and his sister, Miss Della, who had been visiting him, left Tuesday for their home at Milton, Oregon.

Miss Nellie Cameron left Tuesday for Portland, en route to Union for a visit with relatives. From there she goes to Jamestown for a visit to the exposition.

Miss Edna Sheehy, head of the OAC vocal department, left this week for Washington, D. C., where she will spend the summer at her home.

Clarence Whiteside has become a partner in the bicycle shop with M. M. Long. Both young men are deserving of liberal patronage and will no doubt receive it from the public.

Rev. Edward Forrest Green, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in this city, arrived Tuesday from Ashland to perform the ceremony at the von der Hellen-Huff wedding on Wednesday.

Charley Overlander arrived in Corvallis, Tuesday, from his ranch on Big Elk and is to remain for a few days. Several weeks ago, Charley had the misfortune to dislocate one of his ankles and is still suffering from the accident.

There will be a public unveiling of a monument erected by the Grand Circle Women of Woodcraft, in memory of neighbor Maranda Alford at Newton cemetery, Sunday, at 2:30 p. m., by Philomath Circle No. 488. Neighbors, Circles, relatives and friends are cordially invited to attend.

William Cameron of Little Medicine, Colorado, accompanied by Mr. Bishop, a neighbor, paid Corvallis a visit the first of this week. The former is a brother of Amy Cameron of this city, but the two had not met before in about 35 years. Mr. Cameron has returned to Colorado to sell his property, when he will come to the Willamette Valley to reside. Accompanied by Mr. Bishop he departed for home, Tuesday.

Friends in Corvallis have received news that Elmer P. Jackson, formerly of OAC, is to be married to Edith Agnes Hall at Westford, Vermont, next Wednesday. Mr. Jackson is a graduate of OAC and after leaving his alma mater was engaged to return to take charge of the woodwork department to fill the unexpired term of another instructor. Later he went East and prepared himself for more advanced work, with the result that he is now drawing a salary of $2000 per year at Westford, Vermont, where he is employed.

There was a pretty wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Tom, in this city, Tuesday evening, when Miss Ruoy Tom was united in marriage to W. W. McKenzie of Portland. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by T. T. Vincent in the presence of relatives and a few immediate friends. The bride wore a pretty white costume and carried a bouquet of lilies. The bride's maid was Miss Jennie Tom, and Albert Tedrow was groomsmen. The rooms were beautifully decorated with Oregon grape, carnations and lilies. After congratulations had been extended the party partook of a tempting luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left Wednesday for Portland to reside. The groom was at one time an OAC student and the bride is an estimable young woman of this city. They are followed by the good wishes of many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Milne went to Portland, Wednesday, for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goodman expected to go to Lebanon yesterday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Underwood.

Miss Louise Irwin is to go to Portland tomorrow or Monday for a visit with friends. She will be absent until after the fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Swann and son Claude returned Wednesday from a visit with relatives at Brownsville. Incidentally, they "took in" the pioneer picnic.

Dr. Kerr, the new president of OAC, arrived Monday and will remain in this city. The other members of the family are in Portland, and will join Dr. Kerr in a short time.

The Pacific Squadron, led by the flagship "Charleston," Admiral Swinburne commanding, will be in Portland Harbor during the present week, in attendance upon the festivities.

Rev. J. R. N. Bell of this city is to deliver the sermon to the graduating class of the Monmouth Normal college, Sunday, June 30th, at 10 a. m. It is safe to say the audience will be pleased with the effort, as Dr. Bell is one of the most eloquent preachers in Oregon.

Warren Hinton, who was so seriously injured in a 20-foot fall at the Booneville mill, last week, is resting as comfortably as could be expected and is somewhat improved. It is hoped he will continue to mend and that his entire recovery may be speedy.

Rev. C. O. Pressnell will occupy the pulpit of the First Methodist church, Sunday morning. The pastor's subject in the evening will be "The Rose of Sharon; Lessons from the Rose." The public is cordially invited to attend both services.

Communion and social services at the Christian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday School at the usual hour. There will be no preaching service in the evening on account of the absence of the pastor who is attending the annual missionary convention at Turner.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church has elected the Misses Julia Fuller, Maui Mattley and Ina True delegates to the International C. E. convention in Seattle, July 10-15. To help defray the expenses of the delegates, C. M. Coffey will give the society ten per cent of all work done at his photograph gallery, July 2nd. The society will also serve refreshments on July 4th.

Work is in progress on the interior of the Corvallis opera house and great improvements are to be wrought therein. Manager Groves is one of the progressive, up-to-the-minute sort of business men and it is his intention to so change and improve his play house that it will rank with the best in the state outside of Portland. First class plays will be booked, and the public will be given such entertainment in this line as has never before been afforded in Corvallis. The floor is to be raised, among other changes, and when completed the house will be a credit to both Manager Groves and the town.

The annual campmeeting of the Spiritualists occurs at New Era next month, beginning July 6th and closing on the 28th. The program has just been issued, and for the benefit of those of our readers who may wish to attend, it is here given, these being the various lecturers who will appear: 1st Sunday, Mrs. Jessie Flint, Corvallis, 10:30; Mr. Bowman, 2; Mrs. Cobb, 8; 2nd Sunday, Mr. Bowman, 10:30; Mrs. Prior, 2; 3rd Sunday, Mrs. Prior, 10:30; Mr. Bowman, 8; 4th Sunday, Portland Day; Wednesday, July 17, Ladies' Day; Wednesday, July 24, Children's Day.

W. L. Hatch left Monday for his home at Cecil, North Dakota, where he will at once seek to sell his property preparatory to returning to Benton county to reside. Mr. Hatch came to Corvallis as a direct result of work done by the Benton County Citizens' League in sending him literature and personal letters; he spent several days in this city and will return here to make his home, having found things entirely to his liking and exactly as represented by the League. Mr. Hatch is but one of the many in whose coming to Benton the League has figured, and that organization certainly deserves the thanks of the community for the splendid work it is doing and has already done. In this connection it might not be amiss to add that John Allen, secretary of the League, was one of the chief promoters of the recent livestock show, having personally gone out on the canvass for subscriptions and having been about the first to agitate the subject this spring. "Honor to whom honor is due."

Thad and Janet Blackledge went to Bellefontain, Wednesday, for a visit with relatives.

Prof. S. W. Holmes has sold his residence property in this city to Mrs. Mary J. Whitby.

Isaac Jackson and family have returned from Blodgett, where they have spent the spring, and have taken up their permanent residence in Jobs addition. The Blodgett farm has been sold to a Portland man.

The Portland Commercial Club's prize contest of $5,000 for articles on Portland, Oregon, and this part of the United States, appearing in papers printed outside of Oregon and Washington, is open to every resident of Oregon.

Mrs. H. M. Brunk arrived from Portland the first of this week and will spend the summer in Corvallis. With her son, Charley Shenofield, she will keep house in the James Flett residence which she has leased. Mr. Brunk, formerly proprietor of the Occidental hotel in this city, is now traveling for a Portland nursery company.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of Philomath College, Saturday, the following officers and faculty members were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. W. Stiveron; manager, J. R. Parker; treasurer, James Evars; languages, Ernest Castle; science, O. V. White; business, James Gressley; elocution, Gertrude Johnson; music, Mrs. O. V. White; mathematics, to be supplied. Miss Teresa McDonald resigned the chair of languages to attend an institute in the East and J. C. Goodrich, former professor of mathematics, will attend the Union Biblical Seminary, Dayton, Ohio.—Oregonian.

The very latest in wedding "showers" occurred at Albany, Monday night, and in describing the affair the Herald says: "A unique feature of the evening was a mock wedding. The bride, Miss Vesta Eastburne, was in an elaborate creation of blue calico over which was draped a window curtain of the latest design. She carried a cake of soap. Miss Grace Swank, as groom was attired in an unconventional color. Miss Anna Corbett officiated as minister, and tied the knot fast. Miss Alma Elkins was bride's maid, and wore a costume of deepest black. Miss Kauffman was best man. Refreshments were served."

An Oregonian dispatch from Corvallis, Wednesday, says: "The OAC football team next fall will have a trip to Los Angeles as a part of the schedule for the season. The game there will be with St. Vincent's College, and Manager Greenhaw has an offer to make the arrangement permanent. The trip is arranged to take place during the Thanksgiving holidays, so that no time will be lost from class work, the game to take place on Thanksgiving day in Los Angeles. Though the contract has not been signed, it is expected that the schedule will also include a trip to Pullman for a game with the Washington State College. The game with the University of Oregon takes place November 9th. The coach for the 11 will be Fred Norcross, the former Michigan captain, who made so excellent a record in the development of a new team out of raw material last season, and who is accounted one of the best coaches in the country. Of the team last year, none of the stars will be lost, though there will be two or three vacant places on the 11 that will have to be filled from material yet to arrive or by development of men from the second team."

W. T. and C. E. Small have their new bakery in operation and invite your patronage. Fresh bread and pastry always on hand. 52

An item that speaks volumes for the prosperity of this section of Oregon is the report that comes from the John Kay public sale held a few miles east of Corvallis a few days ago. At this sale, horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry and farm implements were sold, the terms being cash for all sums under $10 and notes with good security for all sums above $10. The remarkable feature is that not a single note was given, according to report, the buyers paying cash for all purchases, a thing which old settlers declare they have never before known of in Oregon. Horses at the sale brought from $150 to $225, and all other things went for prices in proportion. Verily, Oregon and the Willamette Valley are prospering.

O. A. Brown will be in Corvallis Saturday, June 22nd, with a band of broken and unbroken horses for sale. At Hout's corral. 52

Ansel Clark arrived from Portland, Tuesday, for a visit with Ross Adams and other friends.

Mrs. J. S. Booth and the Thompson family expect to leave next week for Newport, for the summer.

The Circle ladies initiated candidates and had a social time at their hall, Tuesday evening. Next Thursday night there is to be a called meeting to initiate more candidates, in order to get the work all done this month.

Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Handsaker were given a surprise party at their home, Wednesday evening, that day being the seventh or "wooden" anniversary of their wedding. Suitable gifts were bestowed and a general social time enjoyed by the large company present. The hope is that this worthy couple may live to celebrate their diamond anniversary.

For Sale—Full blood Jersey cow, with calf. See F. R. Overlander, City. 51-52

A show of agricultural products can be gotten up in most any section of Oregon and the exhibits be of high quality. Oregon City has just held a very successful strawberry show. Corvallis a big livestock show, Portland follows with a rose show June 20th, and then Salem with a cherry show comes next July 10 12. —Ex.

It may read like fiction to the outside world to know that Hatfield has been employed to come to Oregon to make rain. He is at work in Sherman county under a contract guaranteeing to produce six inches of rain between now and July 25th. All Sherman county is watching the experiment as a copious rainfall would not only insure a good crop this year, but greatly enhance the value of land in that county.—Ex.

She was one of the Philip S. Bates' party of girls and it happened while the trip through the East was in progress. They were viewing the city from the famous Washington monument and the newspaper reporter who accompanied them waxed eloquent over the beauty of the scene spread below. Imagine his chagrin when one of the Oregon peaches said, wistfully, "Yes, but you ought to see the view from our old apple tree!"

R. L. Smith and T. C. Sparkman will sell real estate under the name of "The Santiam Land Co.," with office at Lebanon. 43ct

An exchange says: "There is practically no such thing as gratitude on the part of the public for any moral service rendered by a newspaper. The same is true of a favor done an individual by a newspaper. To the average citizen the newspaper is as impersonal as a railroad corporation and the attitude of the public is often to use it but to beat it if you can. Every editor has had good citizens urge him to attack this or that evil, and probably within a week after the battle was fought and won, the same man for some purely personal or business reason would stop his paper and his advertisement."

FOR SALE OR RENT—Store building on corner of Third and Jefferson streets. Ind. Phone 559. Mrs. C. W. Young. 38ct

Mark Rickard's automobile, carrying three young ladies and himself, frightened Sup't Denman's horse, Wednesday night, a few miles south of Corvallis, and caused a mix-up that might easily have been fatal to some of those concerned. The rig of Mr. Denman contained himself, his wife and two children, and all were thrown out, but strange to relate, no one was injured. Mr. Rickard brought Mrs. Denman and children on to town in his auto, leaving his other fair passengers at a neighboring farm house, and Mr. Denman followed with the crippled rig. It was a "lucky" accident and all parties are duly thankful that it ended as it did.

Furniture, carpets, wall paper trunks, suit cases, hammocks, etc. at the new store. A. H. Kempin Corvallis. 50-54

Because the livestock show held in Corvallis recently was such a success and the public so enthusiastic in continuing them annually, the promoters have decided to make these shows an annual event in the college town. What a happy thought it was to have the farmers and stockmen bring their stock together where the students of our agricultural college will have an opportunity of visiting the show and studying the different types in a practical way. To every student taking up this branch of study these shows are most valuable. We trust these shows will be kept alive and made annual events in the college town.—Rural Spirit.
