NONE TOO BRIGHT.

Football Prospects at OAC—Alumni Game Tomorrow.

The outlook at OAC, so far as football is concerned, is none too bright just now. Things are in an unsettled condition and it is difficult to tell what the strength of the team will amount to this season, according to report.

The team will be somewhat larger this season than last but it also tends to slowness, which will offset the advantage gained by weight. The late opening of school this year has handicapped Coach Norcross in developing his new men and rounding out a team for any of the November games. The prospect is therefore none too encouraging.

Quite a number of the old men are in school again and will be on the team. Among these are Wolf, fullback; Gagnon, quarterback, Cady and Looney halves; Barber and Pendegass, guards; Dobbin and Harding, ends. While several of the old players are here, it must be remembered that they are from a light team of last year and are not, therefore, as valuable as would otherwise be the case.

Of the new men who are showing up well there are Francis and Cooper, halfbacks, two local baseball players but with no football experience; also Dinges, Rinehart and Emily of local fame are in school and are trying for positions on the team; Jamison, a Utah man with some experience as a lineman is also working with the team in practice; Cherry, the old center, one of the strongest men in the line, has entered Pullman and will play on the Washington team. His position on the orange will be hard to fill. Kelly and Smith, of last year scrubs, are trying for the place. Bennett, the last year tackle, has not returned yet but is expected at any time. Among others are the Evanton brothers of Monmouth, Hawley of Newberg; Turner, the Pendleton High school quarterback and Billy Burrows of the '04 "scrubs."

Practice is carried on every day and quite a bunch of men turn out for the work. Possibly the next few weeks may put a more encouraging face on the football situation at OAC and the outlook be more favorable than it is at present.

Additional Local.

John Lenger, the mail-carrier between the depots and the postoffice, is one of the most familiar figures in all Corvallis. For years and years he has been on duty, rain or shine, warm or cold, except upon the rare occasions when sickness has kept him at home for a day or two, and there are few people in this city who haven't a kindly word and a friendly nod for the faithful old gentleman who drives the one horse dray. Long may he flourish.

The chapel exercises at OAC will hereafter be known as the "Assembly" and will be held once a week, in the armory, from 11:30 to 12:20. After the meeting Wednesday morning a meeting of the student body was held, at which Dr. Kerr gave a spirited address and at which resolutions against hazing were unanimously adopted.

Usual services at the Christian church next Sunday morning. In the evening the services will be held in the tabernacle. The pastor will preach especially to young people. The subject will be, "A Strong Young Man." The male chorus will sing. Rev. Handaker will also address the Y. M. C. A. in the college chapel at 2:30 in the afternoon. Subject, "Is the Young Man Safe?"

A reception was held at the M. E. church, Wednesday evening, in honor of Rev. D. H. Leach and family who have just arrived from Woodburn to make their home in this city. Minor Swick presided at the meeting and after a prayer by W. C. Swann, Dr. Cathey was requested to welcome Rev. Leach and family, which he did in a very fitting and entertaining short address. Rev. Leach responded, giving a brief outline of his life-history, saying the people were entitled to know who they were receiving as their pastor. His address was earnest and made a strong impression on his hearers. He is a man of very sincere and pleasing manner and has an interesting wife and family who are warmly welcomed by the people of the church. Following the remarks of Rev. Leach, the audience sang a verse of "Blest Be the Tie," and R. N. White gave a vocal solo. Light refreshments and social conversation were the concluding features of this happy affair. The reception hall was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and ivy. The affair was planned and successfully carried out by Mrs. W. C. Swann and Mrs. S. B. Bane, to whom congratulations are due for the success of the evening.

Students at the Corvallis Agricultural College are taught the art of packing apples. An hour of apple-packing will be pretty near as good exercise for the back as two hours of football practice and eventually much more profitable. If all the good apples grown were properly packed the returns would be much greater. And this does not mean that the largest and best should be placed at the top of the box. Good packing is honest as well as neat and only honest packing pays in the end.—Oregonian Editorial.

Some families seem positively bashful about expressing their affection says an exchange. Taking love on trust, because it has only been expressed long ago, and never officially retracted, is like trying to warn one's self with the memory of last year's snafu.

"TONY" NOLTNER DEAD.

Pioneer Oregon Newspaper Man—Formerly of Corvallis.

Anthony Noltner, one of Oregon's first newspaper men, a regent of the Monmouth State Normal school and a well-known citizen of Portland, died suddenly Tuesday morning at the home of his son, A. L. Noltner, corner Thirtythird and Targgart streets.

Mr. Noltner had been ill for some time, but it was not believed that his condition was serious. He arose that morning, sat up about the house for a short time and returned to bed, where he died peacefully and quietly a little after 10 o'clock.

Mr. Noltner was born in Germany June 11, 1839, and came to the United States with his parents early in his boyhood, the family settling in Wisconsin. He left Wisconsin for California March 15, 1849, arriving at San Francisco December 15 in the same year.

Mr. Noltner learned the printer's trade after reaching San Francisco and was one of the first employes on the Alta, published in San Francisco during the early days of that city. He went to the Call in 1856 and worked on that paper until he left for Oregon October 5, 1857.

Mr. Noltner was twice married his first wife being Miss Ellen Cox whom he married May 1, 1861. He married Miss Martha N. Williams March 1, 1856. His second wife died June 3, 1852.

Mr. Noltner began his newspaper career in Oregon at Corvallis in 1859, when he was associated with James H. Slater, afterwards United States senator. He afterwards published the Eugene Review, being associated with Joaquin Miller, the poet, as his partner.

Mr. Noltner was always a staunch democrat, and joined the Breckenridge wing of the party in 1860. During the Civil war the postoffice department forbade the passage of the Review through the mails on the ground that the editorial sentiment of the paper was treasonable. The paper was barred from the mail until Mr. Noltner modified his editorials.

In 1876, Mr. Noltner began the publication of the Daily Standard in Portland and continued its publication for 15 years. His last venture was the Weekly Dispatch, which he maintained for five or six years.—Journal.

CONDEMN HAZING.

Adopt Resolutions Against It—OAC Student Body.

At the close of Assembly at the armory, Wednesday noon, there was a meeting of the student body at which Dr. Kerr made an extemporaneous address on "College Spirit," which was warmly received and elicited many complimentary remarks from those who heard it.

Following this the student body, by unanimous rising vote, adopted the following resolutions which are self-explanatory and which will be endorsed with pleasure by the public:

To correct any misapprehension in the mind of the public, the Student Assembly of the Oregon Agricultural College declares its position as follows:

That hazing is morally and legally wrong; that it is contrary to the wishes and spirit of this institution; and that such rare instances as may have occurred should not in any sense be taken as indicating the general feeling in regard to the matter; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the students of the Oregon Agricultural College, deeply regret the unfortunate occurrence of Friday night, October 4th, and that we place the stamp of our disapproval upon all such actions; and be it further

Resolved, That we, individually and as a body, do all in our power to prevent the practice of hazing in any and all forms, whatsoever, and that any person or persons guilty of such conduct be considered an enemy of the institution and unworthy to remain in connection with the same; and be it still further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Student Assembly, and that copies be furnished the press of the state.

Convention Next Week.

The twentyfifth annual convention of the Benton County Sunday School Association will be held in Corvallis next Tuesday and Wednesday, October, 15 and 16.

All who are interested in Sunday school work are invited to lay aside the secular duties of life as far as possible for these two days and devote them to gaining knowledge of the most advanced ideas of Sunday school work, to heart culture, a preparation for the higher things of this life and the unending life which is to come.

Rev. Charles A. Phipps, Field Worker of the state of Oregon, will take a leading part, and will be assisted by the leading Sunday school workers and evangelists of the county. The convention will be held in the M. E. church, South, corner Fifth and Madison streets, beginning Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend these exercises.

Going to Coach.

The Barometer gives a write up in regard to Claude Swan that is worth reproducing:

HASKELL & JOHNSON.

"Uncle Josh" is Coming.

The attraction at the opera house on next Friday night will be the ever reliable "Uncle Josh Perkins," undoubtedly the most successful rural comedy drama that has been produced in years.

It serves a distinct and highly commendable purpose, for it teaches in the cleverest and most entertaining way imaginable and in a thoroughly up-to-date manner the truth of the old saying, that "love will find a way." The chief interest in the piece centers in the love of Uncle Josh for his young daughter Nan. The entire cast of "Uncle Josh Perkins" has been selected from among the best known, most widely experienced and most conscientious actors and actresses of the American stage. The piece is most elaborately staged, and equipped with beautiful scenery. The engagement is for one night only. Reserved seat sale opens Wednesday morning. Prices 35, 50 and 75

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed in the County Court of Benton County, Oregon, his final account as administrator of the estate of Alexander Bennett, deceased, and that Saturday, the 9th day of November, 1907, at the hour of 11 o'clock in the forenoon of said day has been fixed and appointed by said Court as the time and the County Judge's office in the County Court House in Corvallis in said County and State as the place for hearing objections, if any, to said account and the settlement thereof. All persons interested and desiring to object thereto are notified to file their objections thereto in writing with the Clerk of said Court and appear at said time and place.
