

SFENCER'S Hair Invigorator And Dandruff Eradicator

Prevents the hair from falling out and stimulates the growth

A purely vegetable compound free from grease, mineral or other objectionable substances

Abraham Lincoln
Was a man who, against all odds, attained the highest honor a man could get in the United States. Ballard's Hair and Scalp Syrup has attained a place never equalled by any other remedy. It is a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Pulmonary diseases. Every mother should keep supplied with this wonderful cough remedy. Sold by Graham & Wortham.

The Gazette for Job Work.

Price, - Fifty Cents

Manufactured by

The Vegetable Compound Company
Corvallis, Oregon

SUMMER TIME THE TIME FOR JEWELRY.

We Have for Men Cuff Links for the Shirtwaist
Tie Clasps for the Four-in-hand
Silk Fobs with 'Safety Chains'
Tie Pins, all Styles and Prices

We Have for Ladies Shirtwaist Sets, Collar Pins
'Beauty Pins,' Brooches
Bracelets,
Back Combs, Etc.

In fact any of the little indispensables that a lady needs to complete her summer costume.

PRATT, The Jeweler and Optician.

FOR A FULL LINE OF Campers' Supplies, Tents and Hammocks go to
O. J. BLACKLEDGE.

You Take No Chances When You Buy Groceries

At This Store

All our goods are guaranteed to comply with the
Pure Food Law
We have the best and nothing but the best.

We Want Your Business
Hodes Grocery

Real Estate Transfers.

Trustees of M. E. church to J. W. Walters, parcel of land near Bellefontain; $60.

Thos H Cooper to V E Waters, 263.87 acres southwest of Corvallis; $10.

M L Kline to W Vidito, lots 4 and south 1/2 of lot 3 bl. 6 Dixon's addition to Corvallis; $1500.

D H Cheney (Administrator) to J J Honck, 160 acres south of Pailomath; $875.

John Meeker to Roena Meeker, 5.76 acres near Corvallis; $1.

S A Tharp to F A and F I Willert, 100 acres near Bellefontain; $4000.

W B Lacy to A Leder, 6 lots in bl. 16, Avery & Well's addition to Corvallis; $300.

Mrs. George Nichols of Albany spent Sunday in this city with relatives.

Miss Helen Raber returned home the last of the week from a visit with friends in Portland.

Miss Minnie Phillips has arrived home from a month's visit in Portland and at Oysterville.

All the World

Knows that Ballard's Snow Liniment has no superior for Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Cuts, Sprains, Lumbago, and all pains. Buy it, try it and you will adore it. Anybody who has used Ballard's Snow Liniment is a living proof of what it does. All we ask of you is to get a trial bottle. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Graham & Wortham.

LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Corvallis postoffice, for the week ending July 27, 1907:

William Bennett, Rev A J Folsom, Mrs Jane Mills, George A Swiggett, D R Vaughan, A J Wilkinson.

B. W. JOHNSON, P. M.

Your Liver

Is out of order. You go to bed in a bad humor and get up with a bad taste in your mouth. You want something to stimulate your liver. Just try Herbine, the liver regulator. A positive cure for Constipation, Dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. F., Fort Worth, Texas, writes: "Have used Herbine in my family for years. Words can't express what I think about it. Everybody in my household is happy and well, and we owe it to Herbine." Sold by Graham & Wortham.

IT IS BUSY.

Sweeping Orders Issued by State Commission.

A new set of rules has been adopted in regard to depot accommodations on all Oregon lines, and hereafter the traveling public will be better cared for than ever before. Many of the things about depots will be carefully looked after, insuring better service than heretofore afforded. The Oregonian gives the following account of the rules:

The order is sweeping in effect, covering all of the railroads operating lines in the state. The regulations, violations of which are subject to a forfeiture of from $100 to $1000, follow:

All passenger waiting-rooms and passenger cars used in this state shall be clean and supplied with pure drinking water and so lighted, heated ventilated and equipped as to render the occupants of the same reasonably comfortable.

Suitable toilet-room or building shall be provided and kept clean at each regular station where an agent is maintained, a separate toilet-room or building shall be kept for the use of women, which shall be marked as such and which shall be unlocked at all times when, by these rules, the waiting-room is required to be open. Toilet-rooms on all cars carrying passengers shall be kept clean and supplied with toilet paper.

Waiting-rooms and ticket offices having an agent shall be open for the accommodation of the traveling public at least 30 minutes before the schedule time of arrival of all passenger trains scheduled to stop at such station, be kept open after the arrival of such passenger train for such length of time as will afford passengers a reasonable opportunity to transact their business and leave the station. In the case of delayed trains, such waiting-rooms shall be kept open until the actual arrival of such delayed trains.

Waiting-rooms at junctions shall be kept open when necessary for the accommodation of passengers waiting to transfer from one line to the other.

Platforms shall be kept lighted at night when the waiting-room is by these rules required to be open.

Why They Married.

An editor sent out a letter to his male readers, asking for answers to the question "Why I married." He received the following replies:

Because I did not have the experience I have now.

That's what I have been trying for eleven years to find out. I married to get even with her mother, but never have.

I yearned for company. Now we have it all the time.

I thought it would be cheaper than a breach of promise suit.

Because Sarah told me that five other men had proposed to her.

That's the same fool question my friends ask me.

I wanted a companion of the opposite sex. She is still opposite.

The old man was going to give me his foot, so I took his daughter's hand.

Because I asked her to have me and she said she would—I think she got me.

Because I thought she was one among a thousand—now I think she is a thousand among one.

I was lonely and melancholy and wanted some one to make me lively. She makes it very lively.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler of the Universe to remove from the field of her earthly labors, Mrs. Ella Grugett, wife of our esteemed neighbor, A. T. Grugett, be it

Resolved, That Mary's Peak Camp, No. 126, Woodmen of the World extend its heartfelt sympathy to our esteemed neighbor in his great bereavement. May the Hand that removed his tender and loving companion extend its protection and aid to him and the motherless child in this their hour of sorrow and affliction, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Camp and a copy be transmitted to Neighbor Grugett, and a copy to each of the newspapers of this city.

A. K. RUSS,
W. L. SHARP,
C. A. GOULD.

JUST AN IDEA.

Something for the Women of Benton—Rest Room Needed.

The idea of a "rest room" is now and then taken up and discussed by some paper in the state, and the idea is one that should be given more attention and carried into action. Corvallis needs such a room, although the free reading room maintained by the W. C. T. U. in a measure answers the purpose.

But much more is needed. A room centrally located on Main street where farmers' wives could not help but find it is the first thing to be considered, and this should be fitted with stove, chairs, a couch and rockers, besides a roomy table where, if desired, a luncheon could be placed for the children when they become so tired and fretful that the woman from the country, in for a day's shopping, can scarcely manage them. Water, wash basins, toilets and other conveniences would make such a resort of inestimable value to womankind in any town, and especially so to the farmers' wives who have no place to go for a rest and to care for their children and babies when their trading is done and they are waiting for the man of the house to finish his business.

Especially in winter is such a room needed, for no woman likes to enter a store and with her little ones stand about the stove, if there is one, there to be stared at by other customers and made to feel that she is in everybody's way. Many a woman has had such humiliating experiences and many a one dreads the day in town, doing her necessary buying, simply on account of this unpleasant standing about, "killing time" while "father" goes here and there with no thought of being bored himself or in anybody's way.

Only the other day the writer saw a middle aged lady and little girl standing in a store doorway. Their gaze traveled anxiously up and down the street apparently in the hope that "father" would appear with the rig to go home. The day was hot, and standing in a doorway, waiting, is not pleasant. How much better for them had there been a comfortable room nearby where they could have gone in off the street and waited, and how they would have praised the town for having such a place.

More business would come to the town from the female population if such a room could be established. Or this there is no doubt, for the experiment has been tried and found highly satisfactory in many an eastern town and also in the state of Washington.

It would be a good thing for the city to show such consideration for its women customers, and it is certain that the fact would be discussed by the women far and near, and do much in advertising the public spiritedness of Corvallis.

O. B. Connor is building an addition to his residence in Jo's addition.

MINNIE BUXTON'S STORY.

Tells of Terrible Experience on Sinking Ship Columbia.

"This is the Captain speaking to you; be calm, don't get excited, ladies—come right this way and we'll help you onto the upper deck, where you'll be safe. It's no use, she's gone!"

"These were among the last words uttered by Captain Doran, of the ill-fated Columbia, before his vessel sank into the Pacific," says Miss Minnie Buxton, a trained nurse, 188 Sixteenth street, who was near Captain Doran when the ship went down. Miss Buxton was in the water nearly three-quarters of an hour.

"His voice was steady and his manner was calm and reassuring," said Miss Buxton. "He helped several of us woman onto the upper deck and evidently thought we would be safe there for a while, until the boats could take us away. I asked him if he was the captain when I heard his voice and he told me he was. He urged us not to get excited, and I told him I was not. A moment later the vessel lurched a second time and the captain said: 'It's no use; she's gone.'"

"I was standing on deck and was carried down into the water with the sinking ship. How far I went down or how long I was beneath the water I have no idea, but it seemed as though I would never get to the surface. When I finally arose to the top there wasn't a thing in sight. My life-preserver kept me up well and with what swimming I could do, I had no trouble in keeping my head out of the water.

"After a while I heard a man near by, and called out to him if he thought we would be saved. He told me to keep cool and that we would be saved all right. I told him I was going to him, and he warned me not to hang onto him. I told him I had a life-preserver on and that I wasn't going to hang onto him, but if I went down, I didn't want to go down alone. Shortly afterward he told me a lifeboat was right behind me, and soon we were picked up. The boat was No. 3, and carried 28 people.

"It seemed days until morning broke. About 3 o'clock a wind started to blow and it was very disagreeable. The boat was loaded down almost to the water's edge and every little ripple washed in, so that it was necessary to bail out constantly. The sea became choppy and the wind blew spray all over us and it seemed at times as though we couldn't stand it another minute, but no one complained. Chailey Murphey, the cabin boy, was a real hero and too much cannot be said in his praise. He did much to keep up our spirits during those long, dreary hours.

"We didn't go aboard the San Pedro at all. The crew told us we were safer where we were and we all thought so, when she began to wash and the mast broke and fell into the sea. At last we were safely taken aboard the Elder."

Miss Buxton declares she was not awakened by the shock of the collision, and first knew that something was wrong when aroused by her roommates. She took time to dress almost completely, and her training as a professional nurse did much to help keep her under control of herself. Once after leaving her room she remembered leaving her watch, a keepsake of her mother's, and went back after it. She had just time to be helped onto the hurricane deck when the big steamer shuddered the second time and plunged to the bottom of the sea.—Telegram.

Our Waste Basket.

People as a rule do not know how much they have to be thankful for, and little do many realize how favored they are by persons towards whom, doubtless, they consider themselves in nowise indebted. A writer in an exchange touches upon this subject when he says:

If some day the newspaper man should print the contents of his waste basket there would probably be a riot. There would certainly be trouble in many homes, arrests in some directions, shot guns in others, trouble all around. But the patron never sees the waste basket. He only glances at the beautifully printed pages, complains if one letter in fifty is upside down, growls his disappointment if one name in five hundred has happened to go wrong, kicks because his communication, signed "Taxpayer," has been condensed into respectable English, frowns because the editor didn't take his advice about publicly warning his neighbor against throwing more melon in the alley, and is generally disgruntled, not so much as what he finds as at what he fails to find. He knows his share of the waste basket, but if he could have one look at the contributions made to that receptacle by his neighbors and friends he would thank God for the existence of a man with sufficient intelligence and courage not to print all that he knows, and to temper even that which he does print."

DR. KERR'S REMARKS

About Short Course for Teachers—Is in Portland.

Arrangements have been completed for a summer course in agriculture at the Oregon Agricultural college, beginning August 26 and continuing to the 31st inclusive. The purpose of the course is to give the teachers of the state such preparation as they may need for the use of the agricultural book to be introduced next year in the seventh and eighth grade of the public schools. It is hoped that as many of the teachers as possible will avail themselves of this opportunity of acquiring a knowledge of the new subject.

Dr. Kerr, who is in Portland on business connected with OAC said of this special course:

"Oregon is one the first states in the Union to introduce agriculture into the common schools, and no means should be spared to make this work a success from the beginning.

"Very few of the teachers have received any special training in scientific agriculture; some, perhaps, are even without experience on the farm. Then, again, the text-book adopted, although one of the best of the kind published, is prepared for general use, and of necessity omits many things of local importance and perhaps contains other things of no special value to people here.

"That the agricultural college may be of as great service as possible in this movement for agricultural education, it is fitting that the magnificent equipment the institution has for agricultural work, and the services of the specialist in different subjects of agriculture should be utilized to the greatest extent possible in preparing teachers for this new work. It is for this purpose that the special Summer course is established. The work will consist of lectures on different subjects treated in the text, with such illustrations and demonstrations as may be helpful to teachers in getting an understanding of the subject. The professors will indicate the parts of the text which may be advantageously omitted, and will give supplementary material to be used by the teachers in adapting their work to local conditions."—Oregonian.

Hello Central!

Where is No. 9? Why, call Ind. 251 or office at Allen's drug store, which stands for John Lenger, and he will attend your wants.