

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Lyman Bundy returned Friday evening from a visit in Portland.

Born, Saturday morning, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Edwards, a son.

Miss Margaret Snell expects to leave this week for her annual trip to California.

Chas. Culbert and family expect to leave today for Newport for their annual outing.

Rev. G. H. Feese and family expect to leave tomorrow for Alesca, where they will go into camp for the summer.

Rev. J. R. N. Ball and family expect to leave today for a several weeks' vacation visit by the "sounding sea" at Newport.

Dr. M. M. Davis is up from Corvallis looking after the building of his fine residence in the Hudsonston addition.—Eugene Guard.

Dr. Withycombe has accepted an invitation to be grand marshal during the Benton school fair. A good choice on the part of the committee.

J. K. Johnson and family and Mrs. Francisco expect to go to Newport today or tomorrow for a summer outing. Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of Mrs. Francisco.

D. D. Berman has purchased of Mrs. Ferguson two lots located on Seventh street between the Hollister home and Jesse Wiley's residence, and will build a dwelling on the property immediately for his own use.

A definite reply has been received from United States Senator Fulton, stating that he will be present at the All Benton school fair in this city August 30th. If business affairs can be arranged he will be here to witness the parade on the 29th.

The Grocers' and Merchants' association will entertain the professional men, board of regents, teachers of the public schools and other invited guests, at the city hall on the evening of the 17th. The affair is in honor of President Kerr and is invitational. It promises to be very interesting and enjoyable.

The finance committee of the All-Benton school fair met the business men of Philomath on the 11th and a very enthusiastic meeting was held in the council rooms at that place. It is safe to say that bustling little town will be well represented. Nearly, if not all, the business houses will be represented by floats in the parade.

J. B. Huntley has a very productive and profitable cherry tree and while it does not come up probably to many older ones it has done pretty well this year, says the Independence Enterprise. Mr. Huntley has picked 52 boxes from the tree which sold at 50c per box, making the returns so far $26. Fully ten boxes still remain on the tree. The cherries are Royal Anne, and the market is good for that variety.

After an extended visit with relatives in this city, Rev. and Mrs. G. E. McDonald and little daughter leave today for a visit in Portland and Wenatchee, Washington, en route to Dayton, Ohio, where they enter college for an advanced course. While in Wenatchee they will visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Galtley, former Corvallis residents, the father of whom is a sister of Mr. McDonald.

A runaway horse attached to an open buggy in which sat a four-year-old boy clinging manfully to the lines, brought out an excited crowd on both sides of North Main street, Thursday afternoon. The rig belonged to Charlie Small and so also did the small boy. With his grandfather, John Stewart, the lad was riding about town and at the residence Mr. Stewart left the boy alone in the rig while he went indoors. A loose bolt came along and the small horse started. By the time it had reached Main street the animal was running but the youth in the buggy seat made no outcry and tugged with all his might on the lines. Women and children rushed to the sidewalk as the rig went by and many a face turned white at the thought of the possibilities of the race, but at the Charles Small home Mrs. Small and Mrs. Seebly stopped the runaway and found that not the least damage had been done. When the horse started, John Stewart attempted to catch it, but after running a short distance he fainted and fell. Mr. Stewart has been in ill health for a long time and has been very poorly since his great fright, Thursday.

Judge McFadden was in Junction City on business the past few days.

Verne Lake is employed in the Buxton planing mill for the present.

Sheriff Burnett was a Portland visitor the last of the week, returning Thursday evening.

William Bogue and family expect to leave this week for their annual outing. They will go to Cascadia.

Mrs. J. Mason went to Siletz, Friday, to be with her mother, Mrs. S. A. Kisor, who is very seriously ill.

Mrs. Victor P. Moses returned Friday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Trask at Falls City.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Goodman arrived home the last of the week from a two weeks' visit with J. L. Underwood and family at Lebanon.

Born, Friday, to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Slocum, a son. The parents reside near Oakville, in Linn county, a few miles from Corvallis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Woods returned from the mountains the last of the week and departed Friday for Canby to attend the camp-meeting.

Mrs. Byron Hunter and her mother, Mrs. Briggs, went to Portland the last of the week, where the latter is to enter a hospital for an operation.

Dr. W. J. Kerr and Dr. Withycombe returned Thursday evening from attendance at the Salem Cherry fair, where the former delivered an address.

William Keady came out from Waldport, Friday, on a business trip. He is interested with J. C. Hammel and others in a saw mill at Waldport.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Irvine and son Ward went to Portland the last of the week to meet Miss Edna Irvine, who arrived from the East for a vacation visit.

A company of Dutch settlers named their town Dictionary, because, they said, a dictionary is the only place where peace, prosperity and happiness are always found.—Ex.

The residence property of Mrs. Sarah Moore was sold the last of the week to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cyrus of Crabtree, Linn county, who are to become residents of this city this fall.

Frederic Ewing of OAC went to Gresham the last of the week to do some experimental work along his line. While absent he is to attend the wedding of Bert Pilkington and Miss Ann A. Bleg, which occurs in Portland on the 17th.

Prof. J. B. Horner, R. L. Whitehead and George B. Keady left Friday for a few days' fishing trip to Alesca. Their friends hope they may have a pleasant and profitable trip and that a big "catch" may be brought home. See?

Dennis Stovall, wife and child arrived Friday from their home at Grants Pass for a visit with Benton county relatives and friends. Dennis is an old OAC boy who has made quite a name for himself along literary lines since he left Corvallis.

Lloyd Farmer met with a painful accident Friday morning. While riding on a tandem bicycle with another lad, Lloyd caught his foot between the chain and the bicycle wheel in such a manner that the outside of the foot was badly bruised while on the inside a gash about two inches long was inflicted. Five stitches were required in closing the wound.

The Willamette valley of Oregon is pre-eminently the cherry-growing district of the world. It has produced five varieties of the finest cherries there are to be had, namely: The Bing, Lambert, Hoskins, Black Republican and Royal Anne. And there are others in process of development. This fact cannot be denied. The cherries are in display to prove it.—Salem Statesman.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bullis is in a serious condition from the burns he received the Fourth. It will be remembered that the little fellow played with firecrackers, one of which, when lighted and thrown in the air, alighted on the boy's shoulders, igniting his clothing. There are serious burns on the back, on either side of the backbone, and one arm is in a very bad condition. The family has been unfortunate ever since coming to Benton county, the members having been peculiarly afflicted with accidents of various kinds, and much sympathy is felt for them in this latest trouble.

Walter Locke was a passenger for Newport, Saturday.

Mrs. Sarah Baldwin and daughter, Miss Edith, are visiting friends in Linn county.

Mrs. Jane Denman has gone to Independence for a visit of some length with friends.

Miss Edith Keady arrived home the last of the week from a visit of several weeks in Portland.

Mrs. Amelia Stuver is expected to arrive this week from Puyallup, Wash., for a visit with Mrs. William Waggoner in this city.

George Miller, while employed at the creamery, Saturday, became mixed up with an electric wire in such a way that he received a pretty severe shock. Fellow-workmen went to his relief before he received serious injury.

The first binder to be started this season in Benton county, so far as reported, began operations Friday on the Frank Wilson place, about seven miles south of Corvallis. Mr. Wilson reports a good stand of wheat.

A quiet wedding occurred Friday afternoon at the office of County Judge Woodward, at the court house, when W. P. Woods of North Yakima and Miss Gertrude Van Orden of Corvallis were united by Judge Woodward, in the presence of the necessary witnesses.

Dr. H. S. Pernot is the latest victim of automobile fever. The doctor has purchased a handsome runabout, and is fast becoming a skillful chauffeur. This is a splendid vehicle for the physician in his practice during the summer months and no doubt many other doctors will soon take up with idea.

Relative to the big cherry fair at Salem last week the Capital Journal says: "The big cherry fair is over, and the many visitors will leave for their homes tonight. It was a highly successful meeting, bringing together many of the state's most prominent fruit growers, and demonstrating that the Willamette valley is the greatest cherry country on earth."

Now and then the small boy of today hands the man of older years a "lemon," and such was the case in the story that S. H. Horton is telling on himself since last week. Mr. Horton and wife were en route to Centerville and at a point on the Celapocia river they stopped at a wayside spring and a small chain appeared out of the brush and requested a piece of chewing tobacco, explaining that his dog was "powerful sick" and unless a remedy were applied death would certainly result. Touched by the story of canine suffering Mr. Horton whacked off a liberal "dose" of fine cut, and drove on. While en route home the next day, another stop was made at the spring and a small girl was playing there. "How is your brother's dog?" asked Mrs. Horton, to which the little one replied with a grin, "He ain't got no dog, he just wanted a chew of terbacker," and Mr. Horton immediately drove on.

Mrs. Hill and daughter, Miss Dolly, have arrived from Portland, to remain indefinitely with their daughter and sister, Mrs. W. O. Trine.

The little son of Jesse Bullis ran a nail in his foot, the last of the week, inflicting an ugly wound that has been very painful, although not serious.

The Oregon militia is having a strenuous time of it keeping the Japs or some other enemy from capturing Seattle and running their fleets by the fortifications at the mouth of the Columbia river. So far they have repelled the enemy with dauntless courage and a telescope, and are keeping keen watch on the maneuvers of the crafty enemy. Incidentally the boys are having a good outing, are learning much of the art of war, and will return home better soldiers and in fine shape for their usual employments from their outing.
