PHILOMATH SNAPSHOTS.

Newsy Items From Neighboring Town—Parties and Other Social Notes.

Mrs. Lon Henkle, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mamie, and sons, Roy and Herman, departed for Newport last Saturday, to reside for at least two months. On last Thursday evening the Neighbors of the Women of Woodcraft tendered their departing neighbors, Mrs. Henkle and Mamie, a farewell reception and surprise party at their quarters in I. O. O. F. hall. About twenty of the neighbors gathered at the hall, ostensibly for the purpose of a rehearsal for the entertainment that the W. of W.'s. contemplate giving next Thursday, and Mrs. Henkle, who has been the honored Guardian Neighbor of Philomath Circle No 488 for several successive terms, and Miss Mamie, one of the youngest neighbors, were invited to come to the hall to witness the rehearsal, since they are to be at Newport at the time of the entertainment. According to previous arrangement, the officers and guards were all in their respective places. At the signal for rising given by the Past Guardian Neighbor, as Mrs. Henkle entered the hall, the neighbors arose and greeted their departing neighbors with the honors of the Circle. The ruse was a complete success and surprise. After hearty greetings by all, the neighbors joined in Circle games, such as "Blind Man's Buff," "Drop the Handkerchief," "The pig in the parlor," "Finding the Mystic Sphere," "Thunder and Lightning." Then still sitting in a circle, a number of recitations or readings were delivered, after which candy, nuts and apples were served.

Mrs. Eda Allen who is also a Neighbor of the W. of W. and was present that evening, has gone to Corvallis to reside. Within a week's time Mr. and Mrs. Allen have sold their residence in Philomath, found a suitable location at Corvallis and have departed for that place. Their many friends are sorry to see them go, but what is Philomath's loss is Corvallis' gain.

Mrs. Annie P. Hawkins, the senior Grand Manager of the Grand Circle of the W. of W., greeted a number of Neighbors while the west bound C. & E. stopped at the depot in Philomath. She was en route to her home at Toledo after a three weeks' visit at Ashland, Myrtle Creek and other points in the southern extremity of the state.

Mrs. Jane Wood, who accompanied her son, Alvin, and family to Portland several weeks ago, arrived home last Saturday.

Mrs. Ida Moses and daughter, Bernice, were Corvallis visitors, Saturday.

Miss Ora Henkle visited friends in Corvallis on Thursday and Friday of last week, returning home Friday afternoon.

Elmer Ellsworth visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellsworth, brother "Cad" and sister "Dot," at the depot while a car of freight was unloaded last Saturday. He was a passenger on the westbound C. & E.

Mrs. J. E. Henkle was quite indisposed for several days last week, a bad cold necessitating her absence from the store, but she is again in her accustomed place.

Clarence Ellsworth met with quite a painful accident on Monday of last week, which may have had a serious termination. While splitting a large log, in driving a wedge with the sledge, the sledge rebounded, striking him on the forehead above the left eye, cutting a frightful gash, which required five stitches to properly unite the skin above the eyebrow. It has healed very rapidly and no serious results are expected to follow.

Wilson Scott and Walter Newton were Saturday visitors at the county metropolis.

Miss Cleona Devitt will open spring term of school in the Wood Creek district next Monday.

Miss Evadna Springer is preparing to give an entertainment and basket social for the benefit of the Evergreen school. A local literary society was organized that school the first of the year which meets every Friday night and elicits much interest from the neighborhood.

E. D. Follet, who purchased the George Allen property last week, is moving his family and household effects into his newly acquired home.

John Kitson of Eugene is visiting relatives at Philomath, and in the vicinity.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Merryman and family of Salem arrived last Tuesday and are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Becker. Mrs. Merryman and children expect to visit with friends and relatives for a time but Mr. Merryman will return to Salem next Saturday in order to occupy the pulpit at his pastorate in that place.

Mrs. Waller, who has been quite ill with pneumonia, is reported to be recovering. The family physician from Albany was called the first of the week, as her condition was deemed quite critical, but at last reports she is thought to be improving.

Mrs. Henry Smith, who has been quite indisposed with la grippe, had two severe hemorrhages from the lungs, on Wednesday of last week, but is now improving.

The new woodshed and dining hall at the I. O. O. F. hall are nearing completion and add materially to the comfort and appearance of the lodge quarters.

The 'phone message announcing the birth of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Varnum Elliott proved as reliable as so many of the 'phone messages do, and caused Mr. Elliott's name to be given as Barnum in place of Varnum. However, congratulations are tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Varnum Elliott on the arrival of their little girl.

C. G. Springer moved to his ranch, west of town, the fore part of the week and like the old black auntie in the home of Mr. St. Clair of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" fame, is now having a "clear-in" up spell." Mr. Springer intends to devote his small place to horticulture.

C. F. Dittmar of Kennett, California, arrived at Albany last Sunday a. m. en route for Portland, but took the morning train for Corvallis, where he was met by his half brother, Frank Becker, of OAC, from whence they drove to Philomath to visit for the day with relatives at that place, who were summoned to the home by telephone. C. F. brought with him as a gift to his mother, a Grand Opera Zonophone with forty choice records. The Zonophone is a sixty-dollar machine and the records are valued at twenty-five dollars, some of them being one dollar records. It was the source of a choice entertainment for the family gathering. On Sunday evening the young gentlemen returned to Corvallis from whence C. F. took the early train, Monday, for Salem, where he stopped two hours at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. H. Merryman, and then proceeded to the state metropolis via the electric car route, reaching Portland about noon. On Wednesday evening he will arrive at Corvallis and be with relatives in Philomath on Thursday, departing for Eugene and points south, en route for California, on Friday morning. These migratory visits she is familiarly known by the older generation, is almost a nonagenarian, but was present at the Henkle re-union at the Jacob Henkle home in Pleasant Valley last October. According to Mother Nature, our old people cannot be with us much longer.

"Sis in New York" Coming.

There is always a feeling of rest, contentment and simplicity in the far away country villages and cross-road hamlets far from the hum and bustle of city life. There is a trustfulness that admits of open doors and hospitable welcome. A newcomer is looked upon as a friend until proven otherwise. Down in Indiana, in the southwest part of the state, is a little hamlet with its cross-roads, post office, blacksmith shop, old fashioned tavern and the usual brick court house. This is the home of "Sis," the generous hearted, frolicsome Hoosier girl who is forced by circumstance from romping the streets of her native village to tread the cemented sidewalks of New York City, where she becomes the butt of ridicule. Her sallies of wit as she gets back at her tormentors soon make it appear that she is outgrowing her provincialisms, and as the woman merges from the child, she rapidly adapts herself to her surroundings and becomes a self-made woman. The Tom Boy returns to her Indiana home a lady of culture, when she replaces the old latch string with an electric bell and the carpet gives way to rugs on hardwood floors. It's a pure, sweet play brimming with fun. "Sis in New York" comes to the opera house next Wednesday, March 11th. Seats now selling—35c, 50c, 75c.

White-Brown Wedding.

One of the most beautiful home weddings it has been our good fortune to attend occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. White of 442 N. First Street, this city, at high noon, Sunday, when their daughter, Nellie Mae, became the wife of Mr. Jesse Brown, a most worthy young man of Albany.

The house was tastily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being brown and white, typical of the names of the bride and groom. At 12 o'clock the wedding march was played by the bride's grandfather, R. N. White, who composed the same for the occasion. The bride was most becomingly attired in a gown of pale blue silk, and a white bridal veil; the groom in the conventional black. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Bertha White, and her young uncle, Prof. Frank White.

The Rev. Mr. Vincent, of this city, who officiated in so pleasing and impressive a manner, delighted all present by a very appropriate address before tying the knot, after which a sumptuous dinner was served. The guests, who were the relatives and near friends of the bride and groom, numbered about sixty. A great many useful and beautiful gifts were presented.

When dinner was over a social hour was enjoyed, after which the bride and groom took their departure for Albany, where they will be at home to their many friends after April 1st.

On the sea of matrimony they have launched their small canoe; May no cruel storms betide them, May their love be ever true.

A GUEST.

OAC LOST TO ALBANY

In Fast Game of Basket Ball in That City—Girls' Team Defeated.

By the decisive score of 14 to 6, the girls' team of the Albany High School won Friday night from the hitherto undefeated girls of the Oregon Agricultural College. The victory came as a great surprise, and virtually gives Albany High School the championship of the state, as Albany has won the honors of the Willamette Valley High School League, and the OAC has won all its games among the colleges.

The game was one of the fastest and fiercest contests ever played in the city. For the first five minutes great defensive work prevented scoring and then Albany started whirlwind playing and rolled up a 10-to-3 score on the surprised collegians in the first half. The playing was harder in the second half with a 4-to-3 score in Albany's favor. Albany scored six field goals, while OAC made only one, the other scores being made from the foul line, says an Albany dispatch in the Oregonian.

Thayer and Bending were Albany's stars, the work of the former being unexcelled on a local floor. Moore was the best player for Corvallis. The line-ups: Albany—Bending and McBride, forwards; Eckert, center; Martin and Thayer, guards. OAC—Harrington and Perry, forwards; Moore, center; Starr, Johnson and Edwards, guards. Claude Swann, of Corvallis, was referee; Horsky, of Albany, umpire.

After winning the High School championship, Albany agreed to meet the college champions to test strength and with little hope of victory. But fast, skillful playing overwhelmed the larger team, and Albany is ablaze with High School enthusiasm tonight.

Additional Locals.

Are the Corvallis school buildings so arranged that the children could escape in case of a fire? Is the fire drill practiced often enough to familiarize the pupils with it so that they would leave the building in order in case of an alarm being turned in? These are questions that are being asked throughout the state since the terrible calamity at Cleveland a few days ago. These are matters that should not be neglected a day nor an hour. The Journal, in discussing the matter in Portland, says: "In these school buildings has every possible avenue for escape of pupils in case of fire been provided? Has account been taken of the fact that when flames roar and death stalks on all sides children cannot be expected to retain their presence of mind, and that disorder, panic and hysteria must be reckoned with in making provisions for safety? If all this has not been provided for it should be done at once. The Cleveland calamity is a warning. The charred bodies of little children piled up in the streets, their writhing forms wrapped in seething flames in the basement, the awful horror of the spectacle, the tears, shock and sorrow of parents seeking their child dead—all this is warning to build against such horrors."

Last Friday evening was the occasion of a very agreeable surprise in the form of a donation party given to Rev. G. W. Forman and wife at the parsonage of the M. E. Church South. It was a genuine surprise. While Mr. and Mrs. Forman were at their church for their regular Friday night rehearsal of the S. S. and young people's music class, the church members gained access to the church parsonage and deposited many acceptable presents there, and were quietly sitting in the darkness of the parlor when the Formans entered. Then the young people from the church began to pour in until the house was filled to overflowing. A very pleasant evening was passed in playing games and visiting, during which time refreshments were served consisting of home-made candies of various kinds, apples and popcorn. At the close of the evening song books were passed and all participated in an enthusiastic song service, after which Rev. Forman thanked one and all for their kindness, thoughtfulness and appreciation. This was responded to by some of the members and all went to their homes well pleased with the evening.
