ELECTIONS FOR 1908.

Registration reopens Sept. 20. Closes for election Oct. 20. Presidential election Nov. 3.

STATE UNIVERSITY - AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

During the recent state campaign, when the appropriation for the State University was being attacked, the GAZETTE said little or nothing, because anything said during that time was liable to be misunderstood. To draw lines designating what the State University and the State Agricultural College may teach and not each interfere in the lines of the other, is quite difficult.

That our readers may better consider the subject, we print below the different lines of study authorized and permitted under the laws of the United States, governing the Agricultural College and the teaching of mechanical arts, as follows:

SCHEDULE A.—Instruction in Agriculture.

- 1. Agriculture
- 2. Horticulture
- 3. Forestry
- 4. Agronomy
- 5. Animal Husbandry
- 6. Dairying
- 7. Veterinary Science
- 8. Poultry Industry
- 9. Apiculture

SCHEDULE B.—Instruction in Mechanical Arts.

- 1. Mechanical Engineering
- 2. Civil Engineering
- 3. Electrical Engineering
- 4. Irrigation Engineering
- 5. Mining Engineering
- 6. Marine Engineering
- 7. Railway Engineering
- 8. Experimental Engineering
- 9. Textile Industry
- 10. Architecture
- 11. Machine Design
- 12. Mechanical Drawing
- 13. Ceramics
- 14. Stenography
- 15. Typewriting
- 16. Telegraphy
- 17. Printing
- 18. Shop Work

SCHEDULE C.—Instruction in English Language.

- 1. English Language
- 2. English Literature
- 3. Composition
- 4. Rhetoric
- 5. Oratory

SCHEDULE D.—Instruction in Mathematical Sciences.

- 1. Mathematics
- 2. Book-keeping
- 3. Astronomy

SCHEDULE E.—Instruction in Natural and Physical Science.

- 1. Chemistry
- 2. Physics
- 3. Biology
- 4. Botany
- 5. Zoology
- 6. Geology
- 7. Mineralogy
- 8. Metallurgy
- 9. Entomology
- 10. Physiology
- 11. Bacteriology
- 12. Pharmacy
- 13. Physical Geography
- 14. Meteorology

SCHEDULE F.—Instruction in Economic Sciences.

- 1. Political Economy
- 2. Domestic Economy
- 3. Commercial Geography

It will be seen that the above subjects lead along agricultural, industrial and mechanical lines. Those who rush to the conclusion that in an agricultural college nothing is to be taught except those branches which qualify one to plow, sow and reap from the soil, are mistaken. The law requires branches to be taught which qualify the pupil, not only with a perfect knowledge of agriculture, but also of the mechanic arts, which embodies quite if not nearly all of the industrial and mechanical lines.

It will be seen, however, by close study of the branches above given that the separation of studies of the two schools can be made, the one taking the scientific, theoretical, professional and liberal arts and sciences, and the other the industrial and mechanical.

The most difficult subject for division between the two schools will be found in the branches of engineering. By a close study, however, of the subject, it will be seen that the subdivisions to be taught according to law under the Morrill Act, is purely along industrial and mechanical lines. The United States government appropriates the means and money to teach the above branches without any expense whatever to the state, except for the state to furnish grounds and buildings. Then why should the tax payers of Oregon be taxed to provide a separate and distinct institution to teach the same branches that are taught under the Morrill Act?

Under this law professional, scientific and theoretical engineering, and the liberal arts and sciences are not in any sense provided for. In these lines there is a very broad and useful field for the State University, and the people of the state should supply her with ample funds to make her the best school in the United States along these lines. The State University belongs to the educational system of Oregon, and very necessarily so. It will certainly be a disgrace to the intelligence of Oregon if the people allow the government of these two schools to become in a tangle because certain people cannot discern that there is a broad field of labor, along very useful educational lines, for each of these institutions, wherein neither one should in any way conflict with the other. There is a disposition with a few persons to involve these two institutions in discord. The suggestion of placing the two schools under the management of one board is not a good thought. The government of each should be under a separate board with members of sufficient understanding to discern distinctly the separation of studies which should be marked in the progress of these schools. It is suicidal from an educational standpoint to permit politicians to reduce the efficiency of these two great institutions to the level of one school.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

It has been noticed that the man who acts like a millionaire is a bluffer, for a millionaire never acts that way.

A recent writer says that the Lord helps those who help themselves, but thinks more of those who help others.

No man ever betrayed a trust without intending to fix it up if things ever came his way. But they seldom come.

Mrs. I. Begin of Tacoma, Washington, has been granted her fifth divorce, and is ready to begin again.

In Pittsburg everything is on the money basis. A local millionaire says getting his wife cost more than $100,000.

When the 15th of September comes President Diaz, of Mexico, and Mr. Taft will celebrate the same day as a birthday.

It has been noticed that the greatest quarrels in the world's history have been between people who were once friends.

"Prosperity follows the right vibrations," says a sage. Why not tip us all as to the means of knowing how to vibrate?

An admiring newspaper says that Senator Jeff Davis, of Arkansas, will go down in history. It is only a question of how far down.

Everything is compensated. The bald-headed man on a hot day is cool about the caput, but the flies know where to amuse themselves.

A Massachusetts man has sailed away with his wife as first mate. In some matrimonial cases the wife is captain but nothing is said about it.

If the Snake Indians and Mexican desperadoes combine to make themselves troublesome, the U. S. will be paying large powder bills.

A South Carolina paper soothingly remarks that no matter how badly Colonel Bryan may be defeated this year, he will still have another chance in 1912.

Mark Twain's new house is called "Innocence at Home." As it cost $140,000, it may be taken for granted that good fortune has returned to him in his later years.

Some of the Merry Widow hats have appeared at the British race courses, one measuring seven feet five inches in circumference having been seen during the Ascot week.

Portuguese Guinea is having a revolt of the natives, who rebel against the hut tax. It is well for the cable to be specific, but probably the natives abominate any form of tax.

The Chicago Record-Herald says that in 1930 the William Taft Smiths, the William Taft Browns and the William Taft Johnsons will be graduating and getting marriage licenses.

Additional Locals.

Old papers, in bundles, for sale at this office.

Miss Edith Keady is clerking at the Hollenbeck ice cream parlors.

We have plenty of old papers for sale. Lots of good reading in them, too.

Mr. and Mrs. John Senger are visiting relatives and friends in Forest Grove.

W. F. Starr of Bellefontaine was a business visitor in Corvallis Wednesday.

W. H. Jenkins, traveling passenger agent of the S. P., was a Corvallis visitor yesterday.

Mrs. E. E. McVicker and son, Palmer, are spending the week in Kings Valley visiting friends.

Wallace Colbert's new house, which he is building near the depot, is rapidly nearing completion.

Prof. Berchtold's new house is almost completed and is one of the most attractive in that part of town.

At the Christian church next Sunday morning the pastor will preach. Subject: "Tried and True."

There is to be an ice cream social at Simpson's chapel tomorrow night. A good crowd and a good time are anticipated.

Scott King has sold his interest in the City Transfer Company to George Taylor, possession to be given about the first of August.

Miss Zeta Johnson and little Miss Wanda went to Portland yesterday, to see their mother, who is in a hospital there recovering from an operation performed last week.

The union meeting at the M. E. church next Sunday evening will be devoted to a discussion of "Education." A number of addresses will be given concerning the establishment of a High School in Corvallis.

The sudden appearance of Virgil Watters' auto caused Bert Senger's dray team to sit up and take notice Wednesday afternoon. They were caught near the ferry by Mr. Smith, the harness maker. A part of the top of the dray was torn off.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Maybelle Keady of this city to Terorah Scott of Eugene. The happy event takes place at the bride's home next Thursday evening. They will reside in Eugene. Both are OAC graduates, who are widely known and very popular, and hearty congratulations and good wishes are extended in advance.

Next Sunday evening at the union church service the subject to be discussed will be of unusual interest to all Corvallis people. The educational development of our city will be the theme, and a number of prominent speakers will participate in the discussion. The new high school and numerous other improvements seem assured, as it is understood that the speakers will present the need and urge the adoption of such advancements in Corvallis in the immediate future.

Dan J. Kelly, the famous Oregon athlete, won second place in the broad jump at the Olympic games in London, July 22nd. First place was won by Irons, another American, who broke the old Olympic record by a leap of 24 feet 5 inches in the preliminaries. Kelly was hindered in his work by an old injury in one of his legs, causing a weak ligament.

A picnic was given by the girls of the class of '05, OAC, on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Bessie Yates of Vancouver, a member of the class, who has been the guest of friends in Corvallis. Ten girls participated in the affair, nine of whom reside in this city. They are: Mrs. Lucile Roberts-Buxton and the Misses Bessie Yates, Lura Flett, Mary Danneman, Edna Osburn, Maybelle Keady, Georgia Herbert, Alice Jones, Lena Tartar and Hazel Raber. A splendid time is reported.

It certainly seems that there could not be found a better investment for idle capital in Corvallis at the present time than to put it into new dwelling houses. There is a great and increasing demand for dwellings, mainly of the 5 or 6 room class. People are coming in from every direction to make their homes here, and it seems almost impossible for them to secure dwellings. There are many in course of erection, to be sure, but nearly all are rented long before completion.

The Albany Democrat has the following items of Corvallis interest: Mrs. Samuels, sister of Mrs. William Fortmiller, and her family have been in the city on the way from their home at Mabel, Lane county, to Corvallis to reside. Mr. Samuels, who is a saw mill man, interested in the mill at Mabel, is also interested in the new company running the Corvallis mill and will take an active part in its management.—Rev. J. R. N. Bell, of Corvallis, was in the city this morning on his summer trip on his way up north. He had some words with his wife and she packed up and went to the Bay, and the genial dominie came this way. He will stop in Portland a day, and this afternoon probably see a baseball game, which he specially requested the Democrat man not to mention, and then go to Seattle. Having heard that the trip to Vancouver, B. C., can be made these competition days for only 25 cents he was thinking of going up and see if he could get sight of the British Lion. Dr. Bell knows everybody and everything and has no trouble finding friends, for he is a mixer.

Changes in Cement Walk District.

At a meeting of the Council of the City last Monday evening, July 20, the cement side walk ordinance was amended in the following particulars: The north boundary line changed from the center of Van Buren street to the north side of Van Buren street. The width of walks on Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe between Second and Third streets and First and east of Second street changed from eight to ten feet. All walks on Jefferson, Madison and Monroe streets, west of Third street changed from five to six feet. All walks on Third street changed from five to six feet.

BICYCLE ORDINANCE.

The new bicycle ordinance, as approved by Mayor Lilly, permits any bicycle to be run on all streets in the City of Corvallis at a speed limit not to exceed six miles per hour, except the following named streets:

On any sidewalk on Second street between Washington and Harrison streets; on any sidewalk on north side of Madison; on any sidewalk between First and Second streets on Jefferson, Adams, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren; on any of the sidewalks abutting upon blocks No. 11 and No. 18 or the school grounds. These exceptions are the only walks on which persons cannot ride.

The ordinance requires all riders of bicycles to equip their wheels with lamps and bells. The bells must be rung when approaching persons or nearing a blind corner, not less than 50 feet and no more than 100 feet from such person or blind corner.
