Smith's 62 1/2 acres, 4 miles east of Corvallis, to Mr. O'Neil from Ashland, $3800; Mrs. Ross Adams' house and lot on 9th street to Prof. Furkerson, $1100; Martin Butler's house and lot to C. E. Wenell, late of South Dakota, $1000; 3 lots owned by "Texas" Kline on 5th and Tyler streets to Martin Butler, $800.

Mrs. Frank Stansell of Quincy Mich., Mrs. Robert Kiozell of Chelan, Wash., Bud Kisor of Seattle, Wash., and Amos Kisor of Corvallis arrived Tuesday evening, having been summoned by a message announcing the serious illness of Mrs. S. E. Kisor, who is with her daughter, Mrs. C. G. Copeland at Siletz.—Lincoln Leader.

Dr. W. J. Kerr has purchased the John H. Simpson residence on Fifth street and will occupy it immediately with his family. The deal was closed Friday. Mr. Simpson and family are to remove to Albany to make their home. They have long been numbered among the leading families of this city and their decision to go elsewhere will be widely regretted.

A Michigan man who has been visiting in this section of Oregon is credited with saying: "This is no place for wheat fields, and dairy farms. This is the home of the cherry, the pear, the apple and the berry. Every foot of this valley could be set out to orchard. There is no reason why this land should not equal and even surpass the far famed Santa Clara valley of California."

So far as known the dates for county institutes are as follows: Marion, Linn and Polk, joint institute in connection with the association at Salem, July 1, 2 and 3; Jackson, at Ashland, July, 9, 10 and 11; Coos, at Bandon, August 21, 22 and 23; Benton, at Corvallis, August 29, 30 and 31; Lane, at Eugene, September 23, 24 and 25; Douglas, at Roseburg, September 26, 27 and 28; Wasco, at The Dalles, October 16, 17 and 18; Umatilla, at Pendleton, October 23, 24 and 25; Multnomah, at Portland, November 25, 26 and 27.

Mrs. T. W. Dilley and son Deane, formerly of this city but now of Oroville, California, have arrived and will spend a couple of weeks visiting friends and looking after property interests. Mrs. Dilley was called to Scioto by the death of her mother, Mrs. Montgomery. T. W. Dilley is employed in a machine shop in Oroville and is well satisfied with the country. The family enjoys good health in that climate, save Mrs. Dilley and Deane, who suffer from malaria. Mr. Dilley has mining interests in that section and has two or three men employed in his mine, which he expects to visit this spring as it is some distance from Oroville. Mrs. Dilley states that they were in the flooded district during the high water last spring, and that the water was four feet deep in their parlor. It is, however, a delightful climate, she asserts, and they all like the country.

Oregon undertakers met Thursday morning in Knights of Pythias hall, 11th and Alder streets, Portland, in third annual convention. They continued in session three days. There were about 50 funeral directors present including a number of visitors from neighboring states. S. N. Wilkins of Corvallis, president of the state association, delivered the annual address. At the afternoon's session Mayor Lane made a short talk followed by an address by Rev. J. R. N. Bell, of Corvallis. The convention came to a close Saturday night with a banquet. Officers of the association are: S. N. Wilkins, Corvallis, president; M. A. Rader, Pendleton, vice president; W. T. Gordon, second vice president; W. C. A. Pohl, Astoria, secretary; V. C. Dunning, Portland, treasurer. Mrs. S. N. Wilkins of this city attended the convention.

The Corvallisites who attended the G. A. R. and W. R. C. annual state encampment at Newberg returned home Friday. The G. A. R. members from this city who attended were Capt. J. W. Crawford, S. H. Horton, John Young and Sam Kerr. Of the W. R. C. members, those who attended were Medames S. L. Kline, T. J. Thorp, Henry Stone and Dedrick. Mrs. Thorp was honored by being elected as a delegate to the National Convention of the W. R. C. at Saratoga, New York, next fall. She was also appointed musician for the Newberg convention and furnished music for all installation ceremonies and other events. The Corvallis delegates report a splendid time at the encampment. Mrs. S. L. Kline was also appointed a delegate-at-large to the national convention. The encampment is to be held next year at Newport, which will certainly be a grand place for such an affair, and the selection seemed to be very favorably received by the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overlander left Sunday for White Salmon, Wash., where they intend to locate. They leave many sincere friends behind them in Corvallis who wish them success in their new home. Fred will have charge of the band at that place and in addition has the promise of opera house work.

The contest for goddess of liberty for the celebration in this city closed Saturday night. As the hour drew near there was great excitement among the partisans of the two leading candidates, and at the different voting places money jingled merrily as the coin was exchanged for the ballots. The race had not been very spirited during the weeks of its progress, but the closing hour made up for all the indifference manifested previously, and the final count stood: Miss Nelle Marvin, 8346; Miss Iva Barclay, 5546. Miss Edna Osborne received third position and will represent the goddess of Plenty, Miss Barclay, second, being "Peace." All three contestants are to be congratulated on the records made, and all will do credit to Corvallis in the coming big celebration.

Elsewhere in these columns appears a request by Mayor Lilly for the citizens of Corvallis to decorate their residences for the fourth. Surely every loyal citizen will approve, and lend their energetic support to the movement. Let at least a few flags adorn every residence in Corvallis, and those who wish can add as much else to their decorations as they wish. But even with the red, white and blue, fluttering from the residence of every citizen, Corvallis will present the most festive appearance in her history, and visitors to the city on that day will not fail to notice the fact and be impressed. Do not let the matter go by default, but put up your bunting and flags and see what a pleasure you will feel in adding to the greatness of the day.
